Across The Pond:

Whispers Across the Pond Eugene H. Ware, 2009-01-31 Whispers Across the Pond is a book of photography poetry and prose by Eugene H. Ware. This is the third book written by Mr. Ware, the others being The Moods of Presque Isle and A Walk on the Park. The poetry and prose within this book blend to produce reflections and emotions within the reader. In his books, Gene paints with words in order to share with you, the reader, a piece of nature you might otherwise never have had the opportunity to see or consider. Over the last few years, Gene, a financial consultant for over 45 years, has allowed his attention and mind to wander into the area of writing. This, coupled with his long history of nature photography, has led to his authoring of this and his other books. Most of his writing centers on relating through poetry and prose how nature affects people and their lives. Presque Isle State Park is the center of most of his writing. The park is located five minutes from his home, and its unique beauty and habitat draw more than four million visitors a year. The park, an eight-mile-long sand peninsula jutting out into Lake Erie, is a place where solitude, reflection, and beauty are allowed to blend with nature and bring nature into visitors' lives. It is Gene's hope that as you read each poem, you will be able to slow down, take a minute to reflect on the photography accompanying the words. He believes that if you experience nature, nature will open a new world for your enjoyment. One of Gene's goals in writing his books is to get people outdoors exploring and enjoying nature themselves. Presque Isle State Park is handy for Gene; however, no matter where you, the reader, live somewhere nearby, a natural adventure is open for your exploration and enjoyment.
