Perspectives on Scientific Argumentation Myint Swe Khine, 2011-09-30 Argumentation arriving at conclusions on a topic through a process of logical reasoning that includes debate and persuasion has in recent years emerged as a central topic of discussion among science educators and researchers There is now a firm and general belief that fostering argumentation in learning activities can develop students critical thinking and reasoning skills and that dialogic and collaborative inquiries are key precursors to an engagement in scientific argumentation It is also reckoned that argumentation helps students assimilate knowledge and generate complex meaning The consensus among educators is that involving students in scientific argumentation must play a critical role in the education process itself Recent analysis of research trends in science education indicates that argumentation is now the most prevalent research topic in the literature. This book attempts to consolidate contemporary thinking and research on the role of scientific argumentation in education. Perspectives on Scientific Argumentation brings together prominent scholars in the field to share the sum of their knowledge about the place of scientific argumentation in teaching and learning. Chapters explore scientific argumentation as a means of addressing and solving problems in conceptual change, reasoning, knowledge building, and the promotion of scientific literacy. Others interrogate topics such as the importance of language, discursive practice, social interactions, and culture in the classroom. The material in this book, which features intervention studies, discourse analyses, classroom-based experiments, anthropological observations, and design-based research, will inform theoretical frameworks and changing pedagogical practices, as well as encourage new avenues of research.

The series, initiated in 1938, provides factual information, critical reviews, and comprehensive bibliographic references on the construction, use, and validity of all tests published in English. The objectives of the Mental Measurements Yearbooks have remained essentially the same since the publication of the series. These objectives include provision to test users of factual information on all known tests published as separates in the English-speaking countries of the world; candidly critical test reviews written for the MMY series by qualified professional people representing a variety of viewpoints; unique publication of each volume in the MMY series with new volumes supplementing rather than supplanting previous series volumes. Each yearbook is a unique publication supplementing rather than supplanting the previous volumes. The ninth edition of this widely acclaimed reference work is the most comprehensive yearbook to date. It includes 1 409 commercially published tests, 19% more than in The Eighth Mental Measurements Yearbook; detailed descriptive information about each test; 1 266 original reviews, 41% more than in The Eighth Mental Measurements Yearbook; prepared by 660 well-qualified professional reviewers and extensive references on specific tests, including those selected by Buros Institute staff and those selected by reviewers. The tests are listed in alphabetical order for easy reference. The volume also features a state-of-the-art essay on Mental Measurement, Some Emerging Trends, by Dr. Anne Anastasi, a leading figure in the field of measurement. Indexes to the volume are an Index of Titles with cross-references and identification of new and revised tests; an Index of Acronyms; a Classified Subject Index; a Publisher's Directory and Index, which includes publisher names and addresses and test listings by publisher; and an Index of Names, and an innovative Score Index, which refers readers to tests featuring particular kinds of scores that are of interest to them. Science Inquiry, Argument and Language ,2019-02-18 Science Inquiry Argument and Language describes research that has focused on addressing the issue of embedding language practices within science inquiry through the use of the Science Writing Heuristic approach In recent years much attention has been given to two areas of science education scientific argumentation and science literacy The research into scientific argument have adopted different orientations with some focusing on science argument as separate to normal teaching practices that is teaching students about science argument prior to using it in the classroom context while others have focused on embedding science argument as a critical component of the inquiry process The current emphasis on science literacy has emerged because of greater understanding of the role of language in doing and reporting on science Science is not viewed as being separate from language and thus there is emerging research emphasis on how best to improving science teaching and learning through a language perspective Again the research orientations are parallel to the research on scientific argumentation in that the focus is generally between instruction separate to practice as opposed to embedding language practices within the science classroom context
