Get Set for Psychology Peter Wright, 2006-06-19 We are all psychologists As human beings we all have intuitive beliefs and ideas about why people do the things they do and the ability to form such beliefs is an important part of surviving and getting on in the world Indeed those few individuals who lack this ability are severely disadvantaged Studying psychology at a university level is both like and quite unlike these natural skills Many of our beliefs about the social world are accurate but some are unfortunately quite incorrect and misleading How do we know when we are correct How do we go about finding out Our natural inclination is to seek evidence to confirm our beliefs and therein lies prejudice The answer from psychology is to form hypotheses and systematically test them against the evidence and this is what makes psychology a science This book aims to encourage and enable the reader to link a natural interest in human and animal behaviour with the sorts of models and theories that are used by academic psychologists Part 1 covers the main areas of psychological endeavour seeking to provide engaging examples of psychological questions rather than to provide an exhaustive account Part 2 addresses the business of living and studying at university inviting the reader to reflect on what
