Measuring Success Jack Buckley, Lynn Letukas, Ben Wildavsky, 2018-01-15 Once touted as the single best way to measure students from diverse backgrounds schools and experiences standardized college admissions tests are now criticized for being hopelessly biased in favor of traditionally privileged groups Out of this has emerged the test optional movement that seeks to allow students to apply to schools without sitting through the rigors of the SAT This book takes a step back and applies rigorous empirical measurements to these rival claims Drawing upon the expertise of higher education researchers admissions officers enrollment managers and policy professionals this edited volume is among the first to investigate the research and policy implications of test optional practices It was conceived in response to the editors frustration with the fragmented and incomplete state of the literature around the contemporary debate on college admissions testing Many students teachers parents policymakers frankly nearly anyone immediately outside the testing industry and college admissions have little understanding of how admissions tests are used This lack of transparency has often fueled beliefs that college assessments are biased misused or overused Decades of research on various aspects of testing such as the predictive validity of assessments makes a compelling case for their value But all too frequently researchers and admissions officers talk past one another instead of engaging substantively This collection intends to remedy the situation by bringing these disparate voices together This book is designed for provosts enrollment managers and college admissions officers seeking to strike the proper balance between uniformity and fairness

Schooling Corporate Citizens Ronald W. Evans, 2014-11-27 Schooling Corporate Citizens examines the full history of accountability reform in the United States from its origins in the 1970s and 1980s to the development of the Common Core in recent years. Based in extensive archival research, it traces the origins and development of accountability reform as marked by key government and business led reports from A Nation at Risk to No Child Left Behind and Race to the Top. By using the lens of social studies and civic education as a means to understand the concrete impacts of accountability reforms on schools, Evans shows how reformers have applied principles of business management to schools in extreme ways, damaging civic education and undermining democratic learning. The first full length narrative account of accountability reform and its impact on social studies and civic education, Schooling Corporate Citizens offers crucial insights to the ongoing process of American school reform, shedding light on its dilemmas and possibilities and allowing for thoughtful consideration of future reform efforts.

Idaho Panhandle National Forest (N.F.), Myrtle Creek HFRA, Healthy Forests Restoration Act Project, 2007 Who Gets In? Rebecca Zwick, 2017-05-15 On the disputed topic of U.S. college admissions, everyone agrees that this high stakes competition is unfair. But few agree on what a fair process would be. Stressing transparency in evaluating applicants, Rebecca Zwick assesses the goals and criteria of different admissions policies and shows how they can fail to produce the desired results.

Investment Banks, Hedge Funds, and Private Equity David P. Stowell, 2012-09-01 The dynamic environment of investment banks, hedge funds, and private equity firms comes to life in David Stowell's introduction to the ways they challenge and sustain each other. Capturing their reshaped business plans in the wake of the 2007-2009 global meltdown, his book reveals their key functions, compensation systems, unique roles in wealth creation and risk management, and epic battles for investor funds and corporate influence. Its combination of perspectives drawn from his industry and academic backgrounds delivers insights that illuminate the post-2009 reinvention and acclimation processes. Through a broad view of the ways these financial institutions affect corporations, governments, and individuals, Professor Stowell shows us how and why they will continue to project their power and influence. Emphasizes the needs for capital sources of capital and the process of getting capital to those who need it. Integrates into the chapters ten cases about recent transactions along with case notes and questions. Accompanies cases with spreadsheets for readers to create their own analytical frameworks and consider choices and opportunities.
