Alternatives in Regulated River Management James A. Gore, 2018-01-18 Researchers and managers of regulated river systems will find this volume useful in acquiring information for deciding an integrated management plan for regulated river operations Rather than the ecological theory of impacts of flow regulation emphasis has been placed on methods to predict water quality and habitat alterations as well as techniques to mitigate impacts from various operational scenarios Although most chapters refer to impacts of riverine impoundments these alternatives apply to any regulated situation in which changes in water quality or flow pattern occur The predictive modeling techniques are explained primarily from a theoretical background However extensive bibliographies can guide the uninitiated to specific texts and software Where controversial techniques have been presented alternate methods are also described Major topic areas include water quality problems channel modification and management ecological modeling and management as well as a section on perspectives for ecological management and special problems in developing nations

Endocrinology of Cardiovascular Function

Ellis R. Levin, Jerry L. Nadler, 1998-10-31 Endocrinology of Cardiovascular Function is a fitting inauguration to the Endocrine Update Series. The aim of these publications is to provide the clinician with cutting edge yet succinct access to the latest advances in endocrinology. Historically our understanding of hormonal disturbances was restricted to the classical secretory glands and their targets. As Endocrinology of Cardiovascular Function so aptly indicates, endocrinology is no longer constrained by our early physiologic understanding of glandular disorder. Endocrinology of Cardiovascular Function has set the standard of excellence for the future volumes in this series. Shlomo Melmed M D Series Editor. Endocrine Update. Growth factors such as IGF 1 play important roles in cardiovascular cell hypertrophy and the response to acute vascular injury. From another perspective, traditional endocrine hormones such as estrogen have been found to participate in preventing the development of atherosclerosis in women acting through novel mechanisms on target vascular cells. Other endocrine hormones such as PTHRP and adrenomedullin also modulate cardiovascular and renovascular dynamic states suggesting new roles for these peptides as vasodilators. This multi-authored text is dedicated to highlighting emerging and important new information regarding the endocrinology of the cardiovascular system. Ellis R Levin M D Bacteriophages, Part A, 2012-05-09. This volume, the first of a two-part series, covers topics including historical, ecological and evolutionary considerations, genomics and molecular biology and interaction of phages with their hosts. Contributions from leading authorities. Informs and updates on all the latest developments in the field. The Photographic Journal,

Communication Technologies, Information Security and Sustainable Development Faisal Karim Shaikh, Bhawani Shankar Chowdhry, Sherali Zeadally, Dil Muhammad Akbar Hussain, Aftab Ahmed Memon, Muhammad Aslam Uqaili, 2014-09-10. This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed proceedings of the Third International Multi-topic Conference on Communications Technologies, Information Security and Sustainable Development (IMTIC 2013) held in Jamshoro, Pakistan, in December 2013. The 27 revised papers presented in this volume were carefully reviewed and selected from 140 submissions. The topics presented had a reasonable balance between theory and practice in multi-disciplined topics including wireless sensor networks, cloud computing, wireless communication, antenna design, signal processing, software engineering, image processing, bioinformatics and telemedicine, neural networks, automation and control and green renewable energy. The International Annual of Anthony's Photographic Bulletin and American Process Year-book, 1895 Desert Puma Kenneth A. Logan, Linda L. Sweenor, 2001-08-01. Scientists and conservationists are beginning to understand the importance of top carnivores to the health and integrity of fully functioning ecosystems. As burgeoning human populations continue to impinge on natural landscapes, the need for understanding carnivore populations and how we affect them is becoming increasingly acute. Desert Puma represents one of the most detailed assessments ever produced of the biology and ecology of a top carnivore. The husband and wife team of Kenneth Logan and Linda Sweenor set forth extensive data gathered from their ten year field study of pumas in the Chihuahua Desert of New Mexico also drawing on other reliable scientific data gathered throughout the puma's geographic range Chapters examine the evolutionary and modern history of pumas their taxonomy and physical description a detailed description and history of the study area in the Chihuahua Desert field techniques that were used in the research puma population dynamics and life history strategies the implications of puma behavior and social organization the relationships of pumas and their prey The authors provide important new information about both the biology of pumas and their evolutionary ecology not only what pumas do but why they do it Logan and Swenar explain how an understanding of puma evolutionary ecology can and must inform long term conservation strategies They end the book with their ideas regarding strategies for puma management and conservation along with a consideration of the future of pumas and humans Desert Puma makes a significant and original contribution to the science not only of pumas in desert ecosystems but of the role of top predators in all environments It is an essential contribution to the bookshelf of any wildlife biologist or conservationist involved in large scale land management or wildlife management

Digital Airborne Camera Rainer Sandau, 2009-12-10 Digital airborne cameras are now penetrating the fields of photogrammetry and remote sensing Due to the last decade's results in research and development in the fields of for instance detector technology computing power memory capacity position and orientation measurement it is now possible to generate with this new generation of airborne cameras different sets of geometric and spectral data with high geometric and radiometric resolutions within a single flight This is a decisive advantage as compared to film based airborne cameras The linear characteristic of the opto electronic converters is the basis for the transition from an imaging camera to an images generating measuring instrument Because of the direct digital processing chain from the airborne camera to the data products there is no need for the processes of chemical film development and digitising the film information Failure sources as well as investments and staff costs are avoided But the effective use of this new technology requires the knowledge of the features of the image and information generation its possibilities and its restrictions This book describes all components of a digital airborne camera from the object to be imaged to the mass memory device So the image quality influencing processes in nature are described as for instance the reflection of the electromagnetic sun spectrum at the objects to be imaged and the influence of the atmosphere Also the essential features of the new digital sensor system their characteristics and parameters are addressed and put into the system context The complexity of the cooperation of all camera components as for instance optics filters detector elements analogue and digital electronics software and so forth becomes transparent The book includes also the description of example systems
