Installation art as experience of self, in space and time Christine Vial Kayser, Sylvie Coëllier, 2021-09-07 Installation art has modified our relationship to art for over fifty years by soliciting the whole body demonstrating its sensitivity to space surroundings and the living beings with which it is constantly interacting This book analyses this modification of perception through phenomenological approaches convoking Husserl Heidegger Merleau Ponty as well as Levinas Depraz and the neuroscientist Varela This theoretical framework is implicit in the various case studies which revisit works that have become classic or emblematic by Carl Andre Bruce Nauman Dan Graham inaugural experiments that remain available only through photographic and written archives by Jean Michel Sanejouand Philippe Parreno as well as the influence of the mode in the realm of music The book also examines the transference of this Western form to Asia revealing how it resonates with ancient Asian representations and practices often associated with the spiritual The distinct chapters underpin the role of space as a metaframe the common ground of the various installations While the nature and agency of space varies from social historical space leisurely or political space inner psychological space to shared empty space these installations reveal the chiasm between the individual body and the outside space The chapters bear testimony of the process in which the physical journey of the spectator's body within a material at times invisible space and its structural components takes place in time as a succession of micro experiences Installation art as experience of self in space and time adds to the existing literature of art history a level of theoretical experiential and transcultural analysis that will make this inquiry relevant to both university students and independent researchers in the academic fields of philosophy psychology aesthetics art theory and history religious and Asian studies

Literary History in and beyond China, 2024-09-09 Literary History in and beyond China Reading Text and World explores the idea of literary history across the long span of the Chinese tradition Although much scholarship on Chinese literature may be characterized as doing the work of literary history there has been little theoretical engagement with received literary historical categories and assumptions with how literary historical judgments are formed and with what it means to do literary history in the first place The present collection of essays addresses these questions from perspectives emerging both from within the tradition and from without examining the anthological histories that shape the concept of a particular genre the interpretive positions that impel our aesthetic judgments the conceptual categories that determine how literary history is framed and the history of literary historiography itself As such the essays collectively consider what it means to think through the framework of literary history what literary history affords or omits and what needs to be theorized in terms of literary history's constraints and possibilities

Women of China, 2006 Chinese Songs in a French Key Pauline Yu, 2025-08-19 In early 1867 a book of poems stunned the French literary world Titled The Book of Jade it featured Chinese calligraphy and named ancient Chinese poets as sources leaving readers uncertain whether the collection was a translation or a French author's invention Though the book was published under a pseudonym the author was quickly recognized as Judith Gautier the young daughter of a prominent writer Resembling neither contemporary French verse nor any conventional translation of the day The Book of Jade opened the eyes of readers throughout Europe to classical Chinese poetry Chinese Songs in a French Key tells the extraordinary story of the birth rebirth and rich afterlife of The Book of Jade Pauline Yu traces the research and creative process behind the book including Gautier's collaboration with a Chinese refugee known as Tin Tun Ling She shows through juxtapositions with original Chinese texts how Gautier's imaginative strategies conveyed core elements of Chinese poetry to a European audience Yu explores how the work's influence reverberated across French letters Anglo American modernist poetry and the international history of translation The story also unfolds within Gautier's network of luminaries such as Victor Hugo Richard Wagner and John Singer Sargent and against the backdrop of France's discovery of China through scholarship and plunder Drawing attention to Gautier's audacity and accomplishments this deeply researched and elegantly written book provides new perspectives on the surprising routes cultural transmission can take

The Idea of Writing Alexander J. de Voogt, Irving L. Finkel, 2010 This exploration of the versatility of writing systems highlights their complexity when they are used to represent loanwords solve problems of polysemy or when they are adapted to be used for another language The approaches from different academic traditions provide a varied but expert account

Translingual Creative Writing Theory, Practice, and Pedagogy Jennifer Quist, 2025-05-15 In a challenge to monolingual Anglophone dominated creative writing workshops this book explores why and how students multilingual backgrounds and lack of fluency with the English language can emerge as assets rather than impediments to artistry and creativity Grounded in the Chinese tradition of Daoism as an ongoing discourse this exploration uses rigorous academic readings of the philosophical text the Zhuangzi as an analytical framework and takes a translingual approach to writing where translation and composition intersect inscribing one language upon another within a single text With concepts that resist expression such as inspiration uncertainty non knowing spontaneity unity forgetting the self and the perfection behind the imperfection of language Jennifer Quist demonstrates how Daoism's theories and metalanguage can re-imagine creative writing education whilst de-naturalizing the authority of English and Euro American literary traditions With analytical lenses derived from East Asia given context through translations of Chinese educators primary accounts of the history and theory of postsecondary creative writing education in 21st century China Quist develops a method for examining the practices of exemplary translingual writers from China Japan and their diasporas Featuring translingual writing prompts and practices for individual or classroom use by students at all levels of multilingualism Translingual Creative Writing Theory Practice and Pedagogy opens up the current workshop model and discloses the possibilities of linguistic transcendence for instructors and students With writing strategies based in cross cultural collaboration and balanced with de-Anglicization of creative writing pedagogy this book calls to rework the structures methods and metaphors of the workshop and presents ideas for more collaborative collective equitable diverse and inclusive programs
