Changing the Course of Failure Sandra Stotsky, 2018-05-18. The basic purpose of this book is to help policy makers at all levels of government understand that 1) widespread adolescent underachievement is not susceptible to solution by educational interventions, no matter how much money is allocated to public education, and 2) there are unidentified educational and civic costs to focusing on low achievement and to expecting public institutions of education for K-12 and college to solve a growing social problem. Many policy makers seem to think that teachers/schools are the primary cause of low achievement. Educational institutions still cannot solve a non-education-caused problem and haven't done so for over fifty years despite all the public and private money that has been allocated. The book concludes with suggested policies for addressing the damage to public education from gap-closing standards and with suggested areas for policy making in order to change the current course of failure for many low-achieving students.
