Augustine, 2007-09-14 The aviation and telecommunication revolutions have conspired to make distance increasingly irrelevant An important consequence of this is that US citizens accustomed to competing with their neighbors for jobs now must compete with candidates from all around the world These candidates are numerous highly motivated increasingly well educated and willing to work for a fraction of the compensation traditionally expected by US workers If the United States is to offset the latter disadvantage and provide its citizens with the opportunity for high quality jobs it will require the nation to excel at innovation that is to be first to market new products and services based on new knowledge and the ability to apply that knowledge This capacity to discover create and market will continue to be heavily dependent on the nation's prowess in science and technology Indicators of trends in these fields are at best highly disconcerting While many factors warrant urgent attention the two most critical are these 1 America must repair its failing K 12 educational system particularly in mathematics and science in part by providing more teachers qualified to teach those subjects and 2 the federal government must markedly increase its investment in basic research that is in the creation of new knowledge Only by providing leading edge human capital and knowledge capital can America continue to maintain a high standard of living including providing national security for its citizens Manufacturing Processes for Design Professionals Rob Thompson, 2007-11-30 An encyclopaedic guide to production techniques and materials for product and industrial designers engineers and architects Today's product designers are presented with a myriad of choices when creating their work and preparing it for manufacture They have to be knowledgeable about a vast repertoire of processes ranging from what used to be known as traditional crafts to the latest technology to enable their designs to be manufactured effectively and efficiently Information on the internet about such processes is often unreliable and search engines do not usefully organize material for designers This fundamental new resource explores innovative production techniques and materials that are having an impact on the design industry worldwide Organized into four easily referenced parts Forming Cutting Joining and Finishing over seventy manufacturing processes are explained in depth with full technical descriptions analyses of the typical applications design opportunities and considerations each process offers and information on cost speed and environmental impact The accompanying step by step case studies look at a product or component being manufactured at a leading international supplier A directory of more than fifty materials includes a detailed technical profile images of typical
