- a) 2 human activities that have caused a decrease in the amount of freshwater flow to the Everglades are agricultural and urban developments that needed to divert the water towards those areas and away from that ecosystem. Agricultural developments require irrigation to grow the abundance of crops, and urban expansion needs that water for the people living there, the sewage system, and everything else we use water for in a city. However, the extremely large production of a nonessential domestically produced product known as sugarcane is an immense contributor to the degradation of the Everglades. The urban development is there to support that growing industry.
- b) I. One human activity is the fertilization of sugarcane in the agricultural areas adjacent to the Everglades, and phosphorus is one of the primary nutrients used in fertilizer. The runoff will eventually travel to the Everglades, including the phosphorus-rich fertilizer, and pollute it.
II. One way this increase can affect the Everglades is because some of this nutrient-rich fertilizer is being carried into the water, some of the nutrient-loving plants begin to replace the native species and eventually lead to a eutrophication problem in the water, or an extreme overgrowth in the benefiting plants that kills or greatly harms everything else in the water.
III. One way farmers can decrease the likelihood of phosphorus runoff and therefore pollution of the Everglades is to use buffer strips, which are small areas of land in permanent vegetation which control the water runoff and slow down erosion. They could also be more limiting in the planting of soil-stripping crops that will need to be heavily fertilized if not solved by another possible solution: planting a cover crop to naturally fertilize the land.
- c) A reduction in water quantity leads to a soil reduction as well; worse water quality pollutes the Everglades and destroys the diversity in the unique ecosystem because it has a naturally low nutrients when you introduce high levels of phosphorus; lastly, loss of habitat results in a huge loss in species and genetic diversity. Native species are choked out by thriving ones that adapted to the three effects listed above.
- d) I. Restoring water quantity and quality will result in a healthier ecosystem that can support a greater variety of species, both plant and animal.
II. Fixing the water will improve fish populations around Florida and help the commercial and sporting fishing business.

Mars analogs: Environment, Habitability and Biodiversity Yiliang Li, André Antunes, Maggie CY Lau Vetter, David Flannery, 2023-06-15 Martian surface contains diverse lithologies from sedimentary rocks to mafic ultramafic igneous rocks and ground patterns These rocks record the late stage evolution on the Martian surface from a temperate environment with bodies of liquid water to the current cold and hyper arid environment The constraints on the key parameters and processes for water rock interaction sedimentation of materials and geomorphological development can provide important insights into the environmental change and habitability on the Martian surface However due to the difficulty in accessing Martian samples and limited remote sensing data available from the Martian surface most of the mysteries on Mars remain unraveled In this proposed research topic we will focus on geological settings on Earth that are similar to the conditions on Mars These Mars analogs are employed to infer possible processes on Mars and their impact on habitability and the search for life The Mars analogs on Earth span a variety of environments such as the super arid sedimentary plains e g the Qaidam Basin in the north of the Tibetan Plateau the Mojave Basin in the USA and the Atacama Desert in South America the subsurface fracture waters in Precambrian cratons e g the Canadian Shield the Fennoscandian Shield and the Kaapvaal Craton high salinity localities e g Laguna de T rez salt mines and deep sea brines as well as extremely cold and highly radiative environments e g polar regions thin atmosphere These settings on Earth are more accessible for collecting high quality mineralogical geochemical geochronological and microbiological data by the state of the art facilities These data can provide a solid cornerstone for us to understand the cycles of water and other life essential elements and their impact on habitability and biodiversity in extreme environments on Earth as well as the limits of life and the detection of biosignatures Such research can also provide vital insights on the search for life on other planets and moons
