Gaur, Victor R. Squires, 2023-03-10 This book in two volumes and with a foreword by the renowned Professor M A J Williams draws on evidence from coastal and inland regions including desert dunes wind blown dust river and lake sediments glacial moraines plant and animal fossils isotope geochemistry soils and prehistoric archaeology to better understand the genesis and development of dunes systems in selected northern hemisphere sand dunes from Asia Africa and the Middle East regions The collection of research papers and case studies that are presented in this book provide the reader with a wealth of information about the distribution and types of sand dunes and an insight into the complexity of sand dune formation migration and management Research in many countries across the northern hemisphere shows that dunes whether coastal or inland are under pressure around the world Much of the pressure comes from human activities and the anthropogenic disturbance when coupled with global warming and alterations to the amount frequency and temporal distribution of precipitation could lead to more serious management challenges in the future There is much that we still need to find out about the origin genesis and development of sand dunes so that they can be managed better The difficult and complex questions being repeatedly raised can be answered only by interdisciplinary endeavours Geomorphologists geologists palaeontologists climatologists ecologists and others can work together on research projects that better define the origin evolution and development of dunes both inland and along the coasts Many chapters in this book attempt to reconstruct past climatic changes in deserts and their margins at a variety of scales in space and time in the expectation that such information might assist in preparing us for future global warming and drying

Aircraft Surveillance Systems
Busyairah Syd Ali, 2017-11-06

The Communication Navigation and Surveillance CNS systems provide air traffic controllers with the information necessary to ensure the specified separation between aircraft and efficient management of airspace as well as assistance to flight crew for safe navigation However the radar systems that support air traffic management ATM and in particular air traffic control ATC are at their operational limit This is particularly acute in the provision of the ATC services in low altitude remote and oceanic areas Limitations in the current surveillance systems include unavailability of services in oceanic and remote areas limited services during extreme weather conditions and outdated equipment with limited availability of spare parts to support system operation These limitations have resulted in fatal accidents This book addresses the limitations of radar to support ATC in various operational environments identified and verified by analysing five years of safety data from Avinor the Air Navigation Service Provider ANSP in Norway It derives a set of taxonomy and from this develops a causal model for incident accident due to limitations in the surveillance system The taxonomy provides a new method for ANSPs to categorize incidents while the causal model is useful for incident accident investigations The book also provides theoretical justifications for the use of Automatic Dependent Surveillance Broadcast ADS B to overcome the limitations of radar systems and identify areas of improvements to enable seamless ATC services Written in a style that makes it accessible to non specialists Aircraft Surveillance Systems will be of interest to many in the field of aviation particularly ATM safety and accident incident investigation It will also offer a useful reference on this vital topic for air traffic management courses
