

MARK SCHEME for the October/November 2014 series

0620 CHEMISTRY

0620/33

Paper 3 (Extended Theory), maximum raw mark 80

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2014 series for most Cambridge IGCSE[®], Cambridge International A and AS Level components and some Cambridge O Level components.

Smart Cities Policies and Financing John R. Vacca, 2022-01-19 Smart Cities Policies and Financing Approaches and Solutions is the definitive professional reference for harnessing the full potential of policy making and financial planning in smart cities. It covers the effective tools for capturing the dynamic relations between people, policies, financing, and environments and where they are most often useful and effective for all relevant stakeholders. The book examines the key role of science, technology, and innovation (STI) especially in information and communications technologies in the design, development, and management of smart cities, policies, and financing. It identifies the problems and offers practical solutions in implementation of smart infrastructure, policies, and financing. Smart Cities Policies and Financing is also about how the implementation of smart infrastructure projects related to the challenges of the lack of financing and the application of suitable policies underlines the key roles of science, technology, and innovation (STI) communities in addressing these challenges and provides key policies and financing that will help guide the design and development of smart cities. Brings together experts from academia, government, and industry to offer state-of-the-art solutions for improving the lives of billions of people in cities around the globe. Creates awareness among governments of the various policy tools available such as output-based contracting, public-private partnerships, procurement policies, long-term contracting, and targeted research funds in order to promote smart infrastructure implementation and encouraging the use of such tools to shape markets for smart infrastructure and correct market failures. Ensures the inclusiveness of smart city projects by adequately addressing the special needs of marginalized sections of society including the elderly, persons with disabilities, and inhabitants of informal settlements and informal sectors. Ensures gender considerations in the design of smart cities and infrastructure through the use of data generated by smart systems to make cities safer and more responsive to the needs of women. Demonstrate practical implementation through real-life case studies. Enhances reader comprehension using learning aids such as hands-on exercises, checklists, chapter summaries, review questions, and an extensive appendix of additional resources.

Southeast Asian Affairs 2015 Daljit Singh, 2016-04-29 Southeast Asian Affairs is the only one of its kind, a comprehensive annual review devoted to the international relations, politics, and economies of the region and its nation-states. The collected volumes of Southeast Asian Affairs have become a compendium documenting the dynamic evolution of regional and national developments in Southeast Asia from the end of the second Vietnam War to the alarms and struggles of today. Over the years, the editors have drawn on the talents and expertise not only of ISEAS' own professional research staff and visiting fellows but have also reached out to tap leading scholars and analysts elsewhere in Southeast and East Asia, Australia, and New Zealand, North America, and Europe. A full list of contributors over forty years reads like a who's who in Southeast Asian Studies. Regardless of specific events and outcomes in political, economic, and social developments in Southeast Asia's future, we can expect future editions of Southeast Asian Affairs to continue to provide the expert analysis that has marked the publication since its founding It has become an important contributor to the knowledge base of contemporary Southeast Asia

Matter with Delaware? Hal Weitzman, 2024-01-16 The legal home to over a million companies Delaware has more registered businesses than residents Why do virtually all of the biggest corporations in the United States register there Why do so many small companies choose to set up in Delaware rather than their home states Why do wealthy individuals form multiple layers of private companies in the state This book reveals how a systematic enterprise lies behind the business friendly corporate veneer one that has kept the state afloat financially by diverting public funds away from some of the poorest people in the United States and supporting dictators and criminals across the world

Learning Standards and the Assessment of Quality in Higher Education: Contested Policy Trajectories Jon Yorke, Lesley Vidovich, 2016-07-13

This book analyses accountability and quality policies relating to learning standards and examines their implications for assessment in higher education Whilst primarily focusing on the Australian setting this analysis is located within a broader frame of reference that includes the United Kingdom UK the United States of America US and the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development OECD Across these settings comparative measures of learning have been seen as a policy solution to the problem of proving quality in a globalised and increasingly competitive higher education market Comparative measures of learning depend on the specification of learning standards Learning standards attempt to articulate the capabilities expected of graduates and students achievement of these is determined through the practices of assessment carried out within institutions Quality policy learning standards and assessment practices all intersect within the broader umbrella of accountability with relevance to governments higher education providers employers parents and students The findings reported in this book highlight a number of policy influences including the rising demands for national and international comparative data on learning standards to compare quality and inform student choice in a globally competitive market

Report Cards Wade H. Morris, 2023-09-26 The definitive history of the report card Report cards represent more than just an account of academic standing and attendance The report card also serves as a tool of control and as a microcosm for the shifting power dynamics among teachers parents school administrators and students In Report Cards A Cultural History Wade H Morris tells the story of American education by examining the history of this unique element of student life In the nearly two hundred year evolution of the report card this relic of academic bookkeeping reflected broader trends in the United States the republican zealotry and religious fervor of the antebellum period the failed promises of postwar Reconstruction for the formerly enslaved the changing gender roles in newly urbanized cities the overreach of the Progressive child saving movement in the early twentieth century and by the 1930s the increasing faith in an academic meritocracy The use of report cards expanded with the growth of school bureaucracies becoming a tool through which administrators could surveil both student activity and teachers And by the late twentieth century even the most radical critics of numerical reporting of children have had to compromise their ideals Morris traces the evolution of how teachers students parents and administrators have historically responded to report cards From a western New York classroom teacher in the 1830s and a Georgia student in the 1870s who was born enslaved to a Colorado student incarcerated in the early 1900s and the son of Russian Jewish immigrants applying to college in the 1930s Report Cards describes how generations of people have struggled to maintain dignity within a system that reduces children to numbers on slips of paper

Childhood and Nation in Contemporary World Cinema Stephanie Hemelryk Donald, Emma Wilson, Sarah Wright, 2017-02-09 The child has existed in cinema since the Lumi re Brothers filmed their babies having messy meals in Lyons but it is only quite recently that scholars have paid serious attention to her his presence on screen Scholarly discussion is now of the highest quality and of interest to anyone concerned not only with the extent to which adult cultural conversations invoke the figure of the child but also to those interested in exploring how film cultures can shift questions of agency and experience in relation to subjectivity Childhood and Nation in World Cinema recognizes that the range of films and scholarship is now sufficiently extensive to invoke the world cinema mantra of pluri vocal and pluri central attention and interpretation At the same time the importance of the child in figuring ideas of nationhood is an undiminished tic in adult cultural and social consciousness Either the child on film provokes claims on the nation or the nation claims the child Given the waning star of national film studies and the widely held and serious concerns over the status of the nation as a meaningful cultural unit the point here is not to assume some extraordinary pre social geopolitical empathy of child and political entity Rather the present collection observes how and why and whether the cinematic child is indeed aligned to concepts of modern nationhood to concerns of the State and to geo political organizational themes and precepts Wtf?

Dreadful Desires Charlie Yi Zhang, 2022-02-07 In Dreadful Desires Charlie Yi Zhang examines how the Chinese state deploys affective notions of love to regulate the population and secure China's place in the global economy Zhang shows how the state frames love as a set of desires that encompass heteronormative intimacy familial and communal attachment upward mobility and private property ownership These desires as circulated in performance in the nationalistic ceremony same sex romantic fan fiction the wildly popular reality television dating show If You Are the One and the cult of patriarchal personality around Xi Jinping are explicitly based in oppressive systems of gender class and sexuality Zhang contends that such desires connect love to economic survival and gender normativity in ways that underwrite Chinese neoliberalism at the expense of individual flourishing By outlining how state framed forms of love create desires that cannot be fulfilled Zhang places China at the forefront of using affective attachments to nation leader and family in the global shifts toward exploitation and authoritarianism

Consumer Behaviour Leon Schiffman, Aron O'Cass, Angela Paladino, Jamie Carlson, 2013-10-15 A trusted resource for Consumer Behaviour theory and practice Consumer Behaviour explores how the examination and application of consumer behaviour is central to the planning development and implementation of effective marketing strategies In a clear and logical fashion the authors explain consumer behaviour theory and practice the use and importance of consumer research and how social and cultural factors influence consumer decision making The sixth edition of this Australian text provides expanded coverage of contemporary topics

Rules without Rights Tim Bartley, 2018-02-08 Activists have exposed startling forms of labor exploitation and environmental degradation in global industries leading many large retailers and brands to adopt standards for fairness and sustainability This book is about the idea that transnational corporations can push these standards through their global supply chains and in effect pull factories forests and farms out of their local contexts and up to global best practices For many scholars and practitioners this kind of private regulation and global standard setting can provide an alternative to regulation by territorially bound gridlocked or incapacitated nation states potentially improving environments and working conditions around the world and protecting the rights of exploited workers impoverished farmers and marginalized communities But can private voluntary standards actually create meaningful forms of regulation Are forests and factories around the world actually being made into sustainable ecosystems and decent workplaces Can global norms remake local orders This book provides striking new answers by comparing the private regulation of land and labor in democratic and authoritarian settings Case studies of sustainable forestry and fair labour standards in Indonesia and China show not only how transnational standards are implemented on the ground but also how they are constrained and reconfigured by domestic governance Combining rich multi method analyses a powerful comparative approach and a new theory of private regulation Rules without Rights reveals the contours and contradictions of transnational governance Transformations in Governance is a major new academic book series from Oxford University Press It is designed to accommodate the impressive growth of research in comparative politics international relations public policy federalism environmental and urban studies concerned with the dispersion of authority from central states up to supranational institutions down to subnational governments and side ways to public private networks It brings together work that significantly advances our understanding of the organization causes and consequences of multilevel and complex governance The series is selective containing annually a small number of books of exceptionally high quality by leading and emerging scholars The series targets mainly single authored or co authored work but it is pluralistic in terms of disciplinary specialization research design method and geographical scope Case studies as well as comparative studies historical as well as contemporary studies and studies with a national regional or international focus are all central to its aims Authors use qualitative quantitative formal modeling or mixed methods A trade mark of the books is that they combine scholarly rigour with readable prose and an attractive production style The series is edited by Liesbet Hooghe and Gary Marks of the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill and Walter Mattli of the University of Oxford

Ireland and the Magdalene Laundries Claire McGettrick, Katherine O'Donnell, Maeve O'Rourke, James M. Smith, Mari Steed, 2021-08-12 Between 1922 and 1996 over 10 000 girls and women were imprisoned in Magdalene Laundries including those considered promiscuous a burden to their families or the state those who had been sexually abused or raised in the care of the Church and State and unmarried mothers These girls and women were subjected to forced labour as well as psychological and physical maltreatment Using the Irish State's own report into the Magdalene institutions as well as testimonies from survivors and independent witnesses this book gives a detailed account of life behind the high walls of Ireland's Magdalene institutions The book offers an overview of the social cultural and political contexts of institutional survivor activism the Irish State's response culminating in the McAleese Report and the formation of the Justice for Magdalenes campaign a volunteer run survivor advocacy group Ireland and the Magdalene Laundries documents the ongoing work carried out by the Justice for Magdalenes group in advancing public knowledge and research into Magdalene Laundries and how the Irish State continues to evade its responsibilities not just to survivors of the Magdalenes but also in providing a truthful account of what happened Drawing from a variety of primary sources this book reveals the fundamental flaws in the state's investigation and how the treatment of the burials exhumation and cremation of former Magdalene women remains a deeply troubling issue today emblematic of the system of torture and studious official neglect in which the Magdalene women lived their lives The Authors are donating all royalties in the name of the women who were held in the Magdalenes to EPIC Empowering People in Care
