Making And Breaking Symmetry In Chemistry: Syntheses, Mechanisms And Molecular Rearrangements Michael James McGlinchey, 2022-03-09 The elucidation of reaction mechanisms generally requires the carefully designed control of molecular symmetry to distinguish between the many possible reaction pathways Making and Breaking Symmetry in Chemistry emphasises the crucial role played by symmetry in modern synthetic chemistry After discussion of a number of famous classical experiments the advances brought about by the introduction of new techniques in particular NMR spectroscopy are exemplified in numerous cases taken from the recent literature Experimental verification of many of the predictions made in Woodward and Hoffmann's explication of the Conservation of Orbital Symmetry are described Applications that involve the breaking of molecular symmetry to resolve these and other mechanistic problems in organic inorganic and organometallic chemistry are presented in the first sections of the book together with many examples of the detection of hitherto hidden rearrangement processes Subsequently under the aegis of making molecular symmetry examples of the preparation of highly symmetrical molecules found in the organic organometallic or inorganic domains are discussed These include Platonic hydrocarbons or boranes tetrahedranes cubanes prismanes dodecahedrane fullerene fragments such as corannulene sumanene or semibuckminsterfullerene and other systems of unusual geometries or bonding characteristics Mbius strips molecular brakes and gears Chauvin's carbomers Fitjer's rotanes persubstituted rings metal metal multiple bonds etc The text also contains vignettes of many of the scientists who made these major advances as well as short sections that briefly summarise key features of important topics that underpin the more descriptive material These include some aspects of chirality NMR spectroscopy and the use of isotopic substitution to break molecular symmetry A brief appendix on point group symmetry and nomenclature is also helpfully provided

Zewail, 2012-12-06 The laser as a radiation source with temporal and spatial coherence has made a tremendous impact in the different fields of science As a result new and exciting research has been developing all over the world Laser spectroscopy shares a large fraction of this research and in the last decade numerous books and monographs have been published on this subject Most of these books and monographs contain the work done in the physics community Very few books represent the advances made in laser chemistry a field that is flourishing and whose future is indeed very exciting It was felt that a meeting that focused on the important questions being asked in the chemistry community and on new and possible directions in laser chemistry was needed This three day conference held at the California Institute of Technology Pasadena California on March 20-22 1978 covered five important areas in laser chemistry Laser induced chemistry picosecond processes and techniques nonlinear optical spectroscopy and dephasing processes multiphoton excitation in molecules and molecular dynamics by molecular beams
