

PATHOS (RHETORIC)

Pathos is one part of the so-called rhetorical triangle. Pathos as a rhetorical device is designed to stir emotions such as pity, sadness, or sympathy in the audience.

OVERVIEW

Pathos refers to appeals to the emotions of the audience. Whenever the audience is led to feel a certain way, and that feeling influences their judgment of a speech, the speaker is using pathos.

Aristotle's underlying assumption is that people's emotional states influence their evaluations, which is quite reasonable to suppose.

EXAMPLE

- Advertising: Pathos is an especially common persuasion tool in advertising. Since emotions influence people's decision-making, pathos is well-suited to the task of persuading customers to buy products.
- Art: Most forms of art use pathos in some form. This is more apparent in art that has a clear agenda, for example, political cartoons.

Write Here: Developing Writing Skills in a Media-Driven World Randi Brummett de Leon, Brooke Hughes, 2020-04-30

Write Here is designed to teach students essential reading and writing skills using media examples to help explain academic concepts and provide opportunities for practice. It is adaptable because it covers the basics of reading writing and the modes of writing. It is appropriate to use in developmental composition classrooms. However, it also covers such topics as logical fallacies, rhetoric, timed writing, academic writing, source integration, and MLA/APA documentation, making it appropriate for a first year or stretch composition course. Many beginning writing students are underprepared and feel that writing just isn't for them. The authors hope to dispel that myth by using media examples and a conversational tone to introduce and teach the material. Write Here provides examples that are interesting to students while allowing them to connect to the subject matter on a more personal level. Additionally, the process of analyzing the media helps students sharpen their reading, writing, and critical thinking skills.

Skills for Rhetoric (Student) James P. Stobaugh, 2013-05-01. Helps high school students develop the skills necessary to communicate more powerfully through writing and to articulate their thoughts clearly. Develop creative writing skills including descriptive writing, poetry, and short stories. Cultivate the use of expository writing including research papers, analytical essays, problem solution writing, and firsthand accounts. Learn the art of public speaking including persuasive speeches, informative speeches, debates, and more. Rhetoric is the ancient skill of persuasive speech used by teachers, preachers, politicians, and others to influence, incite, and instruct. This course includes basic grammar and writing composition, and mastering this time honored skill will set your students apart with distinguished written and oral abilities. This 34 week critical thinking course will take the student through the writing of numerous academic essays, several public speaking presentations, and an extensive research paper. Dr. Stobaugh weaves biblical concepts, readings, and applications throughout the curriculum to help equip students to stand firm in their faith and become the light of Christ in a deteriorating culture.
