

STARTER FEEDS

(for fry and fingerlings from <50g)

Fry and fingerlings from 0.01-25 grams have the highest specific growth rate. They should therefore be fed to satiation (8 -10 % of total fish weight) and fed as frequently as possible (preferably at least 6-9 times/day). Koudijs fingerling feeds target good growth, optimal development and excellent health.

GROWER FEEDS

(from 50 grams – market size)

Koudijs grower feeds are formulated to maximise nutrient utilisation for better fish growth. The assortment prioritises the performance of African catfish without compromising on water quality. During the grower phase, feeding frequency can be reduced to a minimum of 2 times/day.

BROODSTOCK FEEDS

(from >500 grams)

The quality of eggs and larvae is directly linked to the quality of the feed that African catfish broodstock receive. Koudijs broodstock feeds are formulated to ensure the production of eggs that are rich in nutrients for good hatching of strong fry..

African Catfish Feeding Manual:

Guidelines for feed use in carp and trout production systems in Central Asia and Eastern Europe Shipton, T. A., 2021-07-06 In aquaculture the provision of high quality aquafeeds that satisfy the nutritional requirements of the culture species and optimize growth are a prerequisite to improving production yields lowering production costs and improving economic returns to farmers Under semi intensive and intensive carp and trout culture aquafeed costs usually account for the highest single production cost typically accounting for 50 60 percent of total production costs The aquafeeds available to farmers vary widely with respect to quality nutritional value and cost Depending on the feed type production system and farmer preferences there are multiple feed management strategies that can be adopted by farmers In order to optimise feed use and minimise feed production costs it is essential that farmers select appropriate feeds and optimise their on farm feed management practices These guidelines are designed to provide farmers with practical guidance on how to select feeds and to optimise their use by implementing appropriate on farm feed management practices The guidelines provide an introduction to fish nutrition with a focus on the dietary nutritional requirements of commercially cultured carps and trout The types of aquafeeds live feeds supplementary farm made and commercially manufactured feeds their composition and nutritional value manufacture and use are discussed On farm feed management practices focus on feeding methods feed storage and methods to optimise feed consumption calculating feed rations feeding frequency assessing appetite and the feeding response Use of cassava in livestock and aquaculture feeding programs Lukuyu, B., Okike, I., Duncan, A.J., Beveridge, M., Blummel, M., 2014-08-01 Training curriculum and practical manual on sustainable aquaculture Menezes, A., Murekezi, P., Martone, E., Badiane, A.A., Mulonda, B.K., 2022-05-25 The Zambian Government in collaboration with FAO undertook the elaboration of this curriculum part I within the framework of the Zambia Aquaculture Enterprise Development Project UTF ZAM 077 ZAM Furthermore FAO complemented the practicality of this curriculum by drafting and refining the Training Manual part II which has been tested in many African countries and with different stakeholders To ensure complementarity of opportunities and clear progression of education and capacity development each actor involved in the sector should strive to network with teaching institutions researchers and producers to guarantee that the curriculum remains relevant and stays abreast of developments for aquaculture practitioners this will include developing national regional and international linkages with institutions involved in aspects of training for aquaculture Therefore this curriculum will function as a living document Handbook on Ingredients for Aquaculture Feeds J.W. Hertrampf, F. Piedad-Pascual, 2012-12-06 Current growth in global aquaculture is paralleled by an equally significant increase in companies involved in aquafeed manufacture Latest information has identified over 1 200 such companies not including those organizations in production of a variety of other materials i e vitamins minerals and therapeutics all used in varying degrees in proper feed formulation Aquaculture industries raising particular economically valued species i e penaeid shrimps and salmonids are making major demands on feed ingredients while relatively new industries such as tilapia farming portend a significant acceleration in demand for properly formulated aquafeeds by the end of the present decade and into the next century As requirements for aquafeeds increase shortages are anticipated in various ingredients especially widely used proteinaceous resources such as fish meal A variety of other proteinaceous commodities are being considered as partial or complete replacement for fish meal especially use of plant protein sources such as soybean meal In the past five years vegetable protein meal production has increased 10% while fish meal production has dropped over 50% since 1989 largely attributed to overfishing and serious decline in wild stock Throughout fisheries processing industries traditional concepts as waste have given way to more prudent approaches emphasizing total by product recovery Feed costs are a major consideration in aquaculture where in some groups i.e. salmonids high protein containing feeds using quality fish meal can account for as much as 40 to 60% of production costs

A Manual for Tilapia Business Management Ram C. Bhujel, 2014-06-18 Tilapias are an increasingly important farmed fish for human consumption Hailed as an important source of protein for growing populations production is set to double within the next ten years and expand beyond traditional areas of production in Africa and Asia With a practical focus this book is aimed at tilapia farmers and producers describing best practice production methods egg management new technologies nutrition business practices marketing equipment maintenance accounting and logistics

An overview on local alternative ingredients, aquafeed supply and feeding management in selected African countries Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, Garcia Sampaio, F. (ed.); Hasan, M.R. (ed.); El-Sayed, A-F.M. (ed.), Aquaculture plays a vital role in enhancing food security in Africa but faces challenges in the fed aquaculture sector particularly in accessing and producing high quality aquafeeds To address this FAO organized the Expert Workshop on Local Alternative Ingredients Aquafeed Supply and Feeding Management in Egypt in 2023 Experts and stakeholders from nine African countries Cameroon Egypt Ghana Kenya Malawi Nigeria Uganda the United Republic of Tanzania and Zambia participated alongside representatives from governments academia development agencies the private sector and farming communities Pre workshop questionnaires informed national reports on feed ingredient supply feed manufacturing and feeding management practices These reports along with workshop discussions form the basis of this technical document comprising nine country analyses and a regional synthesis Common challenges identified include limited access to alternative feed ingredients poor feed preparation and storage practices inadequate monitoring of on farm feeding lack of investment for small scale producers low technical capacity among farmers poor feed quality and weak regulatory frameworks The synthesis report recommends key actions stabilizing feed ingredient supply and costs promoting training for feed producers and farmers improving on farm feed and water quality management enhancing data collection and analysis expanding access to finance and storage facilities and strengthening collaboration among stakeholders These measures aim to build a more efficient sustainable and resilient aquaculture sector across the region

Aquaculture Training Manual ,1990 Artificial Reproduction and Pond Rearing of the African Catfish Clarias Gariepinus in Sub-Saharan Africa Gertjan de Graaf,Hans Janssen,Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,1996 The manual is based on the practical experiences of the authors on the artificial reproduction and pond rearing of the African catfish Clarias gariepinus within FAO field projects in the Central African Republic the Republic of the Congo Kenya and Nigeria The manual is divided into five major sections dealing with 1 general biology including natural feeding habits and reproduction 2 artificial reproduction including induced propagation without and through hormone injection 3 fry nursing in earthen ponds including pond preparation fertilization feeding and management 4 monoculture including feeding methods and 5 polyculture with Tilapia In addition information is provided concerning the economics of different fingerling and grow out farming practices in Africa and concerning diseases and hybridization Aquaculture and Behavior Felicity Huntingford,Malcolm Jobling,Sunil Kadri,2012-02-13 Modern aquaculture is faced with a number of challenges including public concern about environmental impacts and the welfare of farmed fish A fundamental understanding of fish biology is central to finding ways to meet these challenges and is also essential for maintaining the industry s sustainability Furthermore the behaviour of fish under culture situations has long been ignored despite heavy commercial losses that can result from fish stressed and hence disease prone due to bad husbandry techniques This important book summarises the current understanding of the behavioural biology of farmed species and illustrates how this can be applied to improve aquaculture practice Informative and engaging Aquaculture Behavior brings the reader up to date with major issues pertaining to aquaculture Everyone from fish farmers to upper level students will find this book a valuable and practical resource Libraries in universities and research establishments where animal behavior aquaculture veterinary and biological sciences are studied and taught should have copies of this work on their shelves Feeds for the Aquaculture Sector Laura Gasco,Francesco Gai,Giulia Maricchiolo,Lucrezia Genovese,Sergio Ragonese,Teresa Bottari,Gabriella Caruso,2018-03-23 This Brief discusses potential alternative sources for feeds in aquaculture fish diet and explains that the future of aquaculture s development is dependent on the costs of fishmeal and fish oil Considering that the increasing costs of traditional feeds constrain this development research is looking into alternatives which can ensure adequate nutrition for animals growth This work reviews the use of alternative plant microbial and insect protein sources evaluating in particular their impact on growth nutrient digestibility fillet quality traits and sensorial perception in the most important farmed marine and freshwater fish species The Brief specifically summarizes the pros and cons of plant oils from oilseeds which can on the one hand be a sustainable substitute for fish oil but which are on the other hand less rich in omega 3 long chain polyunsaturated fatty acids The feeding might therefore result in an undesired reduced nutritional value of the flesh of farmed fish The authors also explore the possible use of fishery discards as potential aquaculture feed source Since the landing of by catch will with the new Common Fisheries Policy CFP become obligatory instead of simply returning it to the sea often dead suitable uses of what must not be used for human consumption can be investigated The authors give an outlook whether this might become a sensible alternative to improve the management of discards and create more sustainable fisheries The Brief also addresses the issues of additives to aquafeeds such as vitamins minerals and antioxidants but also immunostimulants and enzymes The authors discuss which effects these additives may have on fish growth welfare reproduction and health status in aquacultures

Feed and Feeding Practices in Aquaculture, 2015-05-12 Feed and fertilizer are significant costs in aquaculture operations and play an important role in the successful production of fish and other seafood for human consumption This book reviews the key properties of feeds advances in feed formulation and ingredient choices and the practicalities of feeding systems and strategies Feed and Feeding Practices in Aquaculture provides an authoritative and comprehensive coverage of the topic and is an essential guide for nutritionists farm owners and technicians in aquaculture as well as those working in R D in the feed production industry and academics postgraduate students with an interest in the area Reviews the key properties of aquafeed advances in feed formulation and manufacturing techniques and the practicalities of feeding systems and strategies Provides an overview of feed and fertilizer in aquaculture Covers feeding strategies and related issues in different areas of aquaculture book serves as a comprehensive reference for students, educators, researchers, food processors, and industry personnel looking for up-to-date insight into the field. Additionally, the covered range of techniques for by-product utilization will provide engineers and scientists working in the food industry with a valuable resource for their work. Feed and Feeding of Fish and Shrimp Michael B. New, 1987 Tilapia in Intensive Co-culture Peter W. Perschbacher, Robert R. Stickney, 2017-02-13

Intensive tilapia co-culture is the commercial production of various species of tilapia in conjunction with one or more other marketable species. Tilapia are attractive as a co-cultured fish because of their potential to improve water quality, especially in penaeid shrimp ponds, by consuming plankton and detritus and by altering pathogenic bacterial populations while increasing marketable production. Following introductory chapters covering ecological aspects of co-culture, tilapia feeding habits, historical use, and new models, Tilapia in Intensive Co-Culture is divided into co-culture in freshwater and marine environments. Co-culture core information is presented on Vibrio control, high-rate aquaculture processes, aquaponics, tilapia nutrient profile, and tilapia niche economics and marketing in the U.S. and with carp, catfish, freshwater and marine shrimp in the Americas, the Middle East, and Asia. Tilapia in Intensive Co-Culture is the latest book in the prestigious World Aquaculture Society WAS Series, published for WAS by Wiley Blackwell. It will be of great use and interest to researchers, producers, investors, and policy makers considering tilapia co-culture in terms of environmental and economic sustainability.
