Newcomers Robert Lee, 2017-03-30 Lee takes the oft cited belief that entrepreneurial endeavour lives and dies by the quality of the networks set in play and subjects it to a rigorous and sustained analysis In this he not only provides the reader with an authoritative theoretical and empirical foray into how entrepreneurs can create and sustain different forms of social capital he does so with a strong sense of how power frames and taints its acquisition and use Lee's book is a valuable contribution to our understanding of how in entrepreneurial activity as in many walks of life it is those with already established status who set the agenda by which opportunity and its pursuit is constituted Robin Holt Professor of Entrepreneurship Politics and Society Copenhagen Business School Denmark Robert Lee drives forward the agenda of socially situated cognition research moving beyond a static model of entrepreneurial cognition and offering instead a dynamic socially embedded communication based perspective He breaks from the traditional focus on either the individual entrepreneurial agent or the social and institutional context of entrepreneurship and makes a serious and skilful effort to provide an integrative understanding of the entrepreneur as placed in a complex relational and ambiguous context Recognising that entrepreneurship is both cognitive and relational he plays with the idea of power within legitimacy creation and through this illustrates the ultimately distributed nature of entrepreneurial processes This book adds to the growing domain of socially situated entrepreneurial cognition research and will appeal to those interested in understanding the connection between cognition communication and legitimacy in the context of entrepreneurship Jean Clarke Professor of Entrepreneurship and Organization Leeds University Business School University of Leeds UK In a very welcome contribution to the literature Robert Lee explores the social capital mobilised by entrepreneurs and develops a communicative action approach that yields important insights into how would be entrepreneurs achieve legitimacy through navigating the complex web of power and status relations in which they are enmeshed This book will appeal not only to those interested in entrepreneurship but also be a valuable reference source for those interested in the workings of social capital Michael Bresnen Professor of Organisation Studies Alliance Manchester Business School University of Manchester UK This book presents a novel and intellectually stimulating account of the understudied links between entrepreneurial newcomers bridging ties and their networked cognition With a paucity of research addressing cognitively specific features of networked language and conduct The Social Capital of Entrepreneurial Newcomers explores how entrepreneurial newcomers attune their cognition when interacting with high status and powerful vertical bridges Largely reflecting communication accommodation perspectives the author theoretically and empirically examines entrepreneurial newcomers cognitive convergence and divergence when bridging Enhanced Transition Through Outward Internationalization Andreja Jaklic, Marjan Svetlicic, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2003 Among the major challenges transition economies are facing is how to cope with globalization Foreign direct investment FDI has proved the most dynamic defensive and offensive response as an integration and network tool yet outward FDI has so far been overlooked in research The vitality of outward FDI as an entry mode to the global economy is discussed in this authoritative volume from various angles beginning with the context of the development strategy and the transition process The experiences of the Slovene way of internationalization are compared with those of other transition economies Readers will learn about the size geographical distribution trends and sectoral allocation of such outward FDI OFDI as well as the major motives barriers and problems The book also responds to questions about the extent to which outward FDI is instrumental in development transition EU accession and competitiveness strengthening Based on extensive empirical research and focused case studies the volume provides valuable lessons for other EU candidate countries and transition economies while managerial experiences in entering Central and Eastern European markets offer universal internationalization lessons

Schools Of The 21st Century Matia Finn-stevenson,2018-02-12 An engaging discussion about the new roles schools are taking and how they are expanding their traditional mission n this timely book Matia Finn Stevenson and Edward Zigler argue that the federal government alone cannot address the need for child care and family support services that like education should be addressed locally The authors use their Schools of the 21st Century 21C program as an example of how schools can provide child care outreach services home visitations and health and nutrition servicesin addition to reading writing and arithmetic Whereas Part Two of the book discusses the authors Schools of the 21st Century program in considerable detail Parts One and Three address a broader range of issues concerning the effects that early education has on later school success and the various policy and conceptual approaches that have been tried both nationally and internationally in an effort to reform schools The authors also critically review the research on the effects of child care on childrens development and the importance of family support services Included is a wealth of information on the research and practical applications of school reform initiatives in general and the implementation of child and family support services in particular In this timely book Matia Finn Stevenson and Edward Zigler argue that the federal government alone cannot address the need for child care and family support services that like education should be addressed locally The authors use their Schools of the 21st Century 21C program as an example of how schools can provide child care outreach services home visitations and health and nutrition servicesin addition to reading writing and arithmetic Conceptualized in 1987 in response to the child care crisis in this country 21C has been implemented in over 600 schools in seventeen states However schools involvement with increasingly younger children is not without controversy The authors also address questions regarding evaluation and effective implementation and scale up strategies and consider what changes in teacher training programs should occur to prepare teachers for working in schools of the twenty first century what provisions should be made to accommodate for the need to staff schools with personnel trained in early child development and what changes need to be made in the financial structures of schools to accommodate child care and support services Whereas Part Two of the book discusses the authors Schools of the 21st Century program in considerable detail Parts One and Three address a broader range of issues concerning the effects that early education has on later school success and the various policy and conceptual approaches that have been tried both nationally and internationally Finn Stevenson and Zigler also critically review the research on the effects of child care on children and other school reform initiatives that have been implemented in schools Schools of the 21st Century is an engaging discussion about the new roles schools are taking and how they are expanding their traditional mission

Facilitating Transition by Internationalization Matija Rojec, 2019-10-28 FDI has proved to be the most dynamic defensive and offensive response to globalization This book provides an in depth evaluation of the rationale as well as theoretical and empirical explanations of the outward internationalization of firms from the Czech Republic Estonia Hungary Poland and Slovenia The authors present the first broader empirical evidence on transition economies OFDI and internationalization evaluate the role of transnational companies from transition economies and development implications of outward internationalization for home economies They put the experience of firms from transition economies into the framework of existing theories study to what extent are the experiences of Austria Portugal and Finland applicable to transition economies illustrate general macro economic trends of the international business practices of firms from transition economies by case studies examine the main determinants and barriers to the outward internationalization process offer a representative set of cases and best business government practices relevant for other transition economies identify specificity in internationalization by firms from transition economies due to transition processes and systemic background and apply network theory as a complementary explanation for such internationalization due to former historical ties and cultural vicinities A pioneering work on outward investment by transition economies this book is the first in the world to present a more systematic analysis of the internationalization of firms from transition economies based on results of the two ACE projects Outward internationalization facilitating transformation and EU Accession The case of Czech Republic Hungary and Slovenia and Networking Through OFDI including also Poland and Estonia
