Afrikaans 2013 Paper 3:

Nelson Mandela Crain Soudien, 2017-03-22 The death of Nelson Mandela the great South African fighter for freedom in December 2013 prompted several colleagues within the World Council of Comparative Education Societies community to come together to think about the significance of his life and his work for education This book is the result of that coming together The contributing authors reflect on what his life the commitments he made and principally the values he took into the struggle for freedom in South Africa mean for education The point of departure for the book is that of honouring the man It begins with the argument that the values for which he stood namely the unconditional dignity of all human beings respect for difference and principally his lifelong commitment to justice have a special significance for how we as inhabitants of an increasingly connected and interdependent world conduct our personal lives our relationships with one another and with the material and living space which surrounds us It is an ecological approach As the world moves into a twenty first century where paradoxically we know so much and yet appear to understand so little and so find ourselves struggling to create social lives in which all of us can feel respected can offer respect to others and live lives free of fear and anxiety the values for which he stood have specific relevance for how we do the important job of teaching and what we put into it Mandela poses deeply provocative questions about the kinds of lives we seek for ourselves and for everybody else around us

Understanding Experiences of First Generation University Students Amani Bell, Lorri J. Santamaría, 2018-02-22 Over the past few decades universities have opened their doors to students whose parents and grandparents were historically excluded from societal participation and higher education for reasons associated with racial ethnic socio economic and or linguistic diversity Many of these students are first generation or first in their family to attend university While some progress has been made in responding to the needs of these internationally underserved learners many challenges remain This edited book features the unique and diverse experiences of first generation students as they transition into and engage with higher education whilst exploring ways in which universities might better serve these students With reference to culturally responsive and sustaining research methodologies undertaken in Australia Canada New Zealand South Africa the UK and the USA the contributors critically examine how these students demonstrate resilience within university and ways in which success and challenges are articulated Elements that are unique to context and shared across the international higher education milieu are explored The book is replete with diverse student voices and compelling implications for practice and future research The studies featured are centred on underlying theories of identity and intersectionality while valuing student voices and experiences Throughout the emphasis is on using strengths based indigenous and decolonised methodologies Through these culturally sustaining approaches which include critical incident technique participatory learning and action talanoa and narrative inquiry the book explores rich data on first generation student experiences at seven institutions in six countries across four continents The Final-Over-Final Condition

Michelle Sheehan,Theresa Biberauer,Ian Roberts,Anders Holmberg,2017-10-27 An examination of the evidence for and the theoretical implications of a universal word order constraint with data from a wide range of languages This book presents evidence for a universal word order constraint the Final over Final Condition FOFC and discusses the theoretical implications of this phenomenon FOFC is a syntactic condition that disallows structures where a head initial phrase is contained in a head final phrase in the same extended projection domain The authors argue that FOFC is a linguistic universal not just a strong tendency and not a constraint on processing They discuss the effects of the universal in various domains including the noun phrase the adjective phrase the verb phrase and the clause The book draws on data from a wide range of languages including Hindi Turkish Basque Finnish Afrikaans German Hungarian French English Italian Romanian Arabic Hebrew Mandarin Pontic Greek Bagirmi Dholuo and Thai FOFC the authors argue is important because it is the only known example of a word order asymmetry pertaining to the order of heads As such it has significant repercussions for theories connecting the narrow syntax to linear order Assessing Multilingual Children Sharon Armon-Lotem,Jan de Jong,Natalia Meir,2015-04-28

Second language learners often produce language forms resembling those of children with Specific Language Impairment SLI At present professionals working in language assessment and education have only limited diagnostic instruments to distinguish language impaired migrant children from those who will eventually catch up with their monolingual peers This book presents a comprehensive set of tools for assessing the linguistic abilities of bilingual children It aims to disentangle effects of bilingualism from those of SLI making use of both models of bilingualism and models of language impairment The book s methods oriented focus will make it an essential handbook for practitioners who look for measures which could be adapted to a variety of languages in diverse communities as well as academic researchers Linguistic Variation Rena

Torres Cacoullos,Nathalie Dion,André Lapierre,2014-10-24 Linguistic Variation Confronting Fact and Theory honors Shana Poplack in bringing together contributions from leading scholars in language variation and change The book demonstrates how variationist methodology can be applied to the study of linguistic structures and processes It introduces readers to variation theory while also providing an overview of current debates on the linguistic cognitive and sociocultural factors involved in linguistic patterning With its coverage of a diverse range of language varieties and linguistic problems this book offers new quantitative analyses of actual language production and processing from both top experts and emerging scholars and presents students and practitioners with theoretical frameworks to meaningfully engage in accountable research practice EXPLORING LINGUISTIC LANDSCAPES. A FESTSCHRIFT FOR LARISA AVRAM AND ANDREI AVRAM Anca

SEVCENCO,Irina STOICA,Ioana STOICESCU,Mihaela TĂNASE-DOGARU,Alina TIGĂU,Veronica TOMESCU,2025-01-01 The present volume honors the successful and productive scientific activity of Larisa Avram and Andrei Avram Colleagues and collaborators from universities in Romania and around the world contributed with papers that span various domains of research theoretical and experimental syntax and phonology semantics and pragmatics Pillars of Salt Lianne

Merkur,2019-11-04 In Pillars of Salt Lianne Merkur offers an account of early 21st century immigration as experienced by Israelis in Berlin and Toronto Commonly portrayed as contrary to the territorial emphasis of national integrity these individuals and communities appear to explore a sense of belonging that evaluates and incorporates both foreign and familiar elements Social media allows for an alternative space to balance between new home and homeland studied here as developing simultaneously in multiple sites The author makes use of innovative methodologies to document the participants own perspectives expressed online at events or on paper She thereby challenges established norms of interpretation to prove that personal decisions primarily regarding preferred language or simply self identification are the cornerstones of collective character

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman,John Read,Theo du Plessis,2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience

Present Imperfect Andrew van der Vlies, 2017-05-26 Present Imperfect asks how South African writers have responded to the end of apartheid to the hopes that attended the birth of the new nation in 1994 and to the inevitable disappointments that have followed. The first full length study of affect in South Africa's literature it understands disappointment both as a description of bad feeling and as naming a missed appointment with all that was promised by the anti colonial and anti apartheid Struggle a disappointment. Attending to contemporary writers treatment of temporality genre and form it considers a range of negative feelings that are also experiences of temporal disjuncture including stasis impasse boredom disaffection and nostalgia. Present Imperfect offers close readings of work by a range of writers some known to international Anglophone readers including J M Coetzee Nadine Gordimer Ivan Vladislavic and Zo Wicomb some slightly less well known including Afrikaans language novelists Marlene van Niekerk and Ingrid Winterbach and others from a new generation including Songeziwe Mahlangu and Masande Ntshanga. It addresses key questions in South African studies about the evolving character of the historical period in which the country now finds itself. It is also alert to wider critical and theoretical conversations looking outward to make a case for the place of South African writing in global conversations and mobilizing readings of writing marked in various ways as South African in order to complicate the contours of World Literature as category discipline and pedagogy. It is thus also a book about the discontents of neoliberalism the political energies of reading and the fates of literature in our troubled present.

Language and Institutional Identity in the Post-Apartheid South African Higher Education Leketi Makalela, 2022-03-21 This book examines the intersections between education identity formation and language in post apartheid South Africa with specific attention to higher education. It does so against the backdrop of the core argument that the sector plays a critical role in shaping re producing and perpetuating sectoral class sub national and national identities which in turn in the peculiar South African setting are almost invariably analogous with the historical fault lines determined and dictated by language as a marker of ethnic and racial identity. The chapters in the book grapple with the nuances related to these intersections in the understanding that higher education language policies overt and or covert largely structure institutional cultures or what has been described as curriculum in higher education institutions. Together the chapters examine the roles played by higher education by language policies and by the intersections of these policies and ethnolinguistic identities in either constructing and perpetuating or deconstructing ethnolinguistic identities upon which the sector was founded. The introductory chapter lays out the background to the entire book with an emphasis on the policy and practice perspectives on the intersections. The middle chapters describe the so called White Universities Black Universities and Middle Man Minorities Universities. The final chapter maps out future directions of the discourses on language and identity formation in South Africa's higher education.

National Identity and State Formation in Africa Manuel Castells, Bernard Latagan, 2021-03-17 This book examines how the interplay between globalization and the assertion of local identities is reshaping the political landscape of Africa While defending their values against external forces people simultaneously and paradoxically use the interconnectivity of global networks to maximize their particular interests Focusing on the relation between national identity and state formation the authors explore the far reaching consequences of these contradictory dynamics Although Africa shares many common trends with other parts of the world it also displays distinctive features A region characterized by the increased mobility of people goods and ideas challenges some conventional assumptions of statecraft and also highlights the advantages of federalism not merely as a constitutional option but as a pragmatic device for managing diversity and holding fragile states together The book further explores emerging types of state formation in the same political space as exemplified by the combination of elements of a kingdom an independent state and a national power base in the province of KwaZulu Natal and the careful crafting of an alternative state within a state by the Solidarity Movement in South Africa Informed by examples and case studies drawn from different parts of Africa this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of Africa politics sociology media studies and the social sciences more generally Diachronic Slavonic Syntax Imke Mendoza,Sandra Birzer,2022-03-21 The impact of the ecclesiastical languages Greek Latin and Church Slavonic on the Slavic standard languages still lacks a systematic analysis in the theoretical framework of contact linguistics Based on corpus data this volume offers an account in the light of literacy language contact i e contact between varieties that are used only in a written variant and only in formal registers Latin was used as literary language in medieval Slavia Romana Greek was the source language for Church Slavonic which in turn was the literary language for many Slavonic speaking communities and thus had an enormous impact on the development of the modern Slavonic standard languages The book offers in depth analyses of the impact of Latin on pre Standard Slavonic varieties the influence of Greek on Old Church Slavonic and the role of Church Slavonic as a source language for Old and Modern Russian The contributions discuss morpho syntactic phenomena such as non finite clauses relative clauses word order the use and function of case and tense forms The volume addresses Slavists General linguists and scholars of Classical Philology interested in language contact and syntactic issues World Englishes in the 21st Century Sofia Rüdiger, Theresa Neumaier, Sven Leuckert and Sarah Buschfeld, Twenty years after Edgar W Schneider's publication of the Dynamic Model the field of World Englishes is as vibrant as ever The further spread and entrenchment of English around the world as a result of globalisation but also localisation tendencies and in particular the spread of the language and its multiple varieties through the new media has led to even further dispersion and contact scenarios many of which challenge early conceptualisations of the World Englishes paradigm This volume is dedicated to new perspectives approaches and developments in the field how they fit in with earlier research in the paradigm how they can be conceptualised and which challenges they bring along In addition the collection showcases some of the methodological diversity in and the transdisciplinary nature of modern World Englishes research Perspectives on Educational Governance S. Karin Amos,Felix Masarovic,Anne Rohstock,Alexander W. Wiseman,2022 In March 2019 students and researchers from Germany the USA China Kenya and South Africa came together at the University of Tuebingen to discuss Educational Governance from an international perspective The group was mainly comprised of Ph D and Master students from various disciplines Education Literature Philosophy Political Science and debated questions such as What are the distinctive and different rationales underlying the discourse of Educational Governance and its political economic academic and pedagogic objectives How can we make these rationales visible and which theories and analytic tools can help us to decipher the meanings attached to them Are there different local and national trajectories in education discourse and practice with regard to Educational Governance and which role do international organizations and transnational transfer play This edited volume displays these discussions and aims at initiating a broader communication about Educational Governance between previously separated spaces

The South African Tradition of Racial Capitalism Zachary Levenson, Marcel Paret, 2024-06-28 This book documents the emergence and development of the theory of racial capitalism in apartheid South Africa It interrogates the specificity of this theory in the South African context and draws lessons for its global applicability The volume was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies

Dialogue in Places of Learning Adam Cooper, 2016-06-23 Showing how youth from one of the poorest and most violent neighborhoods in Cape Town South Africa learn differently in three educational contexts in classrooms in a community hip hop crew on a youth radio show this book illuminates how South African schools like schools elsewhere subtly reproduce inequalities by sorting students into social hierarchies linked to assessments of their use of language Highlighting the voices and perspectives of young South Africans this case study of youth in the global South explores how language is linked to cultural mixing which occurred during colonialism and slavery and continues through patterns of global mobility Dialogue in Places of Learning Youth Amplified in South Africa demonstrates how language and learning are bound to space and place

The Variability of Current World Englishes Eugene Green, Charles F. Meyer, 2014-08-27 Faces of English explores the phenomenon of increasing dialects varieties and creoles even as the spread of globalization supports an apparently growing uniformity among nations The book's chapters supply descriptions of Jamaican English in Toronto English as an L2 in a South African mining township Chinese and English contact in Singapore unexpected emergent variants in Canadian English and innovations in the English of West Virginia Further the book offers some perspective on internet English as well as on abiding uniformities in the lexicon and grammar of standard varieties In the analyses of this heterogeneous growth such considerations as speakers sociolinguistic profiles phonological morpho syntactic and lexical variables frequencies and typological patterns provide ample insight in the current status of English both in oral and electronic communities The opening chapter presents a theoretical framework that argues for linguistic typology as conceptually resourceful in accommodating techniques of analysis and in distinguishing the wide arrays of English found throughout the globe One clear function for Faces of English is that of a catalyst to spur studies of diversities in English and in other languages to suggest approaches to adapt to invite counterargument and developments in analysis Handbook on Water Security Claudia Pahl-Wostl, Anik Bhaduri, Joyeeta Gupta, 2016-01-29 Water security has received increasing attention in the scientific and public policy communities in recent years The Handbook on Water Security is a much needed resource that helps the reader navigate between the differing interpretations of water security It explains the various dimensions of the topic by approaching it both conceptually and thematically as well as in relation to experiences in different regions of the world The international contributors explore the various perspectives on water security to show that it has multiple meanings that cannot easily be reconciled Topics discussed include challenges from human security to consumerism how trade policies can help to achieve water security in a transboundary setting the potential of risk based governance arrangements and the ecology of water security Scholars and postgraduate students in the social sciences working on water related issues will find this book to be of substantial interest It will strongly appeal to policymakers and practitioners looking at the strengths and limitations of water security
