

Sondagaande – Fanie Viljoen

1. die aand stuur sy roofvoëls uit in die taai donker	1. the night sends his birds of prey out into the sticky darkness
2. hulle draai eers rond	2. they first turn round and round
3. hoog bo die stad se woonsteldakke	3. high above the city's apartment roofs
4. maar mettertyd sirkel hulle laer, al laer	4. but eventually they circle lower and lower
5. en sink neer op die krom lamppale	5. and sink down onto the crooked lampposts
6. vanwaar hulle met skerp oë by vensters kan intuur	6. from where they can peek into windows with their sharp gaze
7. na die prooi wat elke week sielalleen voor Sondagaande staan	7. to the prey who stands so very alone in front of Sunday evenings

Analysis (analyse) of poem

1. die aand stuur sy roofvoëls uit in die taai donker	✦ Figure of speech (beeldspraak): personifikasie. "die aand" is personified as something that can "send (stuur)" birds of prey out into the dark (donker). ✦ "aand" + "donker" = end (einde) of the day (dag). repetition (herhaling) of this idea creates (skep) a gloomy (neerdrukkende) feeling (gevoel). ✦ "sy" = the use (gebruik) of the possessive (besitlike) pronoun (voornaamwoord) indicate (dui aan) that the birds of prey (roofvoëls) belong (behoort)

The Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation Peter France, 2000 Translation has been a crucial process in world culture over the past two millennia and more In the English speaking cultures many of the most important texts are translations from Homer to Beckett the Bible to Freud Although recent years have seen a boom in translation studies there has been no comprehensive yet convenient guide to this essential element of literature in English Written by eminent scholars from many countries the Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation meets this need and will be essential reading for all students of English and comparative literature It highlights the place of translation in our culture encouraging awareness of the issues raised making the translator more visible Concentrating on major writers and works it covers translations out of many languages from Greek to Korean from Swahili to Russian For some works e.g. Virgil's Aeneid which have been much translated the discussion is historical and critical showing how translation has evolved over the centuries and bringing out the differences between versions Elsewhere with less familiar literatures the Guide examines the extent to which translation has done justice to the range of work available The Guide is divided into two parts Part I contains substantial essays on theoretical questions a pioneering outline of the history of translation into English and discussions of the problems raised by specific types of text e.g. poetry oral literature The second much longer part consists of entries grouped by language of origin some are devoted to individual texts e.g. the Thousand and One Nights or writers e.g. Ibsen Proust but the majority offer a critical overview of a genre e.g. Chinese poetry Spanish Golden Age drama or of a national literature e.g. Hungarian Scottish Gaelic There is a selective bibliography for each entry and an index of authors and translators

Resistance Literature Barbara Harlow, 2023-03-01 As one of the foundational texts in the field of postcolonial writing Barbara Harlow's Resistance Literature introduced new ground in Western literary studies Originally published in 1987 and now reissued with a new

Preface by Mia Carter this powerfully argued and controversial critique develops an approach to literature which is essentially political Resistance Literature introduces the reader to the role of literature in the liberation movements of the developing world during the 20th Century It considers a body of writing largely ignored in the west Although the book is organized according to generic topics poetry narrative prison memoirs thematic topics and the specific historical conditions that influence the cultural and political strategies of various resistance struggles including those of Palestine Nicaragua and South Africa are brought to the fore Among the questions raised are the role of women in the developing world communication in circumstances of extreme atomization literature versus propaganda censorship and the problem of adopting literary forms identified with the oppressor culture Ingrid Jonker Louise Viljoen,2013-03-15 Nelson Mandela brought the poetry of Ingrid Jonker to the attention of South Africa and the wider world when he read her poem Die kind The Child at the opening of South Africa's first democratic parliament on May 24 1994 Though Jonker was already a significant figure in South African literary circles Mandela's reference contributed to a revival of interest in Jonker and her work that continues to this day Viljoen's biography illuminates the brief and dramatic life of Jonker who created a literary oeuvre as searing in its intensity as it is brief before taking her own life at the age of thirty one Jonker wrote against a background of escalating apartheid laws violent repression of black political activists and the banning of the African National Congress and the Pan Africanist Congress Viljoen tells the story of Ingrid Jonker in the political and cultural context of her time provides sensitive insights into her poetry and considers the reasons for the enduring fascination with her life and death Her writings her association with bohemian literary circles and her identification with the oppressed brought her into conflict with her father a politician in the white ruling party and with other authority figures from her Afrikaner background Her life and work demonstrate the difficulty and importance of artistic endeavor in a place of terrible conflict Resources in Education ,1969-07 The Perversity of Gratitude Grant Farred,2024-01-19 While recollecting his educational experiences in apartheid South Africa the author grapples with the oppressive intent of the governing regime alongside its unintended benefits for his intellectual and individual development Research in Education ,1969 Nadine Gordimer's Burger's Daughter Judie Newman,2003-01-09 South African writer Nadine Gordimer won the Nobel Prize in Literature in 1991 Her seventh novel Burger's Daughter focuses upon the daughter of a white communist Afrikaner hero Based partly on fact successively banned and unbanned by the South African authorities the novel has also become something of a test case for feminist critics of Gordimer's writing This casebook includes an interview with and an essay by Nadine Gordimer on the novel classic and recent critical essays an introduction discussing biographical and historical contexts and the literary reception and a bibliography Language and Language Behavior Abstracts ,1980 Staffrider ,1992 War and Society Jacklyn Cock,Laurie Nathan,1989 International Books in Print ,1991 Arts & Humanities Citation Index ,1993 A multidisciplinary index covering the journal literature of the arts and humanities It fully covers 1 144 of the world's leading arts and humanities journals and it indexes individually selected relevant items from over 6 800 major science and social science journals Ambiguities of Witnessing Mark Sanders,2007 The first book to explore the complex relationship between law and literature in testimony to crimes of apartheid before South Africa s Truth and Reconciliation Commission Ambiguities of Witnessing closely analyzes key individual testimonies Whereas most existing books on this and other truth commissions are weighed down by abstract legal and philosophical discussion this book does justice to witnesses public testimony in a fascinating and theoretically sophisticated investigation of questions of human rights mourning forgiveness and reparation Framed by the personal Ambiguities of Witnessing also meditates on what it means for the writer to respond to this epochal event in the history of post apartheid South Africa The Reference Catalogue of Current Literature ,1940
