Neighborhood and Ancestry Jonathan Owens, 1998-12-15 Over the past 35 years urban sociolinguistics has developed upon the base of detailed case studies carried out mainly in western countries A fundamental dichotomy informing the interpretation of variation has been carried out within what is termed the standard vernacular model Higher vs lower social class power vs solidarity open networks vs closed networks are a few of the conceptual dyads which have been invoked to order linguistic variation operating with an input from a standard vernacular source The present study based on the spoken Arabic of Maiduguri Nigeria focuses on a linguistic landscape where the notions of standard and vernacular are of little relevance in ordering urban linguistic variants It is argued that linguistic variation is best conceptualized and ordered in terms of the twin variables of neighborhood and ancestral norms A detailed analysis of 13 linguistic variables based on a corpus of about 500 000 words invokes an urban linguistic world different from that in the West To integrate this landscape into current sociolinguistic thinking a typology of urban variation is outlined using familiar yet relatively unutilized sociolinguistic parameters neighborhood ancestry minority status and institutionalization

Performance Funding for Higher Education: What Are the Mechanisms? What Are the Impacts? Kevin J. Dougherty, Vikash Reddy, 2013-06-19 After first appearing in 1979 in Tennessee performance funding for higher education went on to be adopted by another 26 states This monograph reviews research on a multitude of states to address these questions What impacts does performance funding have on institutional practices and ultimately student outcomes What obstacles and unintended effects do performance funding encounter This monograph finds considerable impacts on institutional practices weak impacts on student outcomes substantial obstacles and sizable unintended impacts Given this the monograph closes with a discussion of the implications for future research and for public policymaking on performance funding This is the 2nd issue of the 39th volume of the Jossey Bass series ASHE Higher Education Report Each monograph is the definitive analysis of a tough higher education issue based on thorough research of pertinent literature and institutional experiences Topics are identified by a national survey Noted practitioners and scholars are then commissioned to write the reports with experts providing critical reviews of each manuscript before publication

Spatial Ecological-Economic Analysis for Wetland Management Jeroen C. J. M. Bergh, Aat Barendregt, Alison J. Gilbert, 2004-06-10 Wetlands are very sensitive and valuable ecosystems that are subject to much stress from human activities The study presented here has developed an innovative triple layer framework for analysis of wetland management This approach provides support for spatial matching between physical planning hydrological and ecological processes and economic activities The authors describe how integrated modelling at the regional scale can be achieved in practice Following an introduction to wetlands theoretical aspects of the contributing disciplines are discussed as well as various aspects of integrated and spatial modelling An applied integrated assessment of spatial wetland management for the Vecht area between Amsterdam and Utrecht is then presented This assessment has resulted in a set of linked hydrological ecological and economic models formulated at the level of grids and polders and various types of evaluations and rankings of scenarios The results indicate the value of maintaining spatial detail for as long as possible
