A Summer Of Drowning:

A Summer of Drowning John Burnside, 2011 At a critical point in her career painter Angelika Rossdal suddenly moves to Kvaløya a small island deep in the Arctic Circle to dedicate herself to the solitary pursuit of her craft She takes her young daughter with her Things take a dark turn is there something supernatural happening on the island Haunted Spaces in Twenty-First Century British Nature Writing Anneke Lubkowitz, 2020-06-08 This study investigates the figure of haunting in the New Nature Writing It begins with a historical survey of nature writing and traces how it came to represent an ideal of natural space as empty of human history and social conflict Building on a theoretical framework which combines insights from ecocriticism and spatial theory the author explores the spatial dimensions of haunting and hauntology and shows how 21st century writers draw on a Gothic repertoire of seemingly supernatural occurrences and spectral imagery to portray natural space as disturbed uncanny and socially contested Iain Sinclair and Robert Macfarlane are revealed to apply psychogeography's interest in hidden histories and haunted places to spaces associated with wilderness and the countryside Kathleen Jamie's allusions to the Gothic are put in relation to her feminist re-writing of the outdoors and John Burnside's use of haunting is shown to dismantle fictions of the far north This book provides not only a discussion of a wide range of factual and fictional narratives of the present but also an analysis of the intertextual dialogue with the Romantic tradition which enfolds in these texts The Drowning Summer C. L. Herman, 2022-04-19 In this contemporary fantasy by the New York Times bestselling author of All of Us Villains two girls find themselves drawn to each other while using their supernatural powers to solve a crime until things take a deadly turn Six years ago three Long Island teenagers were murdered their drowned bodies discovered with sand dollars placed over their eyes The mystery of the drowning summer was never solved but as far as the town's concerned Evelyn Mackenzie's father did it His charges were dropped only because Evelyn summoned a ghost to clear his name She swore never to call a spirit again She lied For generations Mina Zanetti's family has used the ocean's power to guide the dead to their final resting place But as sea levels rise the ghosts grow more dangerous and Mina has been shut out of the family business When her former friend Evelyn performs another summoning that goes horribly wrong the two girls must uncover who was really behind the drowning summer murders and navigate their growing attraction before the line between life and death dissolves for good Beautifully written and enticingly witchy The Drowning Summer is an eerie story perfect for reading under a full moon John Burnside Ben Davies, 2020-02-06 Celebrated as a poet novelist and non-fiction writer and the winner of numerous major literary prizes including the Whitbread Poetry Prize the T S Eliot Prize and the James Tait Black Memorial Prize John Burnside is one of Britain's leading contemporary writers John Burnside Contemporary Critical Perspectives brings together leading scholars of contemporary literature to guide readers through the full range of the author's writings from his fiction and poetry to his autobiographical and nature writing exploring texts such as The Dumb House The Light Trap A Lie about My Father Glister and Black Cat Bone The book

The Imagined Arctic in Speculative Fiction Maria Lindgren Leavenworth, 2023-07-31 The Imagined Arctic in Speculative Fiction explores the ways in which the Arctic is imagined and what function it is made to serve in a selection of speculative fictions non mimetic works that start from the implied question What if Spanning slightly more than two centuries of speculative fiction from the starting point in Mary Shelley's 1818 Frankenstein to contemporary works that engage with the vast ramifications of anthropogenic climate change analyses demonstrate how Arctic discourses are supported or subverted and how new Arctics are added to the textual tradition To illuminate wider lines of inquiry informing the way the world is envisioned humanity's place and function in it and more than human entanglements analyses focus on the function of the actual Arctic and how this function impacts and is impacted by speculative elements With effects of climate change training the global eye on the Arctic and as debates around future northern cultural economic and environmental sustainability intensify there is a need for a deepened understanding of the discourses that have constructed and are constructing the Arctic A careful mapping and serious consideration of both past and contemporary speculative visions thus illuminate the role the Arctic has played and may come to play in a diverse set of practices and fields

The Beach in Anglophone Literatures and Cultures Ursula Kluwick, Virginia Richter, 2016-03-09 From early colonial encounters to the ecological disasters of the twenty first century the performativity of contact has been a crucial element in the political significance of the beach Conceptualising the beach as a creative trope and as a socio cultural site as well as an aesthetically productive topography this collection examines its multiplicity of meanings and functions as a natural environment engendering both desire and fear in the human imagination from the Victorian period to the present The contributors examine literature film and art in addition to moments of encounter and environmental crisis to highlight the beach as a social space inspiring particular codes of behaviour and specific discourses as a geographical frontier between land and water as an historical site of contact and conflict and as a vacationscape promising regeneration and withdrawal from everyday life The diversity of the beach is reflected in the geographical range with essays on locales and texts from Britain Ireland the Caribbean South Africa the United States Polynesia and New Zealand Focusing on the changed function of the beach as a result of processes of industrialisation and the rise of a modern leisure and health culture this interdisciplinary volume theorises the beach as a demarcater of the precarious boundary between land and the sea as well as between nature and culture
