Healing Leadership Steven Geske, Howard Hansen, 2011-12-29 One thing is clear about today's leadership model It's NOT working We chose Healing in the title to describe a new kind of leadership that we propose We see the present problems in organizations and civilization at large to be rooted in the destructive story we are now living In the story of humankind we believe we have moved from living in harmony with the world to having complete control over the world Hierarchical leadership has caused great damage and even threatens the very existence of our species If we are to change the story we are living from one of conquest to one of harmony a call for a new kind of leadership is required Healing Leadership is that call Healing Leadership is the culmination of our five year effort to deconstruct the way we as consultants intuitively work with leaders Instead of focusing on leverage motivation and power we encourage leaders to focus on themselves to maintain an authentic presence that is non anxious and does not depend on changing someone else This approach removes behaviors that inevitably backfire and keeps people and organizations entrenched in the status quo We believe anyone can benefit from exposure to this way of being intentional about increasing effectiveness as a leader while practicing responsible self care In a society where leaders are first idealized then demonized the role of leader has become increasingly toxic Those who would dare lead authentically and courageously face a barrage of criticism gridlock and sabotage We believe that surviving and thriving in today s leadership averse climate requires a comprehensive approach to building conserving investing and protecting personal energy Healing Leadership proposes what we call the Energy Management Model EMM This model maps a way of being intentional about the central tasks that are no longer optional for leaders who wish to remain healthy creative and effective The Energy Management Model asks three critical questions of every leader Who am I Where am I going Who will go with me The model offers an organized way of gaining greater awareness around these questions and clarifies critical tasks as the leader seeks to answer them The model provides a framework for building preserving and investing personal energy as a way to increase the leader s functioning and maturity in the art of true leadership

Dancing in the Rain Jerome T. Murphy, 2019-01-02 Dancing in the Rain offers a lively and accessible guide aimed at helping education leaders thrive under pressure by developing the inner strengths of mindfulness and self compassion expressing emotions wisely and maintaining a clear focus on the values that matter most Jerome T Murphy a scholar and former dean who has written and taught about the inner life of education leaders argues that the main barrier to thriving as leaders is not the outside pressures we face but how we respond to them inside our minds and hearts In this concise volume Murphy draws on a combination of Eastern contemplative traditions and Western psychology as well as his own experience and research in the field of education leadership He presents a series of exercises and activities to help educators take discomfort more in stride savor the joys and satisfactions of leadership work and thrive as effective leaders guided by heartfelt values Every day education leaders find themselves swamped in a maelstrom of pressures that add to the complex challenges of educating all students to a high level With humor and compassion Dancing in the Rain shows educators how to lead lives of consequence and purpose in the face of life's inescapable downpours

Leadership Meta-Competencies Dimitris Bourantas,Vasia Agapitou,2016-04-22 This book doesn't offer overrated success stories which in most cases cannot be imitated It contains no check lists or recipes for success and it presents no theoretically based models The meta competencies discussed in this refreshing book are timeless virtues of which effective leaders seem to possess but which are rarely if ever included in lists of competencies in the vast business leadership literature They include Existential intelligence distinct from the much discussed emotional intelligence is about the ability to pose questions and reflect on fundamental issues in ways that develop a mature ability to interpret the world and better understand other people Phronesis is the ability to exercise sound judgement based on skilful application of moral and political rationality Solitude is a voluntary state achieved when an individual has the ability to momentarily withdraw and be free of external pressures and demands in order to concentrate on desired mental cognitive activities Trust building is more often discussed in leadership literature As a leadership competence it is about the ability to be credible show trust in and respect for other people and inspire trust For the curious business practitioner business student or business educator wishing to consider aspects of leadership competence that have to some extent been hidden or forgotten this book introduces the notion of meta competences and deals in detail with them

Leadership Lessons from Shakespeare's Plays GRK Murty,2019-09-12 Whatsoever a great man does the same is done by others as well says the Bhagavadgītā Shakespeare is one of such great men He decocted man's cosmic world into his plays and his characters display greatness along with humility and frailty His plays which so lucidly articulate the hidden process of interiority of the protagonists are a living force even today The problems that they portray and the consequences that they map are not dissimilar to those that the leaders of today's businesses encounter Today's leaders are of course equipped with better tools to manage these but they may not be superior to the spiritual depth or moral strength that we experience in these classics In a refreshing approach this book delineates theories of leadership and management through the characters and the themes of the Bard's plays contextualizing their infinite variety to the concepts being expounded in today's business environment
