Translation Theory in the Age of Louis XIV James Albert DeLater, 2014-07-22 Preeminent in a relatively rare category of separate early modern treatises on translation the 1683 De optimo genere interpretandi by the polymath cleric Pierre Daniel Huet 1630 1721 offers a concise introduction to its nature history theory process and practice Written in the form of a Ciceronian dialogue On the best kind of translating not only represents Huet s acute and witty defence of the often disparaged literal or word for word model but also provides illuminating glimpses into the critical and interpretive methods of his age A guiding premise of this first modern edition and annotated translation of Huet s entire treatise is that now as then translation theory and practice are complementaries Consistent also with this premise is the conscious attempt by DeLater to apply Huet s literal translation model at every stage in the process of producing this annotated translation of his treatise Among the topics treated in Huet's work are 1 a definition of translation and its relationship to interpretation 2 adaptation of translation aims and methods to the subject matter of the original 3 the translating and glossing of idioms proverbs metaphors puns and ambiguities 4 translators priorities from sense and words to the elusive quality that makes a translation seem an original work and 5 translation as an independent theoretical discipline In addition to providing an introduction to Huet's life and works as well as explanatory glosses for his copious sources and various topics in the DOGI the present work also supplies links between Huet's work and that of current theorists and critics in the field of translation studies

Lim, 2012-09-15 The discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls provides unprecedented insight into the nature of the Hebrew Bible or Old Testament before its fixation Timothy Lim here presents a complete account of the formation of the canon in Ancient Judaism from the emergence of the Torah in the Persian period to the final acceptance of the list of twenty two twenty four books in the Rabbinic period Using the Hebrew Bible the Scrolls the Apocrypha the Letter of Aristeas the writings of Philo Josephus the New Testament and Rabbinic literature as primary evidence he argues that throughout the post exilic period up to around 100 CE there was not one official canon accepted by all Jews rather there existed a plurality of collections of scriptures that were authoritative for different communities Examining the literary sources and historical circumstances that led to the emergence of authoritative scriptures in ancient Judaism Lim proposes a theory of the majority canon that posits that the Pharisaic canon became the canon of Rabbinic Judaism in the centuries after the destruction of the Jerusalem Temple Hearings United States. Congress. House. Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, 1962 A Musical Life Max Rudolf, 2001 This volume offers a collection of articles written by the renowned conductor and scholar Max Rudolf together with a selection of his correspondence relating to material in the articles Max Rudolf's conducting career spanned seventy years from his first performances in 1920 to his last in 1990 His life was devoted to performing scholarship and teaching He conducted at the Metropolitan Opera from 1943 to 1937 and was Musical Director of the Cincinnati Symphony from 1938 to 1970 after which he combined guest conducting with teaching opera and conducting at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia The articles reflect a lifetime of thought on the art of conducting musical style and performance practice Rudolf known as an interpreter of the classical repertoire freely shared his vast knowledge of Mozart's and Beethoven's scores with colleagues and students His conducting book The Grammar of Conducting has been the leading college text in the field for many years As such it has extended his influence on many generations of conductors Throughout his life Rudolf corresponded voluminously with other musicians The letters included in this volume were selected because they shed a warm personal light on the formal published articles thus providing an opportunity to share the mind and thoughts of an outstanding human being The New World ,1894 Includes section Book reviews The Fourfold Gospel: The beginning Edwin Abbott Abbott,1914 Diatessarica (a series dealing with the interpretation of the Gospels). 10 pt.
