

Guidelines for Writing a Letter of Evaluation for a Medical School Applicant

Thank you for agreeing to write a letter of evaluation for a medical school applicant!

The guidelines are intended to enhance the letter-writing process by providing a general framework of best practices and relevant content for letter writers to follow. They are optional and can be applied to both individual and committee letters.

Guidelines

1. Provide an accurate assessment of the applicant's suitability for medical school rather than advocate for the applicant.
2. Briefly explain your relationship with the applicant:
  - How long have you known the applicant?
  - In what capacity have you interacted (e.g., faculty, premedical advisor, supervisor)?
  - Are your observations of the applicant direct or indirect?
3. Quality of information is more important than letter length. Focus on the applicant rather than details of the lab, course, assignment, job, or institution.
4. Only include information on grades, GPA, or MCAT scores if you also provide context to help interpret them. Grades, GPA, and MCAT scores are available within the application.
5. Focus on behaviors you have observed directly when describing an applicant's suitability for medical school. Consider describing:
  - The situation or context of the behaviors.
  - The actual behaviors you observed.
  - Any consequences of the behaviors.
6. Ask the applicant for permission if you plan to include any information that could be considered potentially private or sensitive.
7. Consider including unique contributions that an applicant would bring to an incoming class, such as:
  - Obstacles that the applicant had to overcome and how those obstacles have led to new learning and growth.
  - Contributions that an applicant would bring to a medical school's diversity, broadly defined (e.g., background, attributes, experiences).
8. Admissions committees find comparison information helpful. If you make comparisons, be sure to provide context. Include information about:
  - The comparison group (e.g., students in a class you taught, students in your department, co-workers).
  - Your rationale for the comparison.

The Complete MD/PhD Applicant Guide Jonathan Sussman, Jordan Setayesh, Amitej Venapally, 2020-09-22 This book is a student reference guide book for the MD PhD application process. It begins with an overview of the structure of a typical MD PhD program, as well as student outcomes and career choices of MD PhD graduates. Next is an outline of the academic and extracurricular prerequisites, as well as the basic components of the application itself. The authors then address the factors that MD PhD students should consider when selecting schools to which to apply. Continuing to the main application, examples are provided of all the different essay types that MD PhD applicants will encounter, along with comments on how to address the deliberately vague and abstract prompts while tailoring the responses to the combined degree program. Most uniquely included is a very detailed explanation of the many types of interviews that applicants will encounter and how to prepare for them by integrating extensive personal experience and first-hand discussions with MD PhD program leaders. Lastly, there will be a discussion on how to cope with the year-long timeline that constitutes this application process and provide guidance regarding properly responding to acceptances and waitlist offers. Written by a team of authors each experienced with the MD PhD application, this book aids the prospective applicant with navigating this challenging process.
