Critical Reflections on Data in Second Language Acquisition Aarnes Gudmestad, Amanda Edmonds, 2018-09-15. This edited volume offers critical reflections on an essential component of research method in the field of second language acquisition data. Scholars working on diverse areas, e.g. pragmatics, corrective feedback, phonology, and approaches, e.g. corpus linguistics, concept-oriented analyses, variationism, have come together to identify challenges researchers face when collecting, coding, and analyzing data, and to provide guidance for making advancements regarding these aspects of research method. This volume also showcases three types of critical reflection. One involves building a relevant corpus of published investigations and using that database to identify methodological issues in existing research. Another consists of recoding and reanalyzing published work before reflecting on the impact that these decisions have on observations made about interlanguage. The third begins with a particular area or approach to second language acquisition and then offers a critical examination on the challenges that characterize the selected area or approach. Researchers and graduate students alike will benefit from an open discussion on methodological issues that are in need of improvement. Sierra Educational News and Book Review, 1909.

Language Acts and Worldmaking, 2022-02-17. Collectively authored by the Language Acts and Worldmaking team, this defining volume offers reflective narratives on research theory and practice over the course of the flagship project of the same name, funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council's Open World Research Initiative. It returns to the project's key principles that our words make worlds and we are agents in worldmaking; analyses the practices and outcomes of collaborative working; and looks to the future by offering concrete ideas for how the work they have done can now continue to do its work in the world. Focusing on the key research strands, this volume looks at the role of the language teacher as a mediator between languages and cultures; worldmaking in modern languages; translation and the imagination; languages and hospitality; digital mediations; and how words change and make worlds. Critically, it analyses the impact on communities of living in multilingual cities and the ways in which learning a first language and then a second, and so on, plays a crucial role in our ability to understand our culture in relation to others and to appreciate the ways in which they are intertwined. Specific aims are to propose new ways of bridging the gaps between those who teach and research languages and those who learn and use them in everyday contexts, from the professional to the personal, put research into the hands of wider audiences.
