Assessment Matters In Higher Education Brown, Sally,Glasner, Angela,1999-02-01 Assessment really does matter in higher education Internationally academics and those who support them are seeking better ways to assess students recognizing that diverse methods are available which may solve many of the problems associated with the evaluation of learning Assessment Matters in Higher Education provides both theoretical perspectives and pragmatic advice on how to conduct effective assessment It draws clearly on both relevant research and on its contributors practical first hand experience warts and all It asks for example how can assessment methods best become an integral part of learning what strategies can be used to make assessment fairer more consistent and more efficient how effective are innovative approaches to assessment and in what contexts do they prosper to what extent can students become involved in their own assessment how can we best assess learning in professional practice contexts This is an important resource for all academics and academic managers involved in assessing their students

Christ the Tragedy of God Kevin Taylor, 2018-09-21 Tragedy is a genre for exploring loss and suffering and this book traces the vital areas where tragedy has shaped and been a resource for Christian theology There is a history to the relationship of theology and tragedy tragic literature has explored areas of theological interest and is present in the Bible and ongoing theological concerns Christian theology has a long history of using what is at hand and the genre of tragedy is no different What are the merits and challenges of placing the central narrative of the passion death and resurrection of Christ in tragic terms This study examines important and shared concerns of theology and tragedy sacrifice and war rationality and order historical contingency blindness guilt and self awareness Theologians such as Reinhold Niebuhr Hans Urs von Balthasar Martin Luther King Jr Simone Weil and Boethius have explored tragedy as a theological resource The historical relationship of theology and tragedy reveals that neither is monolithic and both remain diverse and unstable areas of human thought This fascinating book will be of keen interest to theologians as well as scholars in the fields of literary studies and tragic theory

Continental Philosophy and the Palestinian Question Zahi Zalloua, 2017-02-23 From Sartre to Levinas continental philosophers have looked to the example of the Jew as the paradigmatic object of and model for ethical inquiry Levinas for example powerfully dedicates his 1974 book Otherwise than Being to the victims of the Holocaust and turns attention to the state of philosophy after Auschwitz Such an ethics radically challenges prior notions of autonomy and comprehension two key ideas for traditional ethical theory and more generally the Greek tradition It seeks to respect the opacity of the other and avoid the dangers of hermeneutic violence But how does such an ethics of the other translate into real everyday life What is at stake in thinking the other as Jew Is the alterity of the Jew simply a counter to Greek universalism Is a rhetoric of exceptionalism with its unavoidable ontological residue at odds with shifting political realities Within this paradigm what then becomes of the Arab or Muslim the other of the Jew the other of the other so to speak This line of ethical thought in its desire to bear witness to past suffering and come to terms with subjectivity after Auschwitz arguably brackets from analysis present operations of power Would then a more sensitive historical approach expose the Palestinian as the other of the Israeli Here Zahi Zalloua offers a challenging intervention into how we configure the contemporary
