Media Study Guide

Related articles:

This media study guide focuses on the interrelationship between media and a controversial issue through the study of the documentary film "An Inconvenient Truth". It tackles global warming as an example of a controversial issue, that the media participated in creating the controversy. The guide helps students learn to critically analyze media, understand their biases, form their own opinions, engage in a debate about a controversial issue, and finally produce a media expressing their opinions and actions. The guide is designed for grades 11-12 in multiple subjects with several activities that teachers can choose the ones suitable for their learning outcomes and focus.

Learning Outcomes:

By engaging in the activities in this study guide, students will be able to:

- ★ Critically analyze a media production using a holistic framework.
- ★ Understand and express their bias
- ★ Express a controversial issue
- ★ Participate in a debate around a controversial issue using the de-mythification strategy
- ★ Form an informed opinion about global warming
- ★ Decide on actions to become socially active
- ★ Have an understanding of media with social change agenda
- ★ Use digital technology to produce a media production of their choice

Introductory Activity: Poster Analysis

At the beginning of the learning journey, students are asked to analyze the film poster using the following steps:

- ★ Draw a table with two columns headed description and connotation.
- ★ In the description column, describe the images and text (color and layout). For example: "inconvenient" there is no space in the title and word inconvenient is written in red. Another example, the chimney image forming a tornado.
- ★ In the connotation column write down the connotations of each element. Use this space to elaborate what each element meant to you.
- ★ Write down the overall meaning of the poster by completing this sentence: "See this film and ..."

Handbook of Individual Differences in Reading Peter Afflerbach,2015-08-11 The central unifying theme of this state of the art contribution to research on literacy is its rethinking and reconceptualization of individual differences in reading Previous research focused on cognitive components of reading signaled the need for ongoing work to identify relevant individual differences in reading to determine the relationships of individual differences to reading development and to account for interactions among individual differences Addressing developments in each of these areas this volume also describes affective individual differences and the environments in which individual differences in reading may emerge operate interact and change The scant comprehensive accounting of individual differences in reading is reflected in the nature of reading instruction programs today the outcomes that are expected from successful teaching and learning and the manner in which reading development is assessed An important contribution of this volume is to provide prima facie evidence of the benefits of broad conceptualization of the ways in which readers differ The Handbook of Individual Differences in Reading moves the field forward by encompassing cognitive non cognitive contextual and methodological concerns Its breadth of coverage serves as both a useful summary of the current state of knowledge and a guide for future work in this area

Re-reading / La relecture Rachel Falconer, Andrew Oliver, 2012-03-15 What happens when we re read a familiar book Does the second encounter turn us into experts more knowing and confident in our relation to the text Or conversely does it expose the gaps and limits of each reading experience Does re reading affirm our own sense of identity reconnecting us to earlier memories or does it shock and destabilize revealing discontinuities between past and present selves Is re reading uncanny a discovery of the familiar in the unfamiliar or the reverse Do certain literary devices and tropes symbols allegories for example depend on re reading to be activated Are there some texts that can only be re read Re reading is rarely discussed in depth yet it forms the core of most conversations about literature for we rarely become passionate or critical about books we have only read once It is also re reading that consolidates a core of texts into what we recognise to be a canon of literature and it is re reading again that breaks open the canon and reshapes it We re read alone but we also re read communally in the shared space of the theatre or in the translation of a text from one culture to another or one medium to another Re reading is a necessary part of the professional reader's life yet there is often in the history of the individual scholar some formative relationship with a text read obsessively in childhood This bilingual volume of essays brings together an international group of eminent scholars in order to reflect on this process of re reading in honour of Graham Falconer Professor of 19th century French literature and long term re reader The essays vary from personal reflections on formative childhood reading and self reflexive scholarly re readings to analysis of the theme of re reading in texts and presentation of new theories of re reading Gustave Flaubert Honor de Balzac Stendhal Eug ne Fromentin Guy de Maupassant Marcel Proust Samuel Beckett Dostoevsky Mikhail Bakhtin W B Yeats William Blake Roland Petit H G Wells and Anthony Hope are amongst the authors re visited in these reflections on the practice of re reading

The Really Inconvenient Truths Iain Murray, 2008-04-22 Al Gore is bad for the planet Talk about really inconvenient truths that s one of the many you ll find in Iain Murray s rollicking expos of environmental blowhards who waste more energy endanger more species and actually kill more people yes that s right than the environmental villains they finger Did you know that estrogen from birth control and morning after pills is causing male fish across America to develop female sex organs Funny how pro choice and environmentalist liberals never talk about that Or how about this the Live Earth concert to save the planet released more CO2 into the atmosphere than a fleet of 2 000 Humvees emit in a year We hear a lot about AIDS in Africa but the number one killer of children in much of Africa is malaria and guess who was responsible for banning the pesticide that used to have malaria under control Iain Murray a sprightly conservative environmental analyst with a long record of skewering liberal hypocrisy has dug up seven of the all time great environmental catastrophes caused by the Left and exposed them in The Really Inconvenient Truths

Luke Was Not A Christian: Reading the Third Gospel and Acts within Judaism Joshua Paul Smith, 2023-12-18 In this volume Joshua Paul Smith challenges the long held assumption that Luke and Acts were written by a gentile arguing instead that the author of these texts was educated and enculturated within a Second Temple Jewish context Advancing from a consciously interdisciplinary perspective Smith considers the question of Lukan authorship from multiple fronts including reception history and social memory theory literary criticism and the emerging discipline of cognitive sociolinguistics The result is an alternative portrait of Luke the Evangelist one who sees the mission to the gentiles not as a supersession of Jewish law and tradition but rather as a fulfillment and expansion of Israel s own salvation history

Art and Moral Change Ki Joo Choi, 2024-09-02 A first of its kind critical overview of how art leads to moral action in the field of theological ethics One question that remains insufficiently addressed in theological ethics is the question of how art leads to moral action While many modernist theories consider art to be a morally irrelevant activity others think that the arts and the emotions they elicit are integral to moral formation and justice Challenging both kinds of theories Art and Moral Change proposes that art is essential because it is an inevitable source of moral disagreement Drawing on the work of Jonathan Edwards and many others in theology philosophy and literary studies Art and Moral Change argues that the arts are the cultural mediums through which we can better understand what is morally possible in the midst of difference The arts in other words can serve as snapshots of a particular community s perspectives on the good life offering glimpses not only of competing moral visions within society but also of the extent to which these contested moral views are reconcilable Thus the arts reveal the limits of moral reasoning confirm the contextuality of moral discernment and necessitate moral thinking that is dialogical and dialectical Art and Moral Change provides a first of its kind critical overview of how the field of theological ethics approaches and should utilize aesthetics The core premise that paying attention to art encourages us to appreciate the ethical importance of disagreement difference and conflict will foster greater understanding of aesthetics and ethics for students and scholars of theological social and virtue ethics

The New Universe and the Human Future Nancy Ellen Abrams, Joel R. Primack, 2020-08-11 A cultural philosopher and an astrophysicist attempt to decipher how we fit into the universe and the impact our placement has on us After a four century rupture between science and the questions of value and meaning this groundbreaking book presents an explosive and potentially life altering idea if the world could agree on a shared creation story based on modern cosmology and biology a story that has just become available it would redefine our relationship with Planet Earth and benefit all of humanity now and into the distant future Written in eloquent accessible prose and illustrated in magnificent color throughout including images from innovative simulations of the evolving universe this book brings the new scientific picture of the universe to life It interprets what our human place in the cosmos may mean for us and our descendants It offers unique insights into the potential use of this newfound knowledge to find solutions to seemingly intractable global problems such as climate change and unsustainable growth And it explains why we need to think cosmically act globally if we re going to have a long term prosperous future on Earth Should be read by anyone not just scientists who worry about the human condition Deepak Chopra The Huffington Post A prophetic book Its message ranks right up there with those of Isaiah Jeremiah Ezekiel and Joel Like the prophets it is at times poetic demanding grounded soaring empowering and always awe inspiring Matthew Fox Tikkun The ideas and images are fascinating and certainly contribute to a sense of the profound stakes involved in what we re doing to the planet and ourselves William Kowinski North Coast Journal

Controversy in the Classroom Diana E. Hess, 2009-05-26 In a conservative educational climate that is dominated by policies like No Child Left Behind one of the most serious effects has been for educators to worry about the politics of what they are teaching and how they are teaching it As a result many dedicated teachers choose to avoid controversial issues altogether in preference for safe knowledge and safe teaching practices Diana Hess interrupts this dangerous trend by providing readers a spirited and detailed argument for why curricula and teaching based on controversial issues are truly crucial at this time Through rich empirical research from real classrooms throughout the nation she demonstrates why schools have the potential to be particularly powerful sites for democratic education and why this form of education must include sustained attention to authentic and controversial political issues that animate political communities The purposeful inclusion of controversial issues in the school curriculum when done wisely and well can communicate by example the essence of what makes communities democratic while simultaneously building the skills and dispositions that young people will need to live in and improve such communities

Shelat, 2014-07-15 Human activity is changing the global environment at an unprecedented rate while humanity faces a range of complex and interrelated challenges to local regional and global development human security and politics Food security ranks high on the science policy and development agendas However most research linking global change and food systems examines the impact of climate change on agricultural production or the impact of agriculture on land use pollution and biodiversity overlooking interactions with other aspects of the food system such as food processing packaging transportation and consumption and employment derived from these activities This book demonstrates that new threats to food security which arise from environmental change require more than simply a focus on agricultural practices what is needed is an integrated food system approach The authors point out that the process of adapting food systems to global environmental change is not simply a search for technological solutions to increase agricultural yields Tradeoffs across multiple scales among food system outcomes are a prevalent feature of globalized food systems Within food systems there are key underexplored areas that are both sensitive to environmental change and crucial to understanding its implications for food security and adaptation strategies The authors assert that technical prescriptions alone will not efficiently manage the food security challenge This book is their contribution to a new paradigm which addresses food systems holistically by engaging researchers in multiple disciplines to understand the causes and drivers of vulnerability
