Designing Interaction John Millar Carroll, 1991-06-28 Designing Interaction first published in 1991 presents a broadbased and fundamental re examination of human computer interaction as a practical and scientific endeavor The chapters in this well integrated tightly focused book are by psychologists and computer scientists in industry and academia who examine the relationship between contemporary psychology and human computer interaction HCI seeks to produce user interfaces that facilitate and enrich human motivation action and experience but to do so deliberately it must also incorporate means of understanding user interfaces in human terms the province of psychology Conversely the design and use of computing equipment provides psychologists with a diverse and challenging empirical field in which to assess their theories and methodologies

Structures and Architecture Mario Rinke, Marie Frier Hvejsel, 2025-06-23 Structures and Architecture REstructure REmaterialize RETHink REuse contains the contributions to the 6th International Conference on Structures and Architecture ICSA 2025 Antwerp Belgium 8-11 July 2025 As a response to the pressing global climate and energy crisis and with new settings and tools the design and construction of our built environment needs reconsideration and extension The papers call for a re imagination of current practices regarding structures and architecture The volumes of the series are published every three years in tandem with the conferences organised by the International Association of Structures and Architecture They aim to reach a global audience of researchers practitioners and students including architects structural and construction engineers builders and building consultants constructors material suppliers planners urban designers anthropologists economists sociologists artists product manufacturers and other professionals involved in the design and realisation of architectural structural and infrastructural projects

Street-Level Architecture Conrad Kickert, Hans Karssen, 2022-08-04 This book provides the tools to maintain and rebuild the interaction between architecture and public space Despite the best intentions of designers and planners interactive frontages have dwindled over the past century in Europe and North America This book demonstrates why even our best intentions for interactive frontages are currently unable to turn a swelling tide of economic and technological evolution land consolidation introversion stratification and contagious decline It uses these lessons to offer concrete locational programming design and management strategies to maximize street level interaction and trust between street level architecture its inhabitants and the city This book demonstrates that designers developers planners and managers ultimately have to create the right preconditions for inhabitants and passersby to bring frontages to life These preconditions connect architecture to its urban social economical and technological context Only the right frontage in the right context with the right design the right inhabitation and the right attitude to the city will become part of the ecosystem of trust and interaction that supports public life This book empowers the many participants in this ecosystem to build inhabit and enjoy truly urbane architecture

Amsterdam's Canal District Jan Nijman, 2020-09-10 In terms of design scale and blending of ecological and aesthetic function Amsterdam's seventeenth century Canal District is a European marvel Its survival for four centuries is a testament to its ingenuity reflected in its designation as a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 2010 The Canal District today is an extraordinary example of resilient historic design and cultural heritage in a living city but it is not without present day challenges in recent years its urban ecology has become subject to severe pressures of global tourism and supergentrification This edited volume brings together seventeen reputable scholars to debate questions about the origins evolution and future of the Canal District With these differing approaches and perspectives on the Canal District the contributions render a collection where the whole is much more than the sum of the parts The book breaks new ground in our understanding of the District's historic design its evolution over four hundred years and the fundamental issues in future facing strategies and policies While the main focus is clearly on Amsterdam the discussions in this collection have an important bearing on broader questions of urban historic preservation elsewhere and on questions about enduring urban design     Paradise Planned Robert A.M. Stern,David Fishman,Jacob Tilove,2013-12-03 Paradise Planned is the definitive history of the development of the garden suburb a phenomenon that originated in England in the late eighteenth century was quickly adopted in the United State and northern Europe and gradually proliferated throughout the world These bucolic settings offered an ideal lifestyle typically outside the city but accessible by streetcar train and automobile Today the principles of the garden city movement are once again in play as retrofitting the suburbs has become a central issue in planning Strategies are emerging that reflect the goals of garden suburbs in creating metropolitan communities that embrace both the intensity of the city and the tranquility of nature Paradise Planned is the comprehensive encyclopedic record of this movement a vital contribution to architectural and planning history and an essential recourse for guiding the repair of the American townscape     Urban Landscapes in High-Density Cities Bianca Maria Rinaldi,Puay Yok Tan,2019-06-04 The positive effects of urban green spaces are well known ranging from the promotion of health support of biodiversity to climate regulation However the practical implementation of urban landscapes is less discussed How can we make these spaces functional economically feasible and inclusive especially as cities become more diverse The publication explores strategies to reconcile the various demands such as food production resilience and nature conservation Indeed urban landscapes have to be restorative ecological and aesthetically pleasing at the same time This is a particular challenge in high density cities like Singapore Seoul or New York where space is a scarce commodity The continuing growth of the worldwide urban population imbues the topic with a special urgency     Tools for Working with Guidelines Jean Vanderdonckt,Christelle Farenc,2012-12-06 This volume contains the papers presented at the International Workshop on Tools for Working with Guidelines TFWWG 2000 held in Biarritz France in October 2000 It is the final outcome of the International Special Interest Group on Tools for Working with Guidelines Human computer interaction guidelines have been recognized as a uniquely relevant source for improving the usability of user interfaces for interactive systems The range of interactive techniques exploited by these interactive systems is rapidly expanding to include multimodal user interfaces virtual reality systems highly interactive web based applications and three dimensional user interfaces Therefore the scope of guidelines sources is rapidly expanding as well and so are the tools that should support users who employ guidelines to ensure some form of usability Tools For Working With Guidelines TFWWG covers not only software tools that designers developers and human factors experts can use to manage multiple types of guidelines but also looks at techniques addressing organizational sociological and technological issues     Building Envelopes Jenny Lovel,2013-07-02 Few parts of a building work harder than its envelope also known as its facade The envelope is the part of the building most visible from the outside so it should be visually appealing but it can also have the biggest effect on the well being and safety of its occupants so the envelope should be help heat and cool the building allow light into it and provide necessary structure Too often a building s envelope is more aesthetically striking than functional or vice versa A great building envelope though architecturally integrates all of its elements

Fundamentals and Standards in Hardware Description Languages Jean Mermet,2012-12-06 The second half of this century will remain as the era of proliferation of electronic computers They did exist before but they were mechanical During next century they may perform other mutations to become optical or molecular or even biological Actually all these aspects are only fancy dresses put on mathematical machines This was always recognized to be true in the domain of software where machine or high level languages are more or less rigourous but immaterial variations of the universally accepted mathematical language aimed at specifying elementary operations functions algorithms and processes But even a mathematical machine needs a physical support and this is what hardware is all about The invention of hardware description languages HDL s in the early 60 s was an attempt to stay longer at an abstract level in the design process and to push the stage of physical implementation up to the moment when no more technology independant decisions can be taken It was also an answer to the continuous exponential growth of complexity of systems to be designed This problem is common to hardware and software and may explain why the syntax of hardware description languages has followed with a reasonable delay of ten years the evolution of the programming languages at the end of the 60 s they were Algol like a decade later Pascal like and now they are C or ADA like They have also integrated the new concepts of advanced software specification languages The Routledge Handbook of Urban Design Research Methods Hesam Kamalipour, Patricia Aelbrecht, Nastaran Peimani, 2023-08-24 As an evolving and contested field urban design has been made unmade and remade at the intersections of multiple disciplines and professions It is now a decisive moment for urban design to reflect on its rigour and relevance This handbook is an attempt to seize this moment for urban design to further develop its theoretical and methodological knowledge base and engage with the question of what urban design can be with a primary focus on its research This handbook includes contributions from both established and emerging scholars across the global North and global South to provide a more field specific entry point by introducing a range of topics and lines of inquiry and discussing how they can be explored with a focus on the related research designs and methods The specific aim scope and structure of this handbook are appealing to a range of audiences interested and or involved in shaping places and public spaces What makes this book quite distinctive from conventional handbooks on research methods is the way it has been structured in relation to some key research topics and questions in the field of urban design regarding the issues of agency affordance place informality and performance In addition to the introduction chapter this handbook includes 80 contributors and 52 chapters organised into five parts The commissioned chapters showcase a wide range of topics research designs and methods with references to relevant scholarly works on the related topics and methods Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1994

Restoring Your Historic House: The Comprehensive Guide for Homeowners Scott T. Hanson, 2019-12-10 How to accommodate contemporary life in a historic house This book does not repeat basic information that is readily available in many standard DIY books about carpentry wiring and plumbing Rather it shows how to adapt those DIY skills to the specialized needs of a historic house Although there are other books about renovating old houses this is the first that prioritizes the identification and preservation of the historic character defining features of a house as a starting point in the process That is the purpose of this book to describe and illustrate a best practices approach for updating historic homes for modern life in ways that do not attempt to turn an old house into a new one The book also suggests many ways to save money in the process without settling for cheap or inappropriate solutions Scott Hanson is a historic building preservation professional and has 40 years experience rehabilitating historic houses He has illustrated this authoritative book with hundreds of step by step photos illustrations charts and decision making guides Interspersed throughout are photo essays of 13 restored historic houses representing a range of periods and architectural styles Italianate Victorian Queen Anne Federal Colonial Colonial Revival Greek Revival Ranch Adobe Craftsman Shingle and Rustic With interior and exterior photography by David Clough these multi page features show what can be achieved when a historic home is renovated with a desire to preserve or restore as much historic character as possible Folio 05: Documents on Nus Architecture Li Shiqiao, 2003 The fifth book in the Folio series features leading architects as they test out their ideas and designs among the students and staff of the National University of Singapore's Department of Architecture. The ideas cover a range of issues including tropicalism, dreams and architecture.

Cellular Solids Lorna J. Gibson, Michael F. Ashby, 1999-07-22. In this new edition of their classic work on Cellular Solids, the authors have brought the book completely up to date, including new work on processing of metallic and ceramic foams and on the mechanical, electrical and acoustic properties of cellular solids. Data for commercially available foams are presented on material property charts; two new case studies show how the charts are used for selection of foams in engineering design. Over 150 references appearing in the literature since the publication of the first edition are cited. The text summarises current understanding of the structure and mechanical behaviour of cellular materials and the ways in which they can be exploited in engineering design. Cellular solids include engineering honeycombs and foams which can now be made from polymers, metals, ceramics and composites, as well as natural materials such as wood, cork and cancellous bone.
