Jarausch, 2014-07-14 Konrad H. Jarausch studies the social structure of the German university and the mentality of its students during the Imperial period as an example of a wider European academic desertion of liberalism He finds that German higher education combined scientific world leadership and competent professional training with an eroding liberal education Bildung to create an educated class that was tragically susceptible to the appeal of the Third Reich Originally published in 1982 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

The British Empire in 100 Facts Jem Duducu,2014-11-15 Discovering major historical topics through the history behind the facts The story of the British Empire told in bitesize chunks Military Laws of the United States United States,1940 Military Laws of the United States (Army). United States,1940 British Naval Supremacy and Anglo-American Antagonisms, 1914-1930 Donald J. Lisio,2014-10-27 During World War I Britain's naval supremacy enabled it to impose economic blockades and interdiction of American neutral shipping The United States responded by building a navy second to none one so powerful that Great Britain could not again successfully challenge America's vital economic interests This book reveals that when the United States offered to substitute naval equality for its emerging naval supremacy the British nonetheless used the resulting two major international arms control conferences of the 1920s to ensure its continued naval dominance United States of America Congressional Record, Proceedings and Debates of the 113th Congress Second Session Volume 160 - Part 4 , Congressional Record United States. Torpedo Katherine C. Epstein,2014-01-01 When President Eisenhower referred to the military industrial complex in his 1961 Farewell Address he summed up in a phrase the merger of government and industry that dominated the Cold War United States In this bold reappraisal Katherine Epstein uncovers the origins of the military industrial complex in the decades preceding World War I as the United States and Great Britain struggled to perfect a crucial new weapon the self propelled torpedo Torpedoes threatened to upend the delicate balance among the world s naval powers they were bought and sold in a global marketplace and they were cutting edge industrial technologies But building them required substantial capital investments and close collaboration among scientists engineers businessmen and naval officers To address these formidable challenges the U S and British navies created a new procurement paradigm instead of buying finished armaments from the private sector or developing them from scratch at public expense they began to invest in private sector research and development The inventions emerging from torpedo R D sparked legal battles over intellectual property rights that reshaped national security law Torpedo blends military legal and business history with the history of science and technology to recast our understanding of defense contracting and the demands of modern warfare
