Asia's Latent Nuclear Powers Mark Fitzpatrick,2017-10-03 If the nuclear weapons club were to further expand would Americas democratic allies in Northeast Asia be among the next entrants Japan South Korea and Taiwan all have robust civilian nuclear energy programmes that make them virtual nuclear powers according to many analysts All three once pursued nuclear weapons and all face growing security threats from nuclear armed adversaries But will they or rather under what circumstances might they This book analyses these past nuclear pursuits and current proliferation drivers In explaining the nuclear technology that the three now possess it considers how long it would take each to build a nuclear weapon if such a fateful decision were made Although nuclear dominoes Northeast Asia cannot be ruled out the author does not predict such a scenario Unlike when each previously went down a nuclear path democracy and a free press now prevail as barriers to building nukes in the basement Reliance on US defence commitments is a better security alternative as long as such guarantees remain credible an issue that is also assessed But extended deterrence is not a tight barrier to proliferation of sensitive nuclear technologies Nuclear hedging by its Northeast Asian partners will challenge Washington's nuclear diplomacy Bad Therapy Abigail Shrier, 2024-02-27 From the author of Irreversible Damage an investigation into how mental health overdiagnosis is harming not helping children A pacy no holds barred attack on mental health professionals and parenting experts thought provoking Financial Times A message that parents teachers mental health professionals and policymakers need to hear New Statesman In virtually every way that can be measured Gen Z's mental health is worse than that of previous generations Youth suicide rates are climbing antidepressant prescriptions for children are common and the proliferation of mental health diagnoses has not helped the staggering number of kids who are lonely lost sad and fearful of growing up What's gone wrong In Bad Therapy bestselling investigative journalist Abigail Shrier argues that the problem isn't the kids it's the mental health experts Drawing on hundreds of interviews with child psychologists parents teachers and young people themselves Shrier explores the ways the mental health industry has transformed the way we teach treat discipline and even talk to our kids She reveals that most of the therapeutic approaches have serious side effects and few proven benefits for instance talk therapy can induce rumination trapping children in cycles of anxiety and depression while gentle parenting can encourage emotional turbulence even violence in children as they lash out desperate for an adult to be in charge Mental health care can be lifesaving when properly applied to children with severe needs but for the typical child the cure can be worse than the disease Bad Therapy is a must read for anyone questioning why our efforts to support our kids have backfired and what it will take for parents to lead a turnaround

Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education, and Related Agencies Appropriations for Fiscal Year 2017

United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies, 2017 Governance and sector outcomes Anna Wetterberg, Derick W. Brinkerhoff, 2018-09-27 A critical issue in international development is how donor funded programs can support sustainable and long lasting changes in assisted countries Among the factors associated with sustainability is improved governance However many donor funded initiatives are focused on achieving results in specific sectors such as health education and agriculture How can how governance interventions contribute to achieving sector specific results This brief explores this question and discusses how international development practice has incorporated recognition of the links between governance and sector outcomes The brief develops a stylized continuum of how governance elements relate to sector interventions and contribute to expected outcomes We discuss factors that either impede or impel governance integration and close with some observations regarding prospects for integrated programming The audience for the brief is the international development policy and practitioner communities and secondarily academics with an interest in the topic Key take aways include 1 there is ample evidence of positive contributions from improved governance to sector specific outcomes but few guideposts exist for practical and effective governance integration 2 barriers to integration include urgent sector priorities that overshadow governance concerns requirements to demonstrate progress towards ambitious sector targets and complex choices related to measurement and 3 sustainability and self reliance are major drivers for integration and are facilitated by the flexibility and adaptation that governance integration enables
