Neuromodulation of Executive Circuits M. Victoria Puig,Allan T. Gullledge,Evelyn K. Lambe,Guillermo Gonzalez-Burgos,2016-01-21 High order executive tasks involve the interplay between frontal cortex and other cortical and subcortical brain regions In particular the frontal cortex striatum and thalamus interact via parallel fronto striatal loops that are crucial for the executive control of behavior In all of these brain regions neuromodulatory inputs e g serotonergic dopaminergic cholinergic adrenergic and peptidergic afferents regulate neuronal activity and synaptic transmission to optimize circuit performance for specific cognitive demands Indeed dysregulation of neuromodulatory input to fronto striatal circuits is implicated in a number of neuropsychiatric disorders such as schizophrenia depression and Parkinson s disease However despite decades of intense investigation how neuromodulators influence the activity of fronto striatal circuits to generate the precise activity patterns required for sophisticated cognitive tasks remains unknown In part this reflects the complexity of the cellular microcircuits in these brain regions i e heterogeneity of neuron subtypes and connectivity cell type specific expression patterns for the numerous receptor subtypes mediating neuromodulatory signals and the potential interaction of multiple signaling cascades in individual neurons This Research Topic includes 10 original research articles and seven review articles addressing the role of neuromodulation in executive function at multiple levels of analysis ranging from the activity of single voltage dependent ion channels to computational models of network interactions in cortex striatum thalamus systems
