

IMPORTANT

When the ENI/ENIW receives a 485CIF/PLC2 write message to a configuration node address (100 through 149), it closes any open communications currently active on that connection and reconfigures the IP address to match the new configuration.

If the received data matches the current configuration, the ENI/ENIW closes any open communications with the destination device.

You must wait at least one second before sending a new message to that node address or you may receive a connection error.

If the ENI/ENIW receives a 485CIF/PLC2 read message to any of its configuration addresses (nodes 100 to 149), the ENI/ENIW responds with the current configuration of that node/address.

Using the configuration shown in Table 5.1, if the controller initiates a read or write message to node 0, the ENI/ENIW forwards the request to the TCP/IP address at Node 100 (111.222.233.200).

Message to Configuration Nodes (Nodes 100 to 149) and Sending a Message to a Destination Controller (Nodes 0 to 49)

When the ENI/ENIW receives a message from the attached controller to Node Address 0 to 49, it looks up the TCP/IP address associated with the address at Nodes 100 to 149. The ENI/ENIW preserves the original DF1 address when sending back a reply.

The following table illustrates the relationship between configuration addresses and their corresponding messaging address.

Table 5.2 Peer-to-Peer Message Routing

0	DF1 Route 0 MSG	100	Route 0 IP Address	Integer (4 words)
