Official Florida Statutes Florida, 2014 Florida Administrative Register , 2010-05 Journal of the Senate, State of Florida Florida. Legislature. Senate, 2017 Teacher Credentials and Student Achievement in High School Charles T. Clotfelter, Helen F. Ladd, Jacob L. Vigdor, 2007 We use data on statewide end of course tests in North Carolina to examine the relationship between teacher credentials and student achievement at the high school level The availability of test scores in multiple subjects for each student permits us to estimate a model with student fixed effects which helps minimize any bias associated with the non random distribution of teachers and students among classrooms within schools We find compelling evidence that teacher credentials affect student achievement in systematic ways and that the magnitudes are large enough to be policy relevant As a result the uneven distribution of teacher credentials by race and socio economic status of high school students a pattern we also document contributes to achievement gaps in high school

Fradenburgh, 2015-07-09 Excerpt from American Civics For the Seventh and Eighth School Years The World War has effected great changes in governmental institutions and in international relations. New issues demand attention and some old ones have lost in relative importance. In offering American Community Civics for High Schools and Junior High Schools it has been the aim of the author to preserve the main features of former editions of American Civics while including such new material as the times demand and making the entire work up to date. Although a community civics this volume deals primarily with civics and not chiefly with economics and sociology. There is sufficient attention given to community matters to fill all requirements and enough attention is paid to civics to meet the demands of state educational authorities. Each community has its own local political economic and sociological interests and a good teacher will not fail to give these proper attention.
