Giacomazzi, John Kabutha Mugo, 2024-02-19 This open access book is written for educators and policymakers who seek to empower young people with competencies necessary for fulfilling lives in the 21st century. It reports how a large group of educators from government and civil society organisations together with researchers from universities used their curriculum assessment and social economy expertise to develop contextualised definitions of life skills and values and associated assessment tools. The book also reports on levels of these competencies of over 45 000 adolescents from a household based assessment conducted in Kenya, Tanzania and Uganda. The results describe how these adolescents vary in proficiency by region, age and other factors providing a resource for national education ministries to factor into policy decisions. Given the technical requirements of measuring individuals' social emotional and related competencies, how is it possible to capture an adolescent's life skills across varied contexts? The book provides readers with a pragmatic yet technically robust process for undertaking a large scale assessment program designed to inform policy. Dubeck, Yasmin Sitabkhan, Christopher Cummiskey, Devanshi Unadkat, 2023-05-15 This paper contains a new analysis of gender differences in early grade reading and mathematics outcomes in 19 USAID funded studies over the past decade from 14 locations in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East. The paper addresses gaps in the literature related to learning patterns for girls and boys in lower and middle income countries and in early primary school. We analyzed the results from reading and mathematics assessments in grades 2 and 3 including differences in oral reading fluency ORF and quantitative comparison scores between boys and girls as well as differences in score distributions by gender. In line with results from assessments in upper grades and in wealthier countries we found that girls consistently outperformed boys in reading. In mathematics boys slightly outperformed girls although the differences were typically not large. Global experience has shown that patterns in poor performance become more entrenched the further learners progress through the grades.

suggesting that early interventions for boys in reading and girls in mathematics could have long term benefits At the same time both girls and boys typically score below expectations in the two subjects across countries necessitating targeted strategies to improve outcomes for both genders early in their educational trajectories Code of Federal Regulations, Title 48, Federal Acquisition Regulations System, Chapter 7-14, Revised as of October 1, 2009 Office of the Federal
