Regenos, 2012-12-06 This translation of the letters of Lupus of Ferrières is based primarily on the text of Diimmler's edition published in the Monumenta Germaniae Historica in 1902 In the arrangement of the letters however I have followed Levillain who sought to put them in chronological order on the basis of his own previous research published in a series of articles in the Bibliothèque de l'École des chartes volumes LXII and LXIII in 1901 and 1902 A chronological table with suggested dating of the letters is given in this book on pages 151-153 I have attempted to keep the notes brief confining them chiefly to identification of quoted passages and to proper names assuming that the reader if interested will him self seek more detailed information in the standard sources In a collection of letters of this nature covering as they do such a wide range of subject matter it is to be expected that some will have comparatively little general appeal The few letters for example which deal with Latin grammar will be of little interest to most readers Occasionally a letter may border on the trite or commonplace It has seemed desirable however in view of the limited number of such letters and for the sake of completeness to include the entire collection The Sunday School Journal ,1879 The Sabbath Recorder ,1925
