Occupational Therapy in East Asia Hector Wing Hong Tsang, Stella Wai Chee Cheng, David Wai Kwong Man, 2025-10-21 This is the first major textbook on occupational therapy OT aimed at students and practitioners based in Asia. Written by a team of authors mainly based in Hong Kong, the book is divided into four sections. Section I presents the history of OT in the region as well as those key theories which underpin it. Section II introduces the essentials of OT practice. From assessment through to evaluation and intervention, these chapters cover five key therapeutic areas in which occupational therapists work: providing support for sensory and motor functions; providing support for cognitive and perceptual issues; providing support for psychosocial issues; providing support for returning to home and the community including the use of assistive technology; and providing support for returning to the workplace. Section III then details a range of case studies to show occupational therapists in action while Section IV looks at how the field is developing including the increasing use of AI and other technologies. Throughout the book, cultural factors specific to the region are highlighted. An ideal resource for any student in Hong Kong, mainland China, Taiwan or Singapore, this outstanding text is also a key reference work for practitioners in the region.

Hand Preference and Hand Ability Miriam Ittyerah, 2013-09-18 This volume adds new dimension and organization to the literature of touch and the hand, covering a diversity of topics surrounding the perception and cognition of touch in relation to the hand. No animal species compare to humans with regard to the haptic or touch sense so unlike visual or auditory cognition we know little about such haptic cognition We do know that motor skills play a major role in haptics but senses like vision do not determine hand preference or hand ability It seems also that the potential ability to perform a task may be present in both hands and evidence indicates that the hand used to perform tactile tasks in blind or in sighted conditions is independent of one's hand preference This book will be useful for those in education and robotics and can serve as a general text focusing on touch and developmental psychology Interventions, Effects, and Outcomes in Occupational Therapy Mary C.
