Tropical Rainforest Research — Current Issues D.S. Edwards, W.E. Booth, S.C. Choy, 2012-12-06 Proceedings of the conference held in Bandar Seri Begawan April 1993 Tropical Rainforests and Agroforests Under Global Change Melanie Grosse, 2008 Human induced land use intensification and climate change are major global change drivers likely to continue for a long time This international symposium provides an open platform for all scientists from socio economic and natural sciences interested in the effects of global change on rainforests and agroforests Balancing the ecological and socio economic benefits of different agroforestry systems comparing patterns and processes in managed agroforest and natural forest and modeling the dynamics of land use change and related resource degradation under various policy scenarios are major topics of this symposium Tropical Rain Forest Ecology, Diversity, and Conservation Jaboury Ghazoul, Douglas Sheil, 2024-03-14 Rain forests represent the world s richest repository of terrestrial biodiversity and play a major role in regulating the global climate They support the livelihoods of a substantial proportion of the world s population and are the source of many internationally traded commodities They remain despite decades of conservation attention increasingly vulnerable to degradation and clearance with profound though often uncertain future costs to global society Understanding the ecology of these diverse biomes and peoples dependencies on them is fundamental to their future management and conservation Tropical Rain Forest Ecology Diversity and Conservation introduces and explores what rain forests are how they arose what they contain how they function and how humans use and impact them The book starts by introducing the variety of rain forest plants fungi microorganisms and animals emphasising the spectacular diversity that is the motivation for their conservation The central chapters describe the origins of rain forest communities the variety of rain forest formations and their ecology and dynamics The challenge of explaining the species richness of rain forest communities lies at the heart of ecological theory and forms a common theme throughout The book s final section considers historical and current interactions of humans and rain forests It explores biodiversity conservation as well as livelihood security for the many communities that are dependent on rain forests inextricable issues that represent urgent priorities for scientists conservationists and policy makers Principles of Ecology and Environmental Management Mr. Rohit Manglik, 2024-03-04 EduGorilla Publication is a trusted name in the education sector committed to empowering learners with high quality study materials and resources Specializing in competitive exams and academic support EduGorilla provides comprehensive and well structured content tailored to meet the needs of students across various streams and levels African Biodiversity Bernhard A. Huber, Bradley J. Sinclair, Karl-Heinz Lampe, 2007-04-29 In May 2004 the Alexander Koenig Zoological Research Museum hosted the Fifth International Symposium on Tropical Biology This series was established at the ZFMK in the early 1980s and has variably focused on systematics and ecology of tropical organisms with an emphasis on Africa Previous volumes are those edited by Schuchmann 1985 Peters and Hutterer 1990 Ulrich 1997 and Rheinwald 2000 The symposium in 2004 was organized by the Entomology Department under the direction of Michael Schmitt The intention was to focus on Africa rather than on a particular taxon and to highlight biodiversity at all levels ranging from molecules to ecosystems This focus was timely partly because of the currently running BIOTA Africa programmes BIOdiversity Monitoring Transect Analysis in Africa BIOTA is an interdisciplinary research project focusing on sustainable use and conservation of biodiversity in Africa <http://www.bioteafrica.de> Session titles were Biogeography and Speciation Processes Phylogenetic Patterns and Systematics Diversity Declines and Conservation and Applied Biodiversity Informatics Each session was opened by an invited speaker and all together 77 lectures and 59 posters were presented There were over 200 participants and it was gratifying to us to meet colleagues from 26 nations including Russia Ukraine Japan USA and ten African countries We thank all participants for their valuable contributions

Arthropods of Tropical Forests Yves Basset, 2003-01-23 Arthropods are the most diverse group of organisms on our planet and the tropical rainforests represent the most biologically diverse of all ecosystems This book written by 79 authors contributing to 35 chapters aims to provide an overview of data collected during recent studies in Australia Africa Asia and South America The book focuses on the distribution of arthropods and their use of resources in the rainforest canopies providing a basis for comparison between the forest ecosystems of the main biogeographical regions Topics covered include the distribution of arthropods along vertical gradients and the relationship between the soil litter habitat and the forest canopy The temporal dynamics of arthropod communities habitats and food selection are examined within and among tropical tree crowns as are the effects of forest disturbance This important book is a valuable addition to the literature used by community ecologists conservation biologists entomologists botanists and forestry experts

Managing the Future of Southeast Asia's Valuable Tropical Rainforests Ratnam Wickneswari, Chuck Cannon, 2011-09-15 This book provides current knowledge about tropical rain forest genetics and its implications for the profitable and sustainable management of forest resources in Southeast Asia Each chapter covers a major topic in the evolutionary biology of tropical rain forest trees and how management systems interact with these natural dynamics Authors provide an up to date and insightful review of important scientific findings and conclude with practical recommendations for the modern forester in Southeast Asia Several chapters provide compelling discussions about commonly neglected aspects of tropical forestry including the impact of historical dynamics of climate change anthropogenic threats to genetic viability and the important role of wildlife in maintaining genetic diversity These discussions will promote a deeper appreciation of not only the economic value of forests but also their mystery and intangible values The silvicultural industry in Southeast Asia is a major contributor to the regional economy but the connection between scientific research and the application and development of policy could be improved upon This book will help bridge that gap This book will prove beneficial reading for forestry students professional forest managers and policy makers who do not have technical training in genetics It is also intended for non specialists who are involved in the tropical timber industry from the local forest manager to the international timber purchasing agent

Changes And Disturbance In Tropical Rain Forest In South East Asia Tim H Clutton-brock, David M Newbery, G T Prance, 2000-09-27 Views on the dynamics of tropical forests are changing rapidly with the recognition that their environment is variable on the decadal to century scale Fluctuating climatic conditions partly determine tropical forest structure species composition and dynamics Tropical communities are also highly contingent in space and time with respect to site and historical factors Tropical forests have experienced to some degree this disturbance regime in the past but climatologists are now predicting increasingly frequent extreme events in the new century The combination of increasing deforestation and land use conversion by man plus an increasingly variable environment means a situation that could be very difficult to manage
