Colouring the Caribbean Mia L. Bagneris, 2017-12-04 Colouring the Caribbean offers the first comprehensive study of Agostino Brunias's intriguing pictures of colonial West Indians of colour so called Red and Black Caribs dark skinned Africans and Afro Creoles and people of mixed race made for colonial officials and plantocratic elites during the late eighteenth century Although Brunias's paintings have often been understood as straightforward documents of visual ethnography that functioned as field guides for reading race this book investigates how the images both reflected and refracted ideas about race commonly held by eighteenth century Britons helping to construct racial categories while simultaneously exposing their constructedness and underscoring their contradictions The book offers provocative new insights about Brunias's work gleaned from a broad survey of his paintings many of which are reproduced here for the first time

The Silent Country Di Morrissey, 2009-11-01 From Australia's favourite storyteller with new novel The Night Tide out now The Silent Country is a vast and beautiful wilderness a place which holds secrets and stories that are rarely spoken TV producer Veronica Anderson travels to the Northern Territory to retrace the journey of an expedition that had set out fifty years earlier to film the outback but which mysteriously ended in tragedy Of the group led by the eccentric Maxim Topov few are still alive and they are reluctant to talk about the intriguing events It is through the help of local NT Park Ranger Jamie McIntosh that Veronica begins to piece together the puzzle and discover the answers These answers break the silence and change her life

Althans,2010-02-18 At the heart of the Gothic novel proper lies the discursive binary of self and other which in colonial literature was quickly filled with representations of the colonial master and his indigenous subject Contemporary black Australian artists have usurped this colonial Gothic discourse torn it to pieces and finally transformed it into an Aboriginal Gothic This study first develops the theoretical concept of an Aboriginal Gothic and then uses this term as a tool to analyse novels by Vivienne Cleven Mudrooroo Kim Scott Sam Watson and Alexis Wright as well as films directed by Beck Cole and Tracey Moffatt It centres on the question of how a genuinely European mode the Gothic can be permeated and thus digested by elements of indigenous Australian culture in order to portray the current situation of Aboriginal Australians and to celebrate a recovered cultural identity Identity Politics in Deconstruction Carolyn D'Cruz,2016-05-13 Identity politics dominates the organisation of liberation movements today This is the case whether fighting over one's birthright to a nation such as in the Palestinian Israeli conflict lobbying for civil rights such as in gay and lesbian campaigns for marriage or struggling for citizenry recognition as currently experienced by asylum seekers In this book Carolyn D Cruz investigates the nexus between what David Birch describes as the seemingly impossible of high theory and the seemingly accessible possibilities of popular discourse as encountered in liberation movements based on identity D Cruz reworks the logic of such movements through the unique combination of Derridean deconstruction Foucauldian discourse and Levinasian ethics Moving both within and between the domains of philosophy politics and postmodern culture this book offers both a clear explication of complex philosophical issues and an understanding of how they relate to the political practicalities of everyday life Society and environment Teachers guide - Qld R.I.C. Publications Pty, Limited,2001 The Lone Protestor Fiona Paisley,2012 The late 1920s marked an extraordinary protest by an Australian Aboriginal man on the streets of London Standing outside Australia House cloaked in tiny skeletons Anthony Martin Fernando condemned the failure of British rule in his country Drawn from an extensive search in archives from Australia and Europe this is the first full length study of Fernando's life and the self professed mission that lasted half his adult life A moving account it chronicles the various forms of action taken by Fernando from pamphlets on the streets of Rome to speeches in the famous Speakers Corner in Hyde Park and brings to light previously unknown details about his extraordinary life in Australia and overseas Tropical Visions in an Age of Empire Felix Driver,Luciana Martins,2010-11-15 The contrast between the temperate and the tropical is one of the most enduring themes in the history of the Western geographical imagination Caught between the demands of experience and representation documentation and fantasy travelers in the tropics have often treated tropical nature as a foil to the temperate to all that is civilized modest and enlightened Tropical Visions in an Age of Empire explores images of the tropical world maps paintings botanical drawings photographs diagrams and texts produced by European and American travelers over the past three centuries Bringing together a group of distinguished contributors from disciplines across the arts and humanities this volume contains eleven beautifully illustrated essays arranged in three sections devoted to voyages mappings

Darwin's Finches Kathleen Donohue,2011-06-15 Two species come to mind when one thinks of the Galapagos Islands the giant tortoises and Darwin s fabled finches While not as immediately captivating as the tortoises these little brown songbirds and their beaks have become one of the most familiar and charismatic research systems in biology providing generations of natural historians and scientists a lens through which to view the evolutionary process and its role in morphological differentiation In Darwin s Finches Kathleen Donohue excerpts and collects the most illuminating and scientifically significant writings on the finches of the Galapagos to teach the fundamental principles of evolutionary theory and to provide a historical record of scientific debate Beginning with fragments of Darwin s Galapagos field notes and subsequent correspondence and moving through the writings of such famed field biologists as David Lack and Peter and Rosemary Grant the collection demonstrates how scientific processes have changed over time how different branches of biology relate to one another and how they all relate to evolution As Donohue notes practicing science today is like entering a conversation that has been in progress for a long long time Her book provides the history of that conversation and an invitation to join in Students of both evolutionary biology and history of science will appreciate this compilation of historical and contemporary readings and will especially value Donohue s enlightening commentary
