suitable for 1st year undergraduate students It describes the architecture of the system and its key components public hospital sector private hospital and health insurance GPs and primary care community health public health some of the things that shape the system and introduces key concepts that underpin it such as the idea of the welfare state or a universal health system Indigenous Research Knowledges and Their Place in the Academy Bindi Bennett,Kelly Menzel,2025-07-24 This book privileges Indigenous ways of knowing being and doing in research and serves as a voice in taking on some of the more marginal topics within methodologies It is significant in that it is written by indigenous scholars themselves The contributors shed light for example on Queer BlaQ bodies and place Indigenous women as central in reimagining fair academic practice others return to their foundational texts to reflect on the growth of Indigenous Standpoint Theory This book sees Indigenous Peoples as holding greater significance within research objectives and institutional practices and reimagines a research world embracing storytelling as foundational to academia It is intended for students and early researchers particularly Indigenous researchers whilst also serving as an invaluable textbook for non Indigenous people as it aids in explaining and outlining Indigenous research and is a valuable tool in the classroom and with research students It demonstrates that Indigenous research approaches can sit beside and be equal to Western research especially when engaging with the ethics process and for PhD students This book is invaluable for non Indigenous allies and researchers globally to further explain and outline Aboriginal Australian Indigenous research Promoting Health and Addressing Disparities Amongst Indigenous Populations Esteban Ortiz-Prado,Jorge Vasconez-Gonzalez,Rene L. Begay,Juan Sebastian Izquierdo-Condoy,2025-01-31 Indigenous populations have experienced centuries of oppression marginalization and discrimination In the present day this has left these populations even more vulnerable as they must confront a significant number of public health challenges to uphold their health and well being Indigenous peoples life expectancy is up to twenty years lower compared to non Indigenous people which can be attributed to the fact that these populations have an increased likelihood to be disproportionately affected by social determinants of health with poorer health outcomes These health outcomes contribute to the wide range of health burdens and disparities experienced by Indigenous populations including increased prevalence of chronic disease infectious disease and availability and accessibility of quality health care and treatment Financing Universal Access To Healthcare: A Comparative Review Of Landmark Legislative Health Reforms In The Oecd Alexander S Preker,2018-03-20 The recent expansion of health insurance coverage in the USA under the Affordable Health Care Act and current threats to reverse the benefits of this reform have once again focused the world s attention on the difficult challenges faced by other countries trying to provide better access to healthcare to their population at an affordable cost This textbook provides a comparative review of financing universal access to healthcare in the Organisation for Economic Co operation and Development OECD countries The first two chapters of the book provide a framework for financing universal access to healthcare The remaining eight chapters present case studies of eight OECD countries that have successfully introduced reforms to finance universal access to healthcare for their population through landmark legislative reforms A concluding chapter focuses on the lessons learned from the OECD and recommendations from policymakers and others who are planning similar reforms The book is designed as a learning tool for students and as a user guide for policymakers

White Benevolence Amanda Gebhard, Sheelah McLean, Verna St. Denis, 2022-05-28T00:00:00Z When working with Indigenous people the helping professions education social work health care and justice reinforce the colonial lie that Indigenous people need saving In White Benevolence leading anti racism scholars reveal the ways in which white settlers working in these institutions shape defend and uphold institutional racism even while professing to support Indigenous people White supremacy shows up in the everyday behaviours language and assumptions of white professionals who reproduce myths of Indigenous inferiority and deficit making it clear that institutional racism encompasses not only high level policies and laws but also the collective enactment by people within these institutions In this uncompromising and essential collection the authors argue that white settler social workers educators health care practitioners and criminal justice workers have a responsibility to understand the colonial history of their professions and their complicity in ongoing violence be it over policing school push out child apprehension or denial of health care The answer isn't cultural awareness training What's needed is radical anti racism solidarity and a relinquishing of the power of white supremacy Australian national bibliography, 1961

Globalization and the Health of Indigenous Peoples Ahsan Ullah, 2016-11-18 In 70 countries worldwide there is an estimated 370 million indigenous peoples and their rich diversity of cultures religions traditions languages and histories has been significant source of our scholarships However the health status of this population group is far below than that of non indigenous populations by all standards Could the persisting reluctance to understand the influence of self governance globalization and social determinants of health in the lives of these people be deemed as a contributor to the poor health of indigenous peoples Within this volume Ullah explores the gap in health status between indigenous and non indigenous peoples by providing a comparative assessment of socio economic and health indicators for indigenous peoples government policies and the ways in which indigenous peoples have been resisting and adapting to state policies A timely book for a growing field of study Globalization and the Health of Indigenous Peoples is a must read for academics policy makers and practitioners who are interested in indigenous studies and in understanding the role that globalization plays for the improvement of indigenous peoples health across the world Review of Hospital Casualty Services in Aboriginal Health New South Wales.
