Ferocious Ambition Robert Dance,2023-10-12 Robert Dance s new evaluation of Joan Crawford looks at her entire career and while not ignoring her early years and tempestuous personal life focuses squarely on her achievements as an actress and as a woman who mastered the studio system with a rare combination of grit determination beauty and talent Crawford s remarkable forty five year motion picture career is one of the industry s longest Signing her first contract in 1925 she was crowned an MGM star four years later and by the mid 1930s was the most popular actress in America In the early 1940s Crawford s risky decision to move to Warner Bros was rewarded with an Oscar for Mildred Pierce This triumph launched a series of film noir classics In her fourth decade she teamed with rival Bette Davis in Whatever Happened to Baby Jane proving that Crawford whose career had begun by defining big screen glamour had matured into a superb dramatic actress Her last film was released in 1970 and two years later she made a final television appearance forty seven years after walking through the MGM gate for the first time Crawford made a successful transition into business during her later years notably in her long association with Pepsi Cola as a board member and the brand s leading ambassador Overlooked in previous biographies has been Crawford s fierce resolve in creating and then maintaining her star persona She let neither her age nor the passing of time block her unrivaled ambition and she continually reimagined herself noting once that for the right part she would play Wally Beery s grandmother But she was always the consummate star and at the time of her death in 1977 she was a motion picture legend and a twentieth century icon From Mae to Madonna June Sochen,2014-07-11 Entertainers were the first group of successful women to capture the public eye taking to the stage in vaudeville and film and redefining their place in society June Sochen introduces the white African American and Latina women who danced on Broadway fell on bananas in silent films and wisecracked in smoky clubs as well as the modern icons of today s movies and popular music Sochen considers such women as Mae West Bette Davis Shirley Temple Lucille Ball and Mary Tyler Moore to discover what show business did for them and what they did for the world of entertainment She uses the life of 30s and 40s Latina star Lupe Velez as a case study of the roles available to Latinas in popular culture She then contrasts her story with that of the African American action star Pam Grier to demonstrate the old and new ways minority women are portrayed in popular culture From Mae to Madonna places each woman within the context of her time and talks about her relationship with dominant female stereotypes Sochen discusses women s roles as Mary Eve and Lilith and asks thought provoking questions Why did the Depression give women movie stars so many important roles while the so called feminist 1970s did not Why has television been a congenial venue for women comics while film has not In examining how entertainers worked within or transformed particular genres and how their personal and public lives affected their careers From Mae to Madonna casts the spotlight on a series of remarkable women and their dramatic effect on America s popular culture Generation Tarantino Andrew J. Horton Foote Wilborn Hampton, 2009-09-08 No playwright in the history of the American theater has captured the soul of the nation more incisively than Horton Foote From his Pulitzer Prize winning play The Young Man From Atlanta to his film adaptation of To Kill a Mockingbird which received an Oscar millions of people have been touched by Foote s work He has long been regarded by other playwrights and screenwriters actors and cognoscenti of the theater and cinema as America s master storyteller critics compared him to William Faulkner and Anton Chekhov Yet Horton Foote s compelling character and rich life remain largely unknown to the general public His is the story of an artist who refused to compromise his talents for the sake of fame or money or just to keep working who insisted on writing what he regarded as truth even when for many years almost no one would listen In the first comprehensive biography of this remarkable writer Wilborn Hampton introduces Foote to countless Americans who have admired his work Hampton a theater critic for The New York Times offers a colorful compulsively readable account of a life and career that spanned seven decades As a child in the small town of Wharton Texas Foote s favorite pastime was to listen to the stories his elders told about themselves their families their neighbors around the dinner table or sitting on the front porch As he once explained One thing I was given in life is a deep desire to listen I ve spent my life listening These stories have haunted me all my life The stories also served as an inspiration for Foote s life work as he chronicled America s wistful odyssey through the twentieth century mostly from the perspective of a small town in Texas Beginning in the Golden Age of Television with dramas such as The Trip to Bountiful through Broadway and Off Broadway successes to the mark he made in films such as Tender Mercies and right up through a staging of his complete nine play opus The Orphans Home Cycle he documented the struggle of ordinary people to maintain their dignity in the face of hardship and change that the erosion of time inevitably brings It is a theme Horton Foote lived Yet the paradox that shines through his work is that while the externals of life alter over the years wealth may be gained or squandered love may be won or lost friends and relations die people themselves do not Like Eugene O'Neill Arthur Miller and Tennessee Williams Horton Foote's portraits of American life are iconic and true His stories have helped shape the way Americans see themselves indeed they have become part of the nation's psyche and they will speak to many generations to come e-Pedia: Captain more about the history of American Cinema Little Caesar Alan L. Gansberg, 2004-05-18 Emanuel Goldenberg was born in Romania and from the age of ten grew up in New York's Lower East Side. He trained at the legendary Theater Guild, changed his name, and starred in many successful Broadway plays before moving to Hollywood. Among his most famous films were Double Indemnity with Barbara Stanwyck, The Stranger with Orson Welles, Key Largo with Humphrey Bogart, and Lauren Bacall. The Ten Commandments with Charlton Heston, The Cincinnati Kid with Steve McQueen, and of course Little Caesar. After twenty successful years in film, Robinson's career was shattered by the McCarthy Commission. Although there was never any concrete proof that Robinson was in fact a member of the Communist party, it took five years for him to clear his name. In this fascinating biography, Alan L. Gansberg reveals the man behind the public face, his many memorable roles among more than 100 films, and his struggle to find steady work in Hollywood again. Includes 16 pages of photos. Shaping the Future of African American Film Monica White Ndounou, 2014-04-29 In Hollywood, we hear it's all about the money. It's a ready explanation for why so few black films get made, no crossover appeal, no promise of a big payoff. But what if the money itself is color-coded? What if the economics that governs film production is so skewed that no film by or for people of color will ever look like a worthy investment unless it follows specific racial or gender patterns? This Monica Ndounou shows us is precisely the case. In a work as revealing about the culture of filmmaking as it is about the distorted economics of African American film, Ndounou clearly traces the insidious connections between history, content, and cash in black films. How does history come into it? Hollywood's reliance on past performance as a measure of potential success virtually guarantees that historically underrepresented, underfunded, and undersold African American films devalue the future prospects of black films. So the cycle continues as it has for nearly a century. Behind the scenes, the numbers are far from neutral. Analyzing the onscreen narratives and offscreen circumstances behind nearly two thousand films featuring African Americans in leading and supporting roles, including such recent productions as Bamboozled, Beloved, and Tyler Perry's Diary of a Mad Black Woman, Ndounou exposes the cultural and racial constraints that limit not just the production but also the expression and creative freedom of black films. Her wide-ranging analysis reaches into questions of literature, language, speech, and dialect, film images, and narrative, acting, theater, and film business practices, production history, and financing and organizational history. By uncovering the ideology behind profit-driven industry practices that reshape narratives by and for people of color, this provocative work brings to light existing limitations and possibilities for reworking stories and business practices in theater, literature, and film.
