million Americans are infected with antibiotic resistant bacteria each year and at least 23 000 die as a result The situation is even worse in developing countries Systems biology which aims to understand the complex interactions between the different components of a biological system has emerged as a powerful tool for studying AMR By integrating data from multiple sources including genomics transcriptomics proteomics and metabolomics systems biology can provide a comprehensive view of the mechanisms underlying AMR This approach can lead to the identification of novel targets for drug development and the development of personalized treatment strategies that consider the specific characteristics of individual patients and the pathogens that infect them This Research Topic aims to explore the potential of systems biology in combating antibiotic resistance and highlight the need for further research to fully realize its clinical potential in infectious diseases
