mathematics Disaffection with school mathematics is characterized as a motivational and emotional phenomenon and Reversal Theory is introduced as a robust theory which is used as an interpretative framework to account for students affective experience of school mathematics and to inform the design of a range of novel methods Overall the book develops and presents a deep description of the landscape of disaffection as experienced by and in the voice of students Some empirical and theoretical implications of the study are discussed S. Chand's Smart Maths book 5 Sheela Khandelwall, S Chand s Smart Maths is a carefully graded Mathematics series of 9 books for the children of KG to Class 8 The series adheres to the National Curriculum Framework and the books have been designed in accordance with the latest guidelines laid down by the NCERT The Essential Guide to Secondary Mathematics Colin Foster,2013 Combining research based theory with fresh practical guidance for the classroom this is a stimulating resource for all student and practising teachers looking for new ideas and inspiration The Search for Better Educational Standards Martin Thrupp,2017-08-22 This book deals with the development of New Zealand s standards system for primary school achievement Kiwi Standards which took effect from 2010 onwards and is becoming increasingly embedded over time The approach where teachers make Overall Teacher Judgements based on a range of assessment tools and their own observations rather than using any particular national test has created predictable problems with moderation within and across schools It has been claimed that this bold Kiwi Standards approach avoids the narrowed curriculum and mediocre outcomes of high stakes assessment in other countries Yet this book suggests it just produces another variant of the same problems and demonstrates that even a relatively weak high stakes assessment approach still produces performative effects The book provides a blow by blow account of the development of a policy including the continuous repositioning of New Zealand s Government as it has sought to justify the policy in the face of opposition from educators Indeed the Kiwi Standards tale provides a world class example of teachers fighting back against policy with the help of academics There is an indigenous M ori aspect to the story as well Finally this book also provides comparative international perspectives including responses from well known US English and Australian academics The Armed Forces Covenant in action? Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee,2013-07-18 A series of Ofsted inspections on Army Apprenticeships conducted in 2013 rated the overall effectiveness as good This was an improvement over the last inspection in 2009 rated as satisfactory now called requires improvement Some 28 per cent of Army recruits were less than 18 years of age Further information is needed on why the Army is so dependent on recruiting personnel under the age of 18 years compared to the other two Services and whether steps are being taken to reduce this dependency Of those recruited in 2012 3 5 per cent of the Army were rated at entry level 2 for literacy that of a 7 to 8 year old and 39 per cent had a literacy level of an eleven year old If as the MoD states it has to recruit personnel at whatever level of attainment is available then it should boost remedial action when recruitment entry standards are particularly low In light of changes brought about by Future Force 2020 it may be that recruiting personnel with higher levels of attainment would better meet the future needs of the Armed Forces Whilst the Committee recognises that some recruits may not be eager to take further academic exams the MoD should encourage more recruits to undertake English and Maths GCSEs which would stand them in good stead for future employment The MoD has carried out some useful pilot projects with paramedic training and should identify more potential projects to ensure that vital skills paid for by the MoD are not lost to the country

It Came From Outer Space Wearing an RAF Blazer! Martin Mobberley,2013-07-23 To British television viewers the name Patrick Moore has been synonymous with Astronomy and Space Travel since he first appeared on The Sky at Night in 1957 To amateur astronomers he has been a source of inspiration joy humour and even an eccentric role model since that time Most people know that his 55 years of presenting The Sky at Night is a world record but what was he really like in person What did he do away from the TV cameras in his observatory and within the British Astronomical Association the organisation that inspired him as a youngster Also precisely what did he do during the War Years a subject that has always been shrouded in mystery Martin Mobberley a friend of Patrick Moore s for 30 years and a former President of the British Astronomical Association has spent ten years exhaustively researching Patrick s real life away from the TV cameras His childhood RAF service tireless voluntary work for astronomy and charity and his endless book writing are all examined in detail His astronomical observations are also examined in unprecedented detail along with the battles he fought along the way and his hatred of bureaucracy and political correctness No fan of Sir Patrick Moore can possibly live without this work on their bookshelf

Transforming Curriculum Through Teacher-Learner Partnerships Nair, Pradeep,Keppell, Michael James,Lim, Chee Leong,Mari, TamilSalvi,Hassan, Nurhanim,2020-12-11 Empowering learners for life requires a fundamental shift in higher education curriculum design New priorities pedagogies technologies spaces and assessment strategies are required to enable learners to take ownership of their learning Student centeredness concepts are still prescriptive in nature as most decisions on curriculum assessment teaching and learning approaches are still teacher centric Teachers are developing student centered learning environments without the involvement of the learners in the planning decision making and or design process In addition some lecturers are still practicing the traditional approaches of content delivery and conventional assessment methods rather than experimenting with innovative practices suited for student centered approaches Therefore there is an ongoing need for research focused on the importance and effectiveness of a paradigm shift in education that involves student teacher partnerships fueled by innovative teaching and learning designs where students take an active role and contribute as partners in learning Transforming Curriculum Through Teacher Learner Partnerships captures experiences and evidence among teachers in exploring the possibility of active student participation in curriculum design delivery and assessment through teacher learner partnership The chapters address issues of teacher learner partnerships in designing the learning environment and how student centered methods create resilient adaptable and future capable learners While highlighting topics within this scope such as learner autonomy learning performance self efficacy and teaching pedagogy this book is ideally intended for teachers administrators teacher educators practitioners stakeholders researchers academicians and students interested in issues related to the teacher learner partnership
