Africa S Culture Customs Tanzania Albinos:

Africa's Culture & Customs Therlee Gipson, 2014-11-14 Introduction I was motivated to compile this book Africa s Culture Customs Tanzania Albinos because of racism and myths some humans still experience today as I compile this book It would be impossible to write about every Tribe in Africa Therefore I fine the Mangbetu People Head Binding of babies very intriguing and unique My assumption was in order for them not to be enslaved by other races they had to come up with an idea to shape their children head by binding their head at an early age to deter kidnapping This practice would keep their families together When Slave Traders came upon them they would consider their Tribe as a bad Omen and was undesirable to become civilized in the White man s World because of their elongated heads What a clever idea for them to start to keep their people free from the harsh treatment they would otherwise suffer in captivity There is always a reason man come up with something to preserve his offspring s and survive his identity What an ingenious way to deter Slave Traders from taking their family away from them into Slavery to some far away place and never be seen again It is estimated that there are more than 3 000 Tribes in Africa An exact number is not known however because it is believed that there still may be some undocumented Tribes in Central Africa There are more than 2 000 languages collectively used by the Tribes of Africa It sadden me the way Albino people are looked upon today as I compile this book I remind me of feeling like an outcast or lower than the White dominating Society in the United States I felt ashamed of my race because of the color of my skin It s the opposite for the albinos they feel inferior because of their white skin Seem like what ever your fate deem you to become you are ostracized in one way or the other One day in the future mankind will not judge a person by the color of their skin Judge him her by their character We are driven by the belied that all persons have intrinsic value and since they are created in the image of God Therefore they are acting upon the moral and Human Rights values to support victims to end the discrimination and persecution of innocent albinos According to Under The Same Sun To eradicate attacks against Albino s it is necessary to focus on eliminating reliance on witchcraft beliefs by strengthening the provision of infrastructure such as schools and hospitals while enhancing the sense of fairness by improving on the system of justice Therefore regaining albinos their Rights to being treated as human fairly as functioning members of Society who may look different and suffer severe vulnerabilities due to their physical condition but do not deserve to be murdered or hurt in any way because of ancient myths claiming sacrifice of these people will create future benefit for another person Therlee Gipson

Religion at Work in Globalised Traditions Anders Kaliff, 2014-03-26 Why do traditions disappear How is the disappearance of tradition also a vehicle for social change and re inventions of practices and new traditions Using case studies from one Sukuma area along the southern shores of Lake Victoria in Tanzania global processes of how religions work in practice are analysed by focusing on rainmaking witchcraft and Christianity Traditionally Sukuma society was culturally and cosmologically structured around the chief the ancestors and rainmaking Everything was dependent upon the rain Rainmaking as a ritual practice has disappeared and ancestral propitiations are declining while at the same time Christianity is spreading and witchcraft and witch killings are increasing. Although Christianity as a religion may provide answers and hopes for life after death, the religion provides few solutions in the here and now when it comes to poverty and suffering problems and challenges that have to be solved. Witchcraft on the other hand does or is believed to do so, and the increase in witchcraft is analysed in relation to the impacts of more than a century of globalisation from the missionaries and colonizers onwards. With the declining ancestral tradition, witchcraft and Christianity as religious practices supplement each other in the ways they are believed to work in providing answers, solutions or divine interferences in different realms: this world and the Otherworld. Offering an approach going beyond structural functionalism on different premises, the book's focus on religion at work will facilitate new understandings of how to study religion as it is perceived and believed in practice.

The Tanzania Conspiracy Mario Bolduc, 2018-10-06
 Con man Max O'Brien gets pulled into a grisly conspiracy while investigating his lover's murder. Distraught by the murder of Tanzanian lawyer and ex-lover Valeria Michieka and her daughter Sophie, Max O'Brien travels to Tanzania to track down those responsible. What starts as a fight for justice quickly becomes entangled with the persecution of albinos in the East African state. Thought by some to have supernatural powers, many albinos find themselves targeted for their body parts, and Max has reason to think that Valeria and Sophie were killed because of her legal work defending albinos' rights and safety. Did the lawyers' fight against this horrendous business upset the human traffickers? Max's search for the truth about their deaths is filled with unknowns, each more impenetrable than the last.

Mining and Social Transformation in Africa Deborah Fahy Bryceson, Eleanor Fisher, Jesper Bosse Jønsson, Rosemarie Mwaipopo, 2013-10-15
 After more than three decades of economic malaise, many African countries are experiencing an upsurge in their economic fortunes linked to the booming international market for minerals. Spurred by the shrinking viability of peasant agriculture, rural dwellers have been engaged in a massive search for alternative livelihoods, one of the most lucrative being artisanal mining. While an expanding literature has documented the economic expansion of artisanal mining, this book is the first to probe its societal impact, demonstrating that artisanal mining has the potential to be far more democratic and emancipating than preceding modes. Delineating the paradoxes of artisanal miners working alongside the expansion of large-scale mining investment in Africa, Mining and Social Transformation in Africa concentrates on the Tanzanian experience. Written by authors with fresh research insights, focus is placed on how artisanal mining is configured in relation to local, regional and national mining investments and social class differentiation. The work lives and associated lifestyles of miners and residents of mining settlements are brought to the fore, asking where this historical interlude is taking them and their communities in the future. The question of value transfers out of the artisanal mining sector, value capture by elites and changing configurations of gender, age and class differentiation all arise.

Expanding Perspectives on Human Rights in Africa M. Raymond Izarali, Oliver Masakure, Bonny Ibhawoh, 2019-03-14
 This book draws attention to emerging issues around the rights of minorities, marginalized groups and persons in Africa It explores the gaps between human rights provisions and conditions showing that although international human rights principles have been embraced in the continent various minority groups and marginalized persons are denied such rights through criminalization and persecution African countries have a good record of signing and ratifying international and regional rights instruments but the political will and capacity for enforcing these with respect to minorities remain weak International contributors to the book provide new perspectives on the rights of marginalized and minority groups in different parts of Africa and the extent to which they are deprived or denied entitlement to the universality and equality articulated in law The authors show that human rights while having come of age as a moral ideal has not been fully entrenched in practice towards groups such as children indigenous populations the mentally ill persons with disabilities and persons with albinism This volume is geared toward scholars students human rights groups policy makers social workers international organizations and policy makers in the fields of criminology security studies development studies political science sociology children studies social psychology international relations postcolonial studies and African Studies

Human Sacrifice and the Supernatural in African History Mbogoni, Lawrence E.Y.,2013-11-03 Since time immemorial human beings the world over have sought answers to the vexing questions of their origins sickness death and after death the meaning of natural phenomena such as earthquakes eclipses of the sun and moon birth of twins etc and how to protect themselves from such mysterious events They invented God and gods and the occult sciences witch craft divination and soothsaying in order to seek the protection of supernatural powers while individuals used them to gain power to dominate others and to accumulate wealth Human sacrifice was one way in which they sought to expiate the gods for what they believed were punishments for their transgressions One example the Ghana Asante Kingdom s very origins are associated with human sacrifice On the eve of war against Denkyira individuals volunteered themselves to be sacrificed in order to guarantee victory Later human sacrifice in Asante was mainly politically motivated as kings and religious leaders offered human sacrifice in remembrance of their ancestral spirits and to seek their protection against their enemies The Asante Kingdom is one of several examples included in this study of human sacrifice and ritual killing on the African continent Case studies include practices in Sierra Leone Tanzania Mainland Zanzibar Uganda and Swaziland Advertisements relating to the occult was a common feature of Drum magazine the popular South African magazine in Southern Eastern and Central Africa in late years of colonial and early years of postcolonial periods indicating a wide belief in these practices among the people in these countries Each case examined is introduced by an expose of folklore that puts in perspective beliefs in the supernatural and how folklore continues to perpetuate them Through careful study of these select cases this book highlights general features of human sacrifice which recur with striking uniformity in all parts of sub Saharan Africa and why they persist until today He draws upon extensive written sources to expose these practices in other cultures including those in Western societies

African Philosophy and the Otherness of Albinism Elvis Imafidon,2018-10-30

Albinism is one of the foremost disability and public health issues in Africa today. It often makes headlines in local national and international medias and forms the basis for intense advocacy at all levels. This is primarily due to the harmful representations of persons with albinism deeply entrenched in African traditions. These deeply rooted ideologies about albinism in African thought have largely promoted the continuous discrimination, stigmatization, harming, killing, commodification and violation of the human rights of persons with albinism in African places. How has albinism emerged as a thick concept in African traditions? What are these deeply entrenched ideas about the ontology of albinism in African thought? What epistemic injustice has been done to persons with albinism in Africa places? Why do harmful beliefs about albinism still persist in modern African societies? How does the African communalistic ethic justify the harm done against persons with albinism? What is the duty to and burden of care for persons with albinism? What peculiar existential challenges do persons with albinism in general and females with albinism in particular face in African societies and how can they be overcome? What can be learnt from the education philosophy of reconstructionism and genetic engineering in improving the wellbeing of persons with albinism? African Philosophy and the Otherness of Albinism: White Skin Black Race digs deep into these philosophical questions revealing fascinating but latent aspects of how albinism is understood in African places as a necessary step to take in improving the wellbeing and integrity of persons with albinism in Africa today. This book will be of interest to scholars and students of African philosophy, sociology, African studies and disability studies.

Social work in the 21st century (Prof.) Mogomme A. Masoga, Allucia L. Shokane, Annaline Keet, Varoshini Nadesan, 2024-12-30. This scholarly book Social work in the 21st century: Scholarship and praxis reimagined towards vulnerability is the third volume in the Knowledge Pathing Multi-Inter and Trans-Disciplining in Social Sciences book series. Chapters were invited from contributing authors who are involved in social work practice and education and who are dealing with the issues of poverty, inequality and vulnerability in these fields. The focus of the book emanates from the main conference theme and sub-themes of the ASASWEI Association of South African Social Work Education Institutions conference held in 2021. The theme of the conference, 'Pandemics, poverty, inequality and disability: Social work in the 21st century', provided an opportunity for deep deliberation, knowledge exchange and skills development on how vulnerable communities already on the economic margins of society due to poverty and inequality are further marginalised during significant societal disruptions such as the coronavirus 2019 COVID-19 pandemic. It is these deliberations which culminated in this book. Drawing on the papers presented, the chapters promote knowledge and skills around vulnerabilities in our social context and how the social work profession is challenged to interrogate its role in addressing the persistent challenges of poverty and inequality that keep people on the peripheries of human development. The target audience for this book is primarily academics engaged in the field of social work and related fields.

Violence Against Children Gertrud Lenzer, 2017-11-28. Violence Against Children adopts in its title the exhortation of Nobel Laureate Amartya Sen, Making Human Rights Real, which also represents the leitmotif of the book It examines the prevalence of violence against children in Africa the Asia Pacific Region Europe Latin America and the Caribbean and in the United States and explores major ways of its prevention Making human rights real engenders the challenge of helping all children to be free from violence and to lead a life replete with genuine nurture and the elimination of all violence Only in this manner will the goal of the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development target 16.2 be achieved and the child as a rights bearing individual realized in her his fullness The specially commissioned chapters that make up the volume have been written by renowned scholars researchers and advocates They coalesce to provide an overview of the challenges facing children exposed to violence worldwide and they advance discussions of the measures which are available and necessary for the prevention of violence against children The book is intended for policy makers researchers and students of the social sciences and human rights who are interested in ending all the widespread maltreatment of children in our societies and our time
