The New Global Rulers Tim Büthe, Walter Mattli, 2013-07-21 Global private regulations who wins who loses and why Over the past two decades governments have delegated extensive regulatory authority to international private sector organizations This internationalization and privatization of rule making has been motivated not only by the economic benefits of common rules for global markets but also by the realization that government regulators often lack the expertise and resources to deal with increasingly complex and urgent regulatory tasks The New Global Rulers examines who writes the rules in international private organizations as well as who wins who loses and why Tim Büthe and Walter Mattli examine three powerful global private regulators the International Accounting Standards Board which develops financial reporting rules used by corporations in more than a hundred countries and the International Organization for Standardization and the International Electrotechnical Commission which account for 85 percent of all international product standards Büthe and Mattli offer both a new framework for understanding global private regulation and detailed empirical analyses of such regulation based on multi country multi industry business surveys They find that global rule making by technical experts is highly political and that even though rule making has shifted to the international level domestic institutions remain crucial Influence in this form of global private governance is not a function of the economic power of states but of the ability of domestic standard setters to provide timely information and speak with a single voice Büthe and Mattli show how domestic institutions' abilities differ particularly between the two main standardization players the United States and Europe      New Business Opportunities in the Growing E-Tourism Industry Eto, Hajime, 2015-07-07 Responding to the dual pressures of globalization and economic downturn communities across the world formerly driven by agriculture and industry are increasingly turning toward tourism as an economic mainstay In order for industry leaders to compete with the efforts of competitors and savvy marketers new business models must be defined which allow for the incorporation of e tourism tools and expansion into the global marketplace New Business Opportunities in the Growing E Tourism Industry offers case studies and research that highlights the impact of globalization on travel and tourism and offers solutions to potential problems Targeting an audience of researchers and business professionals this volume brings together a diverse international body of scholars and researchers to provide a holistic perspective of future developments in the e tourism industry This volume compiles the research and perspectives of researchers and industry professionals uniting a variety of topics including medical tourism traffic management route planning virtual museums digital spot hunting via film mosaic and tourism for the elderly and disabled
