Beyond Right and Wrong Randall Kiser, 2010-01-07 Let us endeavor to see things as they are and then enquire whether we ought to complain Whether to see life as it is will give us much consolation I know not but the consolation which is drawn from truth if any there be is solid and durable that which may be derived from error must be like its original fallacious and fugitive Samuel Johnson Letter to Bennet Langton 1758 Attorneys and clients make hundreds of decisions in every litigation case From initially deciding which attorney to retain to deciding which witnesses to call at trial from deciding whether to file a complaint to deciding whether to appeal a verdict attorneys and clients make multiple critical decisions about strategies costs arguments valuations evidence and negotiations Once made these decisions are scrutinized by an opponent intent on exploiting the consequences of any mistake In this intense and adversarial arena decision making errors often are transparent irreversible and dispositive wielding the power to bankrupt clients and dissolve law firms Although attorneys and clients may regard sound decision making as incidental to effective lawyering sound decision making actually is the essence of effective lawyering An attorney's knowledge intelligence and experience are inert resources until the attorney decides how to deploy those skills to serve the client's interests Those decisions in turn largely determine a case's course and outcome

Engines of Anxiety Wendy Nelson Espeland, Michael Sauder, Wendy Espeland, 2016-05-09 Students and the public routinely consult various published college rankings to assess the quality of colleges and universities and easily compare different schools However many institutions have responded to the rankings in ways that benefit neither the schools nor their students In Engines of Anxiety sociologists Wendy Espeland and Michael Sauder delve deep into the mechanisms of law school rankings which have become a top priority within legal education Based on a wealth of observational data and over 200 in depth interviews with law students university deans and other administrators they show how the scramble for high rankings has affected the missions and practices of many law schools Engines of Anxiety tracks how rankings such as those published annually by the U S News World Report permeate every aspect of legal education beginning with the admissions process The authors find that prospective law students not only rely heavily on such rankings to evaluate school quality but also internalize rankings as expressions of their own abilities and flaws For example they often view rejections from first tier schools as a sign of personal failure The rankings also affect the decisions of admissions officers who try to balance admitting diverse classes with preserving the school's ranking which is dependent on factors such as the median LSAT score of the entering class Espeland and Sauder find that law schools face pressure to admit applicants with high test scores over lower scoring candidates who possess other favorable credentials Engines of Anxiety also reveals how rankings have influenced law schools career service departments Because graduates job placements play a major role in the rankings many institutions have shifted their career services resources toward tracking placements and away from counseling and network building In turn law firms regularly use school rankings to recruit and screen job candidates perpetuating a cycle in which highly ranked schools enjoy increasing prestige As a result the rankings create and reinforce a rigid hierarchy that penalizes lower tier schools that do not conform to the restrictive standards used in the rankings The authors show that as law schools compete to improve their rankings their programs become more homogenized and less accessible to non traditional students The ranking system is considered a valuable resource for learning about more than 200 law schools Yet Engines of Anxiety shows that the drive to increase a school s rankings has negative consequences for students educators and administrators and has implications for all educational programs that are quantified in similar ways Investigation of Allegations of Politicized Hiring in the Department of Justice Honors Program and Summer Law Intern Program Barry Leonard,2010 Describes the Dept of Justice DoJ investigation concerning whether the political or ideological affiliations of applicants were improperly considered in the selection of candidates for the Attorney General s Honors Program and the Summer Law Intern Program SLIP from 2002 to 2006 The Honors Program is a highly competitive hiring program for entry level attorneys in the DoJ while the SLIP is a competitive paid summer internship program in the DoJ Allegations regarding the politicization of the Honors Program and SLIP hiring process received widespread public attention in April 2007 due to a letter to Congress anonymously signed by A Group of Concerned DoJ Employees Charts J.D.
