State Of The World Report:

The Third Report on The State of the World's Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2025-03-24 Plant genetic resources for food and agriculture PGRFA are the essence of sustainable agrifood systems They encompass the genetic diversity in both improved and farmers varieties as well as in crop wild relatives wild food plants and breeding materials The third report on the State of the World's Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture presents a comprehensive assessment of the conservation and sustainable use of PGRFA as well as the human and institutional capacities to support these efforts Based on information from 128 countries and four regional and 13 international research centres and the contribution from over 1 600 experts it presents an overview of progress since 2012 as well as current needs and challenges in the future management of PGRFA The report provides a sound basis for recalibrating relevant policies and strategies including the rolling Global Plan of Action for Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture

THE SECOND REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE WORLD'S ANIMAL GENETIC RESOURCES FOR FOOD AND AGRICULTURE Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-06-06 Animal genetic resource diversity underpins the supply livestock products and services across a wide range of production environments It promotes resilience and serves as a basis for adapting livestock management to changing conditions It is vital to livelihoods of many of the world's poor people It can contribute to the delivery of ecosystem services such as landscape management and the maintenance of wildlife habitats However it is often undervalued underused and under threat This report updates the global assessment provided in the first report on The State of the World's Animal Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture published in 2007 It focuses particularly on changes that have occurred during the period since the first report was published It serves as a basis for a review and potential update of the Global Plan of Action for Animal Genetic Resources which since 2007 has provided an agreed international framework for the management of livestock biodiversity Drawing on 129 country reports it presents an analysis of the state of livestock diversity the influence of livestock sector trends on the management of animal genetic resources the state of capacity to manage animal genetic resources including legal and policy frameworks and the state of the art in tools and methods for characterization valuation use development and conservation

The Second Report on the State of the World's Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2010-01-01 Plant genetic resources provide a basis for food security livelihood support and economic development as a major component of biodiversity The Second Report on the State of the World's Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture demonstrates the central role plant genetic diversity continues to play in shaping agriculture growth in the face of climate change and other environmental challenges It is based on information gathered from Country Reports regional syntheses thematic studies and scientific literature documenting the major achievements made in this sector during the past decade and identifying the critical gaps and needs that should urgently be addressed The Report provides the decision makers with a technical basis for updating the Global Plan of Action on Conservation and Sustainable Use of Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture It also aims to attract the attention of the global community to set priorities for the effective management of plant genetic resources for the future Purchase a print copy The State of the World Atlas Dan Smith, 2021-02-09 The State of the World Atlas is an accessible unique visual survey of current events and global trends highlighting the international scope and complexity of many challenges facing the humanity today With a bold new design this distinctive atlas presents the latest statistics on international trade and migration the globalization of work aging and new health risks up to and including the COVID 19 pandemic food and water energy resources and consumption literacy gender equality wars and peacekeeping and more And for the newest edition special attention has been brought to the way that all of these issues are affected by the ongoing climate crisis Fascinating troubling and surprising this is an important resource for anyone who seeks to better understand the world around them State of the World's Cities 2010/2011, 2010 One billion people worldwide live in slums and that figure is predicted to reach 2 billion by 2030 This new volume from UN HABITAT unpacks the complex social and economic issues using the novel conceptual framework of the urban divide The State of the World's Biodiversity for Food and Agriculture Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2019-03-12 The State of the World's Biodiversity for Food and Agriculture presents the first global assessment of biodiversity for food and agriculture worldwide Biodiversity for food and agriculture is the diversity of plants animals and micro organisms at genetic species and ecosystem levels present in and around crop livestock forest and aquatic production systems It is essential to the structure functions and processes of these systems to livelihoods and food security and to the supply of a wide range of ecosystem services It has been managed or influenced by farmers livestock keepers forest dwellers fish farmers and fisherfolk for hundreds of generations Prepared through a participatory country driven process the report draws on information from 91 country reports to provide a description of the roles and importance of biodiversity for food and agriculture the drivers of change affecting it and its current status and trends It describes the state of efforts to promote the sustainable use and conservation of biodiversity for food and agriculture including through the development of supporting policies legal frameworks institutions and capacities It concludes with a discussion of needs and challenges in the future management of biodiversity for food and agriculture The report complements other global assessments prepared under the auspices of the Commission on Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture which have focused on the state of genetic resources within particular sectors of food and agriculture The State of the World's Cities 2004/2005, 2004 Examines the cultural impact of globalization on cities on how they are governed and planned on the make up and density of their population and on the development of their cultures and economies State of the World's Cities 2012/2013 Un Habitat, 2013-10-23 The city is the home of prosperity It is the place where human beings find satisfaction of basic needs and access to essential public goods The city is also where ambitions aspirations and other material and immaterial aspects of life are realized providing contentment and happiness It is a locus at which the prospects of prosperity and individual and collective well being can be increased However when prosperity is restricted to some groups when it is used to pursue specific interests or when it is a justification for financial gains for the few to the detriment of the majority the city becomes the arena where the right to shared prosperity is claimed and fought for As people in the latter part of 2011 gathered in Cairo s Tahrir Square in Madrid s Puerta del Sol in front of London s St Paul s cathedral or in New York s Zuccotti Park they were not only demanding more equality and inclusion they were also expressing the need for prosperity to be shared across all segments of society What this new edition of State of the World s Cities shows is that prosperity for all has been compromised by a narrow focus on economic growth UN Habitat suggests a fresh approach to prosperity beyond the solely economic emphasis including other vital dimensions such as quality of life adequate infrastructures equity and environmental sustainability The Report proposes a new tool the City Prosperity Index together with a conceptual matrix the Wheel of Prosperity both of which are meant to assist decision makers to design clear policy interventions The Report advocates for the need of cities to enhance the public realm expand public goods and consolidate rights to the commons for all as a way to expand prosperity This comes in response to the observed trend of enclosing or restricting these goods and commons in enclaves of prosperity or depleting them through unsustainable use The Report maps out major policy steps to promote a new type of city the city of the twenty first century that is a good people centred city One that is capable of integrating the tangible and more intangible aspects of prosperity and in the process shedding off the inefficient unsustainable forms and functionalities of the city of the previous century By doing this UN Habitat plays a pivotal role in ensuring that urban planning legal regulatory and institutional frameworks become instruments of prosperity and well being

The State of the World's Children 2005 Carol Bellamy, 2004 The 2005 edition of UNICEF's annual report examines the key issues which threaten the welfare of children around the world using the concept of childhood as the state and condition of a child's life The Convention of the Rights of the Child adopted in 1989 offers a new definition of childhood based on human rights yet for hundred of millions of children the promise of childhood is threatened by poverty armed conflict and HIV AIDS threaten their survival and development The report examines these three major threats in detail and offers a comprehensive agenda of action to combat them It concludes by calling on all stakeholders including governments donors international agencies and communities to reaffirm and recommit to their moral and legal responsibilities to children

State of the World's Minorities 2006 Richard Green, 2005-12-22 The way in which we treat minorities is the measure of civilization of a society Mahatma Gandhi In the era of globalization societies are becoming more diverse Every country around the globe exhibits some ethnic religious or cultural diversity Instead of an asset to be celebrated however governments too often treat this as a threat States in every world region repress the rights of their minorities or even deny their existence For some minorities or indigenous peoples their very survival is at stake In addition to the war in Iraq which remained the focus of intense media attention over 20 further major armed conflicts were ongoing in other parts of the world in 2005 as well as a range of lower intensity conflicts In three quarters of these armed conflicts violence was targeted at specific ethnic or religious groups Yet many of these conflicts could have been prevented if minority and indigenous rights had been respected This first edition of the State of the World's Minorities looks at key developments over the last year affecting the human rights and security of ethnic religious or linguistic minorities and indigenous peoples It includes a Preface by the UN Special Adviser on the Prevention of Genocide Juan E M ndez analysis of trends and legal developments by leading authorities on minority rights an overview by world region highlighting main developments and areas of concern statistical data on Peoples under Threat 2006 ratification tables for the main minority rights treaties and extracts from recently concluded treaties This major new reference work provides an objective analysis of how minorities and indigenous peoples are treated around the globe and with it a measure of the civilization of our societies of to what extent manifestations of religious beliefs should be permitted in the European public sphere has become a salient and controversial topic in recent years. Despite the increasing interest, however, debates have rarely questioned the conventional wisdom that an increase in the range of security measures employed by a government inevitably leads to a decrease in the human rights enjoyed by individuals. This book analyses the relationship between state security regime changes and the right to religious freedom in the EU. It presents a comparative analysis of the impact these regime changes have had on the politics, policies and protections of religious freedom across the EU member states in the post 2001 environment. The book provides a timely investigation into the role of national legislation, the European Court of Human Rights and societal trends in the protection of religious freedom and in so doing demonstrates why the relationship between state security and religious freedom is one of the most socially significant challenges facing policymakers and jurists in Europe at the present time.
