of the Forum on Education Abroad's Peter A. Wollitzer Award      Crossing Boundaries Patrick M. Green, Mathew Johnson, 2023-07-03 Are there better ways to address community challenges than expending funds on international service learning? In attempting to wed learning and service are we exploiting the other for new or recycled aims? As these questions attest of all types of service learning international service learning (ISL) most starkly illuminates the tensions between the liberatory and oppressive potentials of practice. This book explores the ramifications of realizing a new age of service learning that pushes beyond single episodic course-based projects to rebalance student learning and community outcome priorities and provides insight into what it looks like in its execution. In describing eleven international programs designed to achieve reciprocal sustained relationships in which learning is co-created the contributors reveal their struggles to change the balance of power relationships and move to a more transformative practice. Common themes are the developmental nature of this work, the recognition that it takes multiple attempts often over years for an individual or an institution to get this work even nearly right, that resolving the challenges of unequal resources, power, and privilege can never be completely erased, and that attention has to be given to the micro-level details. What emerge are seven guiding principles that define the nature of partnerships in liberatory practice and that apply to all forms of service learning. They must be strategic, linked to the mission and expertise of the institution, long-term, multifaceted, allowing both partners to play a multiplicity of roles, developmental in building capacities, contextualized in historic and cultural understanding, fully reciprocal, and create the potential for community-driven change. In addressing the problematic nature of ISL and of service learning in general, this book interrogates whether its experiences create the necessary conditions for the formation of individual values, convictions, and action, and whether their pivotal teaching and learning moments are indeed replicable and transferable across individual, institutional, and even cultural contexts. Its conclusions and insights will be of intense interest to administrators and practitioners alike.

Exploring Leadership Susan R. Komives, Nance Lucas, Timothy R. McMahon, 2013-05-17 This third edition is a thoroughly revised and updated version of the bestselling text for undergraduate leadership courses. This book is designed for college students to help them understand that they are capable of being effective leaders and guide them in developing their leadership potential. The Relational Leadership Model (RLM) continues as the major focus in this edition, and the book includes stronger connections between the RLM dimensions and related concepts as well as visual applications of the model. The third edition includes new student vignettes that demonstrate how the major concepts and theories can be applied. It also contains new material on social justice, conflict management, positive psychology, appreciative inquiry, emotional intelligence, and new self-assessment and reflection questionnaires. For those focused on the practice of leadership development, the third edition is part of a complete set that includes a Student Workbook, a Facilitation and Activity Guide for educators, and free downloadable instructional PowerPoint slides. The Workbook is a student-focused companion to the book, and the Facilitation and Activity Guide is designed for use by program leaders and educators.

Oppression and the Body Christine Caldwell, Lucia Bennett Leighton, 2018-03-20 A timely anthology that explores power privilege and oppression and their relationship to marginalized bodies Asserting that the body is the main site of oppression in Western society the contributors to this pioneering volume explore the complex issue of embodiment and how it relates to social inclusion and marginalization In a culture where bodies of people who are brown black female transgender disabled fat or queer are often shamed sexualized ignored and oppressed what does it mean to live in a marginalized body Through theory personal narrative and artistic expression this anthology explores how power privilege oppression and attempted disembodiment play out on the bodies of disparaged individuals and what happens when the body's expression is stereotyped and stunted Bringing together a range of voices this book offers strategies and practices for embodiment and activism and considers what it means to be an embodied ally to anyone experiencing bodily oppression Leadership Resources Center for Creative Leadership, Greensboro, NC., 2000 This guide provides over 300 pages of resources suggested by leadership educators in surveys Center for Creative Leadership staff and search of library resources This eighth edition is half new including web sites and listserv discussion groups and it places a stronger focus on meeting the needs of human resources professionals and corporate trainers An annotated bibliography groups leadership materials in several broad categories overview in context history biography and literature competencies research theories and models training and development social global and diversity issues team leadership and organizational leadership 180 pages Includes annotated lists of journals and newsletters 9 pages instruments 21 pages exercises 41 pages instrument and exercise vendors 5 pages videos 29 pages video distributors 4 pages web sites 6 pages organizations 21 pages and conferences 9 pages Contains a 66 page index of all resources TEJ Integrating Study Abroad Into the Curriculum Elizabeth Brewer, Kiran Cunningham, 2023-07-03 With the increased interest in study abroad from government educators employers and students the question is is study abroad engendering the desired intercultural competencies and intellectual development To achieve this goal this book proposes two strategies structure study abroad to bridge the separation of academic learning from experiential and intercultural learning and integrate study abroad with the undergraduate curriculum In proposing this integration the editors take into account the need for institutional change and recognize faculty members concerns about maintaining the integrity of the curriculum teaching in areas outside their expertise and keeping up with ever evolving institutional missions This book opens with two chapters presenting different theoretical perspectives relevant to the integration of study abroad into the curriculum The following nine chapters provide examples from a variety of disciplines from anthropology and religious studies to literature urban studies biology and public health and within such contexts as distance learning service learning and the senior thesis The concluding chapter considers faculty development activities and institutional structures and policies that support curriculum integration While the examples are drawn from Beloit College and Kalamazoo College liberal arts colleges with substantial study abroad enrollments and nationally recognized for their innovative practices readers will recognize they are easily adaptable to their own institutions The two colleges achieved their curricular innovations with limited financial resources and in the context that most of their students are dependent on financial aid The transformational ideas and practices described here provide material for reflection and campus conversations for anyone concerned with developing global citizens and well educated students and offer a blueprint for implementation

Current Trends in Pragmatics Piotr Cap, Joanna Nijakowska, 2009-03-26 The volume brings together twenty articles written by established linguists language philosophers sociologists and psychologists sharing their academic interest in a broad and interdisciplinary field of linguistic pragmatics The collection consists of four thematic parts Pragmatics and Cognition The Semantics Pragmatics Interface Conversational and Text Analysis and Pragmatics Social Research and Didactics It aims to contribute to the debate on the present day status of pragmatics by examining three fundamental issues The first involves the question of the current explanatory power of pragmatics namely how successful is the existing apparatus of pragmatics and the basic level parameters theories of speech acts relevance implicature presupposition deixis politeness etc in the elucidation of various aspects of meaning The second issue involves the methodological assistance that pragmatics might need in order to enhance its explanatory power The third has to do with the fuzzily defined boundaries of the discipline of pragmatics and the resulting temptation for analysts to concentrate solely on its fragmented sub domains As the collection unfolds these issues form a continuum which it seems is often a process that a linguist goes through as his or her methodological awareness deepens Thus the orientation of the volume towards the analyst and the analytic mind set as well as the attempted balance in presentation of the alternative approaches seem the major theoretical characteristic of the book
