response to global AIDS crisis United States. Congress. House. Committee on International Relations,2005 Global AIDS Alexander C. Irwin,Joyce V. Millen,Dorothy Fallows,2003 AIDS is the most devastating communicable disease in history and poor countries have been most severely impacted by the pandemic Since the mid 1990s the use of antiretroviral drug therapies has dramatically extended life expectancy and improved life quality for those with HIV AIDS who can afford the costly treatments Yet even as it raises new hope this medical advance has intensified ethical and political questions about AIDS Antiretroviral use by those with money and access throws the contrasting outcomes among AIDS sufferers throughout the world into high relief It has also revealed what many people with AIDS have known all along the disease is not only propagated by the virus but by racism entrenched poverty structural inequality and the legacy of colonial domination and exploitation Global AIDS Myths and Facts aims to present the facts about HIV AIDS and empower people for informed active participation in the global struggle against this plague To mobilize the energy commitment and resources required for the fight Irwin and Millen tackle 10 destructive myths that hamper implementation of effective and equitable anti HIV AIDS programs World leaders like Kofi Annan have announced treatment and prevention initiatives that are opening new possibilities But the authors argue that only sustained political pressure from the grassroots __forging links across national boundaries professional and social categories and racial ethnic and religious identities __will halt the pandemic __s spread

Governing the Global Clinic Carol A. Heimer, 2025-04-29 A deep examination of how new legalistic norms affected the trajectory of global HIV care and altered the practice of medicine HIV emerged in the world at a time when medicine and healthcare were undergoing two major transformations globalization and a turn toward legally inflected rule based ways of doing things It accelerated both trends While pestilence and disease are generally considered the domain of biological sciences and medicine social arrangements and law in particular are also crucial Drawing on years of research in HIV clinics in the United States Thailand South Africa and Uganda Governing the Global Clinic examines how growing norms of legalized accountability have altered the work of healthcare systems and how the effects of legalization vary across different national contexts A key feature of legalism is universalistic language but in practice rules are usually imported from richer countries especially the United States to poorer ones that have less adequate infrastructure and fewer resources with which to implement them Challenging readers to reconsider the impulse to use law to organize and govern social life Governing the Global Clinic poses difficult questions When do rules solve problems and when do they create new problems When do rules become decoupled from ethics and when do they lead to deeper moral commitments When do rules reduce inequality And when do they reflect reproduce and even amplify inequality The Global HIV Epidemics Among Men who Have Sex with Men, 2011-01-01 Human Rights Risk behavior Cost effectiveness Low and middle income countries Human Immunodeficiency Virus Epidemic Men who have sex with men Attributable fraction Intervention Prevention Homosexuality

The Health of the People : The African Regional Health Report World Health Organization. Regional Office for Africa, 2006-11-20 This publication is the first to focus on the health of the 738 million people living in the 46 countries of the WHO African Region Drawing on a comprehensive range of the latest regional health statistics the report discusses the key public health and development challenges facing the continent as well looking in more detail at the issues of maternal and child health infectious diseases including HIV AIDS tuberculosis and malaria health problems that are usually associated with developed countries such as diabetes and hypertension and other noncommunicable conditions such as mental illness and injuries and the environmental causes of ill health including pollution and armed conflict The report explores the treatment diagnostic and preventive methods that work in Africa and highlights the public health success stories that can serve as models for others in the continent It finds that stronger health systems are the key to solving Africa's health problems and these can only be achieved by strengthening governments' stewardship role in health building on the lessons learnt from successful health care interventions and through closer collaboration between all partners

Non-Traditional Security in Asia Mely Caballero-Anthony, Alistair D.B. Cook, 2013 Non Traditional Security in Asia examines the critical security challenges faced by states and societies in Asia including health food water natural disasters internal conflict forced migration energy transnational crime and cyber security Through the development of a comprehensive analytical framework that establishes the key ingredients to policy evaluation the editors draw on a wide variety of experts to collaborate in investigating these crucial issues This inclusive framework ensures that all voices are heard including those oftentimes under represented and marginalized in society to ensure that academic and policy debates are well informed about the often complex and nuanced nature of these non traditional security challenges Through an investigation into these specific non traditional security threats Non Traditional Security in Asia documents and evaluates many of the most pressing challenges faced by Asia today The authors analyse the ways in which particular issues are addressed by the many stakeholders involved in the policy making process both within governments and across societies The question of how these challenges are addressed across and between the different levels of global governance highlights the strengths and weakness that are directly attributable to policy successes and failures It is through this layered and comprehensive approach together with an evaluation of the role of stakeholders which binds together the chapter contributions to this collection The book undertakes an issue specific chapter study of how Asian states and societies address these non traditional security concerns from environmental adaptation and mitigation measures to conflict resolution For each issue area it identifies and explains the concerns of various policy communities identifying the motivations behind some of the key decisions made to affect change or stabilize the status quo Essentially it questions not only what a security issue is but also for whom the issue is important and the interaction this has with policy outcomes With a focus on regional and global institutions as well as national and local ones this collection illustrates the variety of stakeholders involved in non traditional security concerns and reflects on their relative importance in the decision making process Through a systematic evaluation of these non traditional security issues by employing a comprehensive analytical framework critical appreciation of the dynamics of the policy making process surrounding issues of crucial national regional and international significance in Asia are made As a result of sharing these insights the contributors provide the tools as well as a selection of issue specific stakeholders to illuminate the key but complex characteristics of non traditional security in Asia
