Indians in Color Norman K Denzin, 2016-12-14 In Indians in Color noted cultural critic Norman K Denzin addresses the acute differences in the treatment of artwork about Native America created by European trained artists compared to those by Native artists In his fourth volume exploring race and culture in the New West Denzin zeroes in on painting movements in Taos New Mexico over the past century Part performance text part art history part cultural criticism part autoethnography he once again demonstrates the power of visual media to reify or resist racial and cultural stereotypes moving us toward a more nuanced view of contemporary Native American life In this book Denzin contrasts the aggrandizement by collectors and museums of the art created by the early 20th century Taos Society of Artists under railroad sponsorship with that of indigenous Pueblo painters shows how these tensions between mainstream and Native art remains today and introduces a radical postmodern artistic aesthetic of contemporary Native artists that challenges notions of the noble savage Aboriginal Art Colouring

Religion, Space, and the Environment Sigurd Bergmann, 2017-07-05 Religions often nurture important skills that help believers locate themselves in the world Religious perceptions practices emotions and beliefs are closely interwoven with the environments from which they emerge Sigurd Bergmann's driving emphasis here is to explore religion not in relation to but as a part of the spatiality and movement within the environment from which it arises and is nurtured Religion Space and the Environment emerges from the author's experiences in different places and continents over the past decade At the book's heart lie the questions of how space place and religion amalgamate and how lived space and lived religion influence each other Bergmann explores how religion and the memory of our past impact our lives in urban spaces how the sacred geographies in Mayan and northeast Asian lands compare to modern eco spirituality and how human images and practices of moving in with and through the land are interwoven with the processes of colonization and sacralising and the practices of power and visions of the sacred among other topics

Voices of the Other Roderick McGillis, 2013-05-13 This book offers a variety of approaches to children's literature from a postcolonial perspective that includes discussions of cultural appropriation race theory pedagogy as a colonialist activity and multiculturalism The eighteen essays divide into three sections Theory Colonialism Postcolonialism The first section sets the theoretical framework for postcolonial studies essays here deal with issues of otherness and cultural difference as well as the colonialist implications of pedagogic practice These essays confront our relationships with the child and childhood as sites for the exertion of our authority and control Section 2 presents discussions of the colonialist mind set in children's and young adult texts from the turn of the century Here works by writers of animal stories in Canada the U S and Britain works of early Australian colonialist literature and Frances Hodgson Burnett's A Little Princess come under the scrutiny of our postmodern reading practices. Section 3 deals directly with contemporary texts for children that manifest both a postcolonial and a neo colonial content. In this section the longest in the book we have studies of children's literature from Canada, Australia, Africa, the Caribbean, and the United States.

Twenty-First Century Perspectives on Indigenous Studies Birgit Däwes, Karsten Fitz, Sabine N. Meyer, 2015-04-24. In recent years the interdisciplinary fields of Native North American and Indigenous Studies have reflected at times even foreshadowed and initiated many of the influential theoretical discussions in the humanities after the transnational turn. Global trends of identity politics, performativity, cultural performance, and ethics, comparative and revisionist historiography, ecological responsibility, and education, as well as issues of social justice, have shaped and been shaped by discussions in Native American and Indigenous Studies. This volume brings together distinguished perspectives on these topics by the Native scholars and writers Gerald Vizenor, Anishinaabe, Diane Glancy, Cherokee, and Tomson Highway, Cree, as well as non-Native authorities such as Chadwick Allen, Hartmut Lutz, and Helmbrecht Breinig. Contributions look at various moments in the cultural history of Native North America, from earthmounds via the Catholic appropriation of a Mohawk saint to the debates about Makah whaling rights, as well as at a diverse spectrum of literary, performative, and visual works of art by John Ross, John Ridge, Elias Boudinot, Emily Pauline Johnson, Leslie Marmon Silko, Emma Lee Warrior, Louise Erdrich, N. Scott Momaday, Stephen Graham Jones, and Gerald Vizenor, among others. In doing so, the selected contributions identify new and recurrent methodological challenges, outline future paths for scholarly inquiry, and explore the intersections between Indigenous Studies and contemporary Literary and Cultural Studies at large.

Color Victoria Finlay, 2007-12-18. In this vivid and captivating journey through the colors of an artist's palette, Victoria Finlay takes us on an enthralling adventure around the world and through the ages, illuminating how the colors we choose to value have determined the history of culture itself. How did the most precious color, blue, travel all the way from remote lapis mines in Afghanistan to Michelangelo's brush? What is the connection between brown paint and ancient Egyptian mummies? Why did Robin Hood wear Lincoln green? In Color, Finlay explores the physical materials that color our world, such as precious minerals and insect blood, as well as the social and political meanings that color has carried through time. Roman emperors used to wear togas dyed with a purple color that was made from an odorous Lebanese shellfish, which probably meant their scent preceded them. In the eighteenth century, black dye was called logwood and grew along the Spanish Main. Some of the first indigo plantations were started in America, amazingly enough, by a seventeen-year-old girl named Eliza. And the popular van Gogh painting White Roses at Washington's National Gallery had to be renamed after a researcher discovered that the flowers were originally done in a pink paint that had faded nearly a century ago. Color is full of extraordinary people, events, and anecdotes, painted all the more dazzling by Finlay's engaging style. Embark upon a thrilling adventure with this intrepid journalist as she travels on a donkey along ancient silk trade routes, with the Phoenicians sailing the Mediterranean in search of a special purple shell that garners wealth sustenance and prestige with modern Chilean farmers breeding and bleeding insects for their viscous red blood The colors that craft our world have never looked so bright Art and Archaeology,1915 Florida's First People Robin C. Brown,2014-10-01 This comprehensive look at the first humans in Florida combines contemporary archaeology the writings of early European explorers and experiments to present a vivid history of the state s original inhabitants Includes a photographic atlas of projectile points and pottery types as well as typical plant and animal remains uncovered at Florida archaeological sites The author replicated many primitive technologies during the writing of this book He fashioned a prehistoric tool kit from stone wood bone and shell then used the implements to carve wood twist palm fiber into twine and rope make and decorate pottery and weave fabric The book shows detailed photos of these processes 16 page color insert 360 b w photos 159 line drawings The Photography Handbook Terence Wright,2013-09-13 This text provides an introduction to the principles of photographic practice and theory It also explores the history of lens based picture making and examines the medium s characteristics scope and limitations The International Studio Charles Holme,Guy Eglinton,Peyton Boswell,William Bernard M'Cormick,Henry James Whigham,1911
